To Hear MacArthur In Washington May 3

State Employment Office Moving to Pine Grove Avenue

New Location Will Be in Trailways Bus Building on 1st Floor

Local offices of the New York State Labor Department's division of placement and unemployment insurance will move the end of this week to new quarters at 18 Pine Grove avenue, it was announced today by Anthony C. Hart, employment security manager.

Both the placement and unemployment insurance offices will function from that single address beginning Monday, April 30, Hart said. At present, the placement office is at 243 Fair street and the insurance office at 241 Wall street.

The new offices are located in the Trailways Terminal building at Broadway and Pine Grove avenue, in the ground floor offices formerly occupied by Colony Liquor Distributors, which has since moved to 66 TenBroeck avenue. Entrance is from Pine Grove avenue.

The March report of the employment service, released today, shows a continued increase in local and area employment and drop in unemployment insurance benefits paid. Weekly unemployment insurance payments at the end of March totaled 816 for the county of Ulster, including 498 payments in this city. At the end of February, the payments totaled 1,321 for the county, including 890 for Kingston city. The active file of job seekers stood at 734 on March 31, about one-third less than a year ago. Placements increased over February due primarily to activity in manufacturing, trade and service.

Military Secrets May Force a Closed-Door Session

Washington, April 24 (AP)—The Senate inquiry into the firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur and related foreign policies will begin a week from Thursday, May 3.

Chairman Russell (D.-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee announced the date today and said it is his plan to hear MacArthur at a closed-door session. But there will be an open or public hearing "if the general expresses a desire," Russell added.

Senate leaders—both Democratic and Republican—urged public hearings "as far as possible."

Senator McFarland of Arizona, the Democratic leader, told reporters he favors making public all except vital security information.

"We will gain more toward achieving national unity than we will lose by having the enemy find out some confidential information," McFarland said.

Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, agreed.

Wants Full Story

Taft said he hopes the "full story" will be told, but that there may be some military secrets which can be confided only in closed sessions.

In other developments:

1. The White House said a statement of President Truman's reasons for firing MacArthur was sent to MacArthur's command in Tokyo. Presidential Press Secretary Joseph Short made that comment when asked about a statement by a MacArthur aide that the general does not know why President Truman stripped him of his commands.

Spring Crisis

An estimated 700,000-man Communist Army slammed into the UN line along a 95-mile front in the Reds' long-heralded spring offensive. The main blow was aimed at the center of the UN line, southwest of Kumhwa (1). Three enemy columns struck across the Imjin river northeast of Munsan (2) and threatened to race down the "invasion alley" (shaded arrow) toward Seoul. Below Chorwon (3), GIs rolled with the Chinese punch and they were able to plug a gap opened by Reds west of the Hwachon reservoir. (NEA Newsmap)

Move Full Scale One to Drive Allies Out of Korea

Communist troops streamed through the gap and bent back the right flank of the allied line.

They were striking savagely with the aim of breaking up the international Eighth Army into piecemeal units.

South Korean units manning the center of the 100-mile line crumbled before the fury of the Red spring offensive. Their retreat exposed other allied divisions.

Frontline officers considered the situation serious. But headquarters commanders were confident the rejuvenated allied forces could stem the offensive.

May Prove Decisive

Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, the grenade-packing paratrooper who shored up the morale of allied forces before he succeeded General MacArthur as supreme commander, visited the front.

Ridgway said the great battle "well may prove decisive." He called it the greatest Red offensive yet launched, but warned that the allies probably have not yet met its full strength.

On the eastern flank Red Koreans overran Inje. They struck with surprising strength. Defense of the town, four miles north of the border, collapsed.

General Dawes, Statesman, Banker, Heart Victim at 85

Former Vice-President Prominent in Public Life for More Than 30 Years

Chicago, April 24 (AP)—Gen. Charles Gates (Hell 'n Maria) Dawes, banker and statesman who won fame in many fields during his cyclonic career, died suddenly last night.

The 85-year-old former vice president, who served under President Coolidge from 1925-29, died of coronary thrombosis in his suburban Evanston home. He was stricken while talking to his wife, Caro.

Dawes, who was in public life for more than 30 years and often was the center of fierce controversies and momentous events, had not been ailing, a family spokesman said. However, he said, Dawes, who was chairman of the board of the City National Bank and Trust Company, did not go to his office yesterday.

Dawes had been named as honorary chairman of the committee to greet Gen. MacArthur on his Chicago visit Thursday and presumably planned to attend the celebration.

Successful Banker

Success came to Dawes in banking and utilities. And he was prominent in public life—as vice president, as ambassador to Great Britain, as co-creator of the "Dawes Plan," and as the director of the government's $2,000,000,000 Reconstruction Finance Corporation. He also won fame as an author and composer.

In the last decade Dawes kept pretty much out of the public spotlight. He usually went to his office in LaSalle street daily. He adhered to a policy of no interviews and declined to give his views on events, past or present.

But it wasn't always so. After World War I he won the nickname "Hell 'n Maria" from his testimony before a House committee investigating the administration of the War Department. And his underslung pipe—which appeared at first glance to be up-

Thompson Is Still Serious; Troopers Hunt for Assailant

The condition of John Thompson, operator of the Mill Stream Motel at Woodstock, is "still serious," Kingston Hospital authorities reported today. Thompson, 59, was severely beaten about the head with a hatchet sometime Friday or Saturday, April 13 or 14, at his home near Sully's Bridge in Woodstock.

District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn revealed today, after conferring with Thompson's doctor, that the victim's general physical condition is not considered serious. He is speaking incoherently and has not yet been able to tell authorities anything that might lead to identification of his assailant.

State police are continuing the investigation of the assault case. The motive is believed to be robbery, as Thompson's empty wallet was found near his bed, and family members said he probably had approximately $200 on his person prior to the attack.

Attack Red Offices

Nice, France, April 24 (AP)—Two Communist party headquarters in this French riviera city were attacked early today by a band of about 15 men armed with machine pistols, police said. Five wore French parachute division uniforms. The band beat up three watchmen, one so badly he was hospitalized. Pistols were fired at windows without wounding anybody.

Retail Stores Given 30 Days to Put Ceilings in Effect

Washington, April 24 (AP)—The government today granted 276,000 retail stores another 30-day extension—until May 30—to put their new, margin-type price control ceilings in effect.

In ordering the delay, Price Director Michael V. DiSalle pointed out that until a retailer files his pricing charts, his ceiling prices still will be regulated under the general price freeze. This set price levels at the highest figure for which goods were sold during the base period last Dec. 19-Jan. 25.

After the new deadline of May 30, no retailer may lawfully sell any item covered by the margin-type price control order unless he has filed his pricing chart with an Office of Price Stabilization district office.

Ceiling price regulation 7, covering retailers, originally was issued Feb. 27. It included all the items commonly sold in apparel and shoe stores, along with furniture, floor coverings and 75 per cent of the volume handled by department stores. The deadline for filing was set at March 29 but this later was extended to April 30.

Early this month OPS brought many additional items under the regulations. It was broadened to cover musical instruments, radio and television sets, housewares, luggage, sporting goods and hundreds of other items.

OPS said retailers who sell goods covered in both orders want to file single pricing charts covering all of the items. Because of the limited time after the second order was issued, retailers have not had an opportunity to re-price all their goods.

The extension to May 30 will give them ample time, OPS said, to complete their charts and put margin-type ceilings into effect.

Rising Costs Give Publishers Major Business Problem

Inflation Poses Special Trouble for Papers; Difficulty Never Was Greater

New York, April 24 (AP)—Rising costs are a major problem for the nation's newspapers, the president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association said today.

"The difficulty of publishing a newspaper has never been greater—we are confronted constantly with the puzzle of how to make our income equal our expense," said Edwin S. Friendly, a vice president of the New York World-Telegram and Sun.

Friendly's remarks were in a speech prepared for executives of newspapers in the 10,000 to 50,000 circulation group who are here for the ANPA's 65th annual convention.

Executives of newspapers with circulations under 10,000 met in separate session.

Price Is Important

Inflation poses special problems for newspapers, Friendly said, explaining:

"Newspapers differ from commodities in that the price for commodities can be raised to meet every increased cost.

"Newspapers have always regarded themselves in the light of a public service, a public trust, and the price for the newspaper must always be such as to make it available to every man and woman.

"On the other hand, there is no 'privilege' when newspapers have to meet their costs—newspaper wages are among the highest paid today in any business or industry. The materials entering into the production of the newspaper are becoming increasingly costly—and in some cases because of the defense program, increasingly difficult to procure at any price.

TV Competition

"Television has become another medium competing for the advertising dollar—and we must apply ourselves more than ever to continuing to get an ever-increasing volume of these dollars."

Publishing costs also claimed the attention of the executives of the under-10,000 circulation group.

"All of us want to know how to operate more economically, how to find increased revenue, how to come out at the end of the year with black ink, rather than red," ANPA Vice President Charles F. McCahill told this group. McCahill is general manager of the Cleveland News.

Robert M. White, II, associate publisher of the Mexico (Mo.) Evening Ledger, was chairman of the under-10,000 circulation meeting.

R. M. Hederman, Jr., general manager of the Jackson (Miss.) Clarion-Ledger, presided at the 10,000 to 50,000 circulation meeting.

Tribute From Hoover

New York, April 24 (AP)—Former President Hoover today issued the following statement on the death of former Vice President Charles G. Dawes last night in Chicago: "General Charles G. Dawes served the American people ably and devotedly and at great personal sacrifice over a period of 40 years. He was selected to such service at different times by seven presidents of both parties. He and I served together in the First World War and he remained my unfailing friend. Millions will regret his passing—and he will be remembered gratefully by the American people."

U. S. Minister Pushing Aside Vogeler Questions

Budapest, Hungary, April 24 (AP)—The U. S. minister to Hungary pushed aside questions today on the release of Robert A. Vogeler, but he indicated clearly that he still expects the Hungarian government to free the American businessman it has imprisoned for 17 months on spy charges.

"The question that interests me now is: When?" the minister, Nathaniel P. Davis, told a news conference.

The next move, Davis said, is up to Hungary's Communist government. He did not elaborate on this. Possibly the "next move" means the actual release of Vogeler from his prison cell, to which he had been sentenced for 15 years on charges of spying.

Will Discuss Tibet

Moscow, April 24 (AP)—Pravda, Community party newspaper, reported today that a delegation from Tibet has arrived in Peiping, for talks with Chinese Communist officials on the future of Tibet, now partially occupied by the Chinese.

Red Offensive May Be Decisive One in Korea

Local Gamblers Pay $2,050 Today In Court Fines

30-Day Jail Sentences Are Suspended by Judge on Men Arrested in April 14 Raid

Four of five men arrested on charges relating to book making and policy following a raid April 14 on a room at 48 Chambers street paid $500 fines each when they appeared today before City Judge Raymond J. Mino.

The fifth, who allegedly acted as janitor at the place, was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 or spend 50 days in jail. The fine was paid and brought the total to $2,050 which goes into the city's general fund.

Otto Solomon, 42, of 24 Ann street; Peter Caprotti, 31, of 116 Roosevelt avenue; Raymond W. Ross, 41, of 672 Broadway, and Arthur Elting, 36, of 76 Plymouth avenue, were arrested on charges relating to both policy and book making, and paid the heavier fines.

Daniel Pope, 51, of 7 Canal street, who, police said, held the job as janitor, paid the lesser fine. He had been booked only under the section of the Penal Law dealing with lottery policy.

Time Hangs Over Them

Judge Mino, in imposing sentence, suspended 30 days each in the Ulster county jail on the condition that if any of the defendants engage in similar activities in the future they will serve the time.

Solomon, Caprotti, Ross and Pope were arrested at the time of the raid which was directed by Police Chief Raymond Van Buren, and Elting was arrested on a warrant April 16. Each had been under $500 bail pending their appearance today.

The raid was conducted by Sgt. Lemuel Howard, Detective Clarence Brophy, and Patrolmen Leonard Ellsworth and Ernest Bartroff. Three telephones, three adding machines and miscellaneous papers were confiscated, police said.

Attorney Elmore Nathan represented the defendants and John Larkin appeared for the district attorney's office.

Siam Gains

Bangkok, Thailand, April 24 (AP)—The premier of Thailand (Siam) today said the determined stand of the United Natons in Korea has kept this small kingdom and neighboring countries from the clutches of Chinese Communists. P. Pibulsonggram, who is field marshal of the Thai Army as well as premier, said in an interview: "The defeats Mao (Mao Tze-tung, Chinese Red leader) met in Korea have cramped his style the same as if they were in his own country. They should stop him from further aggression for a while. We hope he will be unable to make any further attacks.

Drive on UN Forces Heaviest Planned by Overwhelming Hordes

Tokyo, April 24 (AP)—The current Red offensive may prove to be the decisive battle of the Korean war, Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said today after visiting front lines.

The supreme commander said the Red offensive appears to be the biggest they have yet made "to drive United Nations forces from Korea or to destroy them."

But the heaviest Red blow is yet to come, he warned.

At the front with Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, his successor as commander of the Eighth Army, Ridgway said:

"We are fully confident in the ability and determination of the U.N. forces."

On his return to Tokyo, he issued this statement:

"It appears to me at this time that this attack is another major effort by our Communist enemy to drive United Nations forces from Korea, or to destroy them, regardless of the further destruction of his own troops, and the continued criminal devastation of Korea.

"It appears also that this will be the heaviest offensive effort yet made, though it has not yet attained its maximum strength.

Has Confidence

"The conduct of operations is in the competent hands of General Van Fleet, and I have complete confidence that the Eighth Army under his leadership—with the unfailing support of our navy and air force—will fully accom-

School Employes Appreciate Bonus

The Ulster County Chapter, Civil Service Association, following a report last night by its president, Lt. James P. Martin, on the salary increases for members of the non-teaching staff of the education board, voted thanks to members of the board and the president for the pay boosts.

President Martin, at a largely attended meeting of the association in the court room, city hall, reporting as head of the committee on salaries, said it had negotiated a bonus of $100 for April, May and June and a $300 raise starting July 1, for the non-teaching members under jurisdiction of the education board.

Other committee reports were given and that on membership reported 382 members in the association to date.

To Sentence Six Friday In Mushroom Fire Case

Seven men indicted by the grand jury in connection with the March 28, 1950, fire in the struck Knaust Brothers Binnewater plant appeared in county court Monday afternoon. Six of the men pleaded guilty to counts charging malicious injury to property, and the seventh consented to treatment under the Youthful Offender statute.

Judge John M. Cashin postponed sentencing of the six men until Friday morning, April 27.

Each of the men had been indicted on two counts, arson third degree and malicious injury to property.

Represented by Attorney Andrew J. Cook, Jr., pleas of guilty to the second count were entered by Edward L. Scott, Coxsackie; Vincent Anthony Macarelli, 35, Catskill; John William Vogt, 42, Kingston; Barry R. Craft, Quarryville; Charles R. Thorne, R.D. 1, Saugerties, and John C. Gardner, Catskill. District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn consented to the plea in each case.

The seventh man indicted was Alfred Clearwater, 19, of Glasco. On motion of Attorney Cook and with the consent of the district attorney, Judge Cashin ruled that Clearwater be treated under the Youthful Offender statute.

The fire deep in the Binnewater caves of Knaust Brothers, Inc., was discovered the morning of March 28, 1950. A frame shed within the caves was destroyed with its contents of tools and equipment.

The fire came during a time that the mushroom firm was having labor difficulties. On March 10 of that year the C.I.O. Textile Workers Union had called a general walkout at the company's 17 plants. At the Rosendale area plants, about 25 workers walked off the job, but at the time Warren Knaust, general manager, said they were not members of the union.

Rising Costs Give Publishers Major Business Problem

Inflation Poses Special Trouble for Papers; Difficulty Never Was Greater

New York, April 24 (AP)—Rising costs are a major problem for the nation's newspapers, the president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association said today.

"The difficulty of publishing a newspaper has never been greater—we are confronted constantly with the puzzle of how to make our income equal our expense," said Edwin S. Friendly, a vice president of the New York World-Telegram and Sun.

Friendly's remarks were in a speech prepared for executives of newspapers in the 10,000 to 50,000 circulation group who are here for the ANPA's 65th annual convention.

Executives of newspapers with circulations under 10,000 met in separate session.

Price Is Important

Inflation poses special problems for newspapers, Friendly said, explaining:

"Newspapers differ from commodities in that the price for commodities can be raised to meet every increased cost.

"Newspapers have always regarded themselves in the light of a public service, a public trust, and the price for the newspaper must always be such as to make it available to every man and woman.

"On the other hand, there is no 'privilege' when newspapers have to meet their costs—newspaper wages are among the highest paid today in any business or industry. TV Competition

"Television has become another medium competing for the advertising dollar—and we must apply ourselves more than ever to continuing to get an ever-increasing volume of these dollars."

Publishing costs also claimed the attention of the executives of the under-10,000 circulation group.

"All of us want to know how to operate more economically, how to find increased revenue, how to come out at the end of the year with black ink, rather than red," ANPA Vice President Charles F. McCahill told this group. McCahill is general manager of the Cleveland News.

Robert M. White, II, associate publisher of the Mexico (Mo.) Evening Ledger, was chairman of the under-10,000 circulation meeting.

R. M. Hederman, Jr., general manager of the Jackson (Miss.) Clarion-Ledger, presided at the 10,000 to 50,000 circulation meeting.

Budapest, Hungary, April 24 (AP)—The U. S. minister to Hungary pushed aside questions today on the release of Robert A. Vogeler, but he indicated clearly that he still expects the Hungarian government to free the American businessman it has imprisoned for 17 months on spy charges.

"The question that interests me now is: When?" the minister, Nathaniel P. Davis, told a news conference.

The next move, Davis said, is up to Hungary's Communist government. He did not elaborate on this. Possibly the "next move" means the actual release of Vogeler from his prison cell, to which he had been sentenced for 15 years on charges of spying.

Local Gamblers Pay $2,050 Today In Court Fines

30-Day Jail Sentences Are Suspended by Judge on Men Arrested in April 14 Raid

Four of five men arrested on charges relating to book making and policy following a raid April 14 on a room at 48 Chambers street paid $500 fines each when they appeared today before City Judge Raymond J. Mino.

The fifth, who allegedly acted as janitor at the place, was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 or spend 50 days in jail. The fine was paid and brought the total to $2,050 which goes into the city's general fund.

Otto Solomon, 42, of 24 Ann street; Peter Caprotti, 31, of 116 Roosevelt avenue; Raymond W. Ross, 41, of 672 Broadway, and Arthur Elting, 36, of 76 Plymouth avenue, were arrested on charges relating to both policy and book making, and paid the heavier fines.

Daniel Pope, 51, of 7 Canal street, who, police said, held the job as janitor, paid the lesser fine. He had been booked only under the section of the Penal Law dealing with lottery policy.

Time Hangs Over Them

Judge Mino, in imposing sentence, suspended 30 days each in the Ulster county jail on the condition that if any of the defendants engage in similar activities in the future they will serve the time.

Solomon, Caprotti, Ross and Pope were arrested at the time of the raid which was directed by Police Chief Raymond Van Buren, and Elting was arrested on a warrant April 16. Each had been under $500 bail pending their appearance today.

The raid was conducted by Sgt. Lemuel Howard, Detective Clarence Brophy, and Patrolmen Leonard Ellsworth and Ernest Bartroff. Three telephones, three adding machines and miscellaneous papers were confiscated, police said.

Attorney Elmore Nathan represented the defendants and John Larkin appeared for the district attorney's office.

Drive on UN Forces Heaviest Planned by Overwhelming Hordes

Tokyo, April 24 (AP)—The current Red offensive may prove to be the decisive battle of the Korean war, Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said today after visiting front lines.

The supreme commander said the Red offensive appears to be the biggest they have yet made "to drive United Nations forces from Korea or to destroy them."

But the heaviest Red blow is yet to come, he warned.

At the front with Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, his successor as commander of the Eighth Army, Ridgway said:

"We are fully confident in the ability and determination of the U.N. forces."

On his return to Tokyo, he issued this statement:

"It appears to me at this time that this attack is another major effort by our Communist enemy to drive United Nations forces from Korea, or to destroy them, regardless of the further destruction of his own troops, and the continued criminal devastation of Korea.

"It appears also that this will be the heaviest offensive effort yet made, though it has not yet attained its maximum strength.

Has Confidence

"The conduct of operations is in the competent hands of General Van Fleet, and I have complete confidence that the Eighth Army under his leadership—with the unfailing support of our navy and air force—will fully accom-

School Employes Appreciate Bonus

The Ulster County Chapter, Civil Service Association, following a report last night by its president, Lt. James P. Martin, on the salary increases for members of the non-teaching staff of the education board, voted thanks to members of the board and the president for the pay boosts.

President Martin, at a largely attended meeting of the association in the court room, city hall, reporting as head of the committee on salaries, said it had negotiated a bonus of $100 for April, May and June and a $300 raise starting July 1, for the non-teaching members under jurisdiction of the education board.

Other committee reports were given and that on membership reported 382 members in the association to date.

Retail Stores Given 30 Days to Put Ceilings in Effect

Washington, April 24 (AP)—The government today granted 276,000 retail stores another 30-day extension—until May 30—to put their new, margin-type price control ceilings in effect.

In ordering the delay, Price Director Michael V. DiSalle pointed out that until a retailer files his pricing charts, his ceiling prices still will be regulated under the general price freeze. This set price levels at the highest figure for which goods were sold during the base period last Dec. 19-Jan. 25.

After the new deadline of May 30, no retailer may lawfully sell any item covered by the margin-type price control order unless he has filed his pricing chart with an Office of Price Stabilization district office.

Ceiling price regulation 7, covering retailers, originally was issued Feb. 27. It included all the items commonly sold in apparel and shoe stores, along with furniture, floor coverings and 75 per cent of the volume handled by department stores. The deadline for filing was set at March 29 but this later was extended to April 30.

Early this month OPS brought many additional items under the regulations. It was broadened to cover musical instruments, radio and television sets, housewares, luggage, sporting goods and hundreds of other items.

OPS said retailers who sell goods covered in both orders want to file single pricing charts covering all of the items. Because of the limited time after the second order was issued, retailers have not had an opportunity to re-price all their goods.

The extension to May 30 will give them ample time, OPS said, to complete their charts and put margin-type ceilings into effect.

Tribute From Hoover

New York, April 24 (AP)—Former President Hoover today issued the following statement on the death of former Vice President Charles G. Dawes last night in Chicago: "General Charles G. Dawes served the American people ably and devotedly and at great personal sacrifice over a period of 40 years. He was selected to such service at different times by seven presidents of both parties. He and I served together in the First World War and he remained my unfailing friend. Millions will regret his passing—and he will be remembered gratefully by the American people."

To Sentence Six Friday In Mushroom Fire Case

Seven men indicted by the grand jury in connection with the March 28, 1950, fire in the struck Knaust Brothers Binnewater plant appeared in county court Monday afternoon. Six of the men pleaded guilty to counts charging malicious injury to property, and the seventh consented to treatment under the Youthful Offender statute.

Judge John M. Cashin postponed sentencing of the six men until Friday morning, April 27.

Each of the men had been indicted on two counts, arson third degree and malicious injury to property.

Represented by Attorney Andrew J. Cook, Jr., pleas of guilty to the second count were entered by Edward L. Scott, Coxsackie; Vincent Anthony Macarelli, 35, Catskill; John William Vogt, 42, Kingston; Barry R. Craft, Quarryville; Charles R. Thorne, R.D. 1, Saugerties, and John C. Gardner, Catskill. District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn consented to the plea in each case.

The seventh man indicted was Alfred Clearwater, 19, of Glasco. On motion of Attorney Cook and with the consent of the district attorney, Judge Cashin ruled that Clearwater be treated under the Youthful Offender statute.

The fire deep in the Binnewater caves of Knaust Brothers, Inc., was discovered the morning of March 28, 1950. A frame shed within the caves was destroyed with its contents of tools and equipment.

The fire came during a time that the mushroom firm was having labor difficulties. On March 10 of that year the C.I.O. Textile Workers Union had called a general walkout at the company's 17 plants. At the Rosendale area plants, about 25 workers walked off the job, but at the time Warren Knaust, general manager, said they were not members of the union.

To Hear MacArthur In Washington May 3

Military Secrets May Force a Closed-Door Session

Washington, April 24 (AP)—The Senate inquiry into the firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur and related foreign policies will begin a week from Thursday, May 3.

Chairman Russell (D.-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee announced the date today and said it is his plan to hear MacArthur at a closed-door session. But there will be an open or public hearing "if the general expresses a desire," Russell added.

Senate leaders—both Democratic and Republican—urged public hearings "as far as possible."

Senator McFarland of Arizona, the Democratic leader, told reporters he favors making public all except vital security information.

"We will gain more toward achieving national unity than we will lose by having the enemy find out some confidential information," McFarland said.

Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, agreed.

Wants Full Story

Taft said he hopes the "full story" will be told, but that there may be some military secrets which can be confided only in closed sessions.

In other developments:

1. The White House said a statement of President Truman's reasons for firing MacArthur was sent to MacArthur's command in Tokyo. Presidential Press Secretary Joseph Short made that comment when asked about a statement by a MacArthur aide that the general does not know why President Truman stripped him of his commands.

Major General Courtney Whitney, the general's personal adviser, told reporters in New York yesterday:

Never Informed

"To this day General MacArthur never has been informed as to the reasons for his summary dismissal

State Employment Office Moving to Pine Grove Avenue

New Location Will Be in Trailways Bus Building on 1st Floor

Local offices of the New York State Labor Department's division of placement and unemployment insurance will move the end of this week to new quarters at 18 Pine Grove avenue, it was announced today by Anthony C. Hart, employment security manager.

Both the placement and unemployment insurance offices will function from that single address beginning Monday, April 30, Hart said. At present, the placement office is at 243 Fair street and the insurance office at 241 Wall street.

The new offices are located in the Trailways Terminal building at Broadway and Pine Grove avenue, in the ground floor offices formerly occupied by Colony Liquor Distributors, which has since moved to 66 TenBroeck avenue. Entrance is from Pine Grove avenue.

The March report of the employment service, released today, shows a continued increase in local and area employment and drop in unemployment insurance benefits paid. Weekly unemployment insurance payments at the end of March totaled 816 for the county of Ulster, including 498 payments in this city. At the end of February, the payments totaled 1,321 for the county, including 890 for Kingston city. The active file of job seekers stood at 734 on March 31, about one-third less than a year ago. Placements increased over February due primarily to activity in manufacturing, trade and service.

Spring Crisis

An estimated 700,000-man Communist Army slammed into the UN line along a 95-mile front in the Reds' long-heralded spring offensive. The main blow was aimed at the center of the UN line, southwest of Kumhwa (1). Three enemy columns struck across the Imjin river northeast of Munsan (2) and threatened to race down the "invasion alley" (shaded arrow) toward Seoul. Below Chorwon (3), GIs rolled with the Chinese punch and they were able to plug a gap opened by Reds west of the Hwachon reservoir. (NEA Newsmap)

Red Troops Stream on Over 38th

Frontline Officers in Worried State About Condition, Call It Very Serious

Wedge Deepens

Move Full Scale One to Drive Allies Out of Korea

Tokyo, April 24 (AP)—Nearly one-half million battle-tested Reds smashed a hole in the center of the United Nations line today in their third invasion of South Korea.

Communist troops streamed through the gap and bent back the right flank of the allied line.

They were striking savagely with the aim of breaking up the international Eighth Army into piecemeal units.

South Korean units manning the center of the 100-mile line crumbled before the fury of the Red spring offensive. Their retreat exposed other allied divisions.

Frontline officers considered the situation serious. But headquarters commanders were confident the rejuvenated allied forces could stem the offensive.

May Prove Decisive

Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, the grenade-packing paratrooper who shored up the morale of allied forces before he succeeded General MacArthur as supreme commander, visited the front.

Ridgway said the great battle "well may prove decisive." He called it the greatest Red offensive yet launched, but warned that the allies probably have not yet met its full strength.

On the eastern flank Red Koreans overran Inje. They struck with surprising strength. Defense of the town, four miles north of the border, collapsed.

South Koreans gave way before a similar Chinese assault in the center.

General Dawes, Statesman, Banker, Heart Victim at 85

Former Vice-President Prominent in Public Life for More Than 30 Years

Chicago, April 24 (AP)—Gen. Charles Gates (Hell 'n Maria) Dawes, banker and statesman who won fame in many fields during his cyclonic career, died suddenly last night.

The 85-year-old former vice president, who served under President Coolidge from 1925-29, died of coronary thrombosis in his suburban Evanston home. He was stricken while talking to his wife, Caro.

Dawes, who was in public life for more than 30 years and often was the center of fierce controversies and momentous events, had not been ailing, a family spokesman said. However, he said, Dawes, who was chairman of the board of the City National Bank and Trust Company, did not go to his office yesterday.

Dawes had been named as honorary chairman of the committee to greet Gen. MacArthur on his Chicago visit Thursday and presumably planned to attend the celebration.

Successful Banker

Success came to Dawes in banking and utilities. And he was prominent in public life—as vice president, as ambassador to Great Britain, as co-creator of the "Dawes Plan," and as the director of the government's $2,000,000,000 Reconstruction Finance Corporation. He also won fame as an author and composer.

In the last decade Dawes kept pretty much out of the public spotlight. He usually went to his office in LaSalle street daily. He adhered to a policy of no interviews and declined to give his views on events, past or present.

But it wasn't always so. After World War I he won the nickname "Hell 'n Maria" from his testimony before a House committee investigating the administration of the War Department. And his underslung pipe—which appeared at first glance to be up-

Thompson Is Still Serious; Troopers Hunt for Assailant

The condition of John Thompson, operator of the Mill Stream Motel at Woodstock, is "still serious," Kingston Hospital authorities reported today. Thompson, 59, was severely beaten about the head with a hatchet sometime Friday or Saturday, April 13 or 14, at his home near Sully's Bridge in Woodstock.

District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn revealed today, after conferring with Thompson's doctor, that the victim's general physical condition is not considered serious. He is speaking incoherently and has not yet been able to tell authorities anything that might lead to identification of his assailant.

State police are continuing the investigation of the assault case. The motive is believed to be robbery, as Thompson's empty wallet was found near his bed, and family members said he probably had approximately $200 on his person prior to the attack.

Retail Stores Given 30 Days to Put Ceilings in Effect

Washington, April 24 (AP)—The government today granted 276,000 retail stores another 30-day extension—until May 30—to put their new, margin-type price control ceilings in effect.

Rising Costs Give Publishers Major Business Problem

Inflation Poses Special Trouble for Papers; Difficulty Never Was Greater

New York, April 24 (AP)—Rising costs are a major problem for the nation's newspapers, the president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association said today.

"The difficulty of publishing a newspaper has never been greater—we are confronted constantly with the puzzle of how to make our income equal our expense," said Edwin S. Friendly, a vice president of the New York World-Telegram and Sun.

Friendly's remarks were in a speech prepared for executives of newspapers in the 10,000 to 50,000 circulation group who are here for the ANPA's 65th annual convention.

Executives of newspapers with circulations under 10,000 met in separate session.

Price Is Important

Inflation poses special problems for newspapers, Friendly said, explaining:

"Newspapers differ from commodities in that the price for commodities can be raised to meet every increased cost.

"Newspapers have always regarded themselves in the light of a public service, a public trust, and the price for the newspaper must always be such as to make it available to every man and woman.

"On the other hand, there is no 'privilege' when newspapers have to meet their costs—newspaper wages are among the highest paid today in any business or industry. The materials entering into the production of the newspaper are becoming increasingly costly—and in some cases because of the defense program, increasingly difficult to procure at any price.

TV Competition

"Television has become another medium competing for the advertising dollar—and we must apply ourselves more than ever to continuing to get an ever-increasing volume of these dollars."

Publishing costs also claimed the attention of the executives of the under-10,000 circulation group.

"All of us want to know how to operate more economically, how to find increased revenue, how to come out at the end of the year with black ink, rather than red," ANPA Vice President Charles F. McCahill told this group. McCahill is general manager of the Cleveland News.

Robert M. White, II, associate publisher of the Mexico (Mo.) Evening Ledger, was chairman of the under-10,000 circulation meeting.

R. M. Hederman, Jr., general manager of the Jackson (Miss.) Clarion-Ledger, presided at the 10,000 to 50,000 circulation meeting.

General Dawes . . .

Was With A.E.F.

It was as "Hell 'n Maria" that America remembers Dawes best.

Dawes was a brigadier general with the A.E.F. in France in World War I and was assigned as general purchasing officer.

Appearing before the House Investigating Committee, he was asked: "Isn't it true that excessive prices were paid for mules?"

"Hell 'n Maria!" shouted the general. "I'd have paid horse prices for sheep if the sheep could have hauled artillery."

Surviving Dawes, besides his widow, is a daughter, Mrs. Melvin B. Ericson of Evanston. A son, Rufus, drowned in 1912 when he was 21. Later General and Mrs. Dawes adopted two children, now Mrs. Virginia Cragg of Kenilworth, Ill., and Dana McCutcheon Dawes, of Marengo, Ill.

Funeral services have not been announced.

Peter J. Halloran

Landon Gives View

Kansas City, Mo., April 24 (AP)—The firing of General MacArthur had greater significance to the peoples of the world than to the American people, Alf M. Landon said today. The 1936 Republican presidential nominee and former governor of Kansas said the world has put two interpretations on the general's dismissal. It meant to the world, Landon said, "that we are going to concentrate all our strength in defense of Europe  and that we are ready to publicly accept the British policy of unconditional surrender in Korea." Landon, who has endorsed United Nations action in Korea, made his observations in a speech prepared for a meeting of a luncheon club.

Sent to Bellevue

New York, April 24 (AP)—An Air Force private, who allegedly threatened to kidnap a child television actor to get money to have his nose straightened, was sent to Bellevue Hospital today for observation. The government charged that Pfc. James A. Harvey, 23, of Brooklyn, tried to get $1,000 from the parents of Stefan Olsen under a kidnap threat. He wanted the money to pay for plastic surgery on his nose, the government said.

Pleads Innocent

New York, April 24 (AP)—Jack Goldsmith, 31, former Long Island University basketball star, today pleaded innocent to an indictment charging bribery in the basketball fix scandal. Assistant District Attorney Vincent A. G. O'Connor branded Goldsmith as "a cheat and a double crosser," and said the accused man had substantial information about a group of fixers.

Dulles Says Reds Working Against Jap Peace Treaty

Washington, April 24 (AP)—Ambassador John Foster Dulles said on his return from Japan today there is "unmistakable evidence" that the Communist parties of Russia, China and Japan are working "with renewed vigor" to block a Japanese peace settlement.

However, Dulles said he had come home confident that the Red design "can be frustrated if the free world acts promptly, unitedly and with an enlightened recognition of its community of interest with the peace and freedom seeking people of Japan."

Dulles flew to Tokyo April 13 at President Truman's request to try to prevent Gen. Douglas MacArthur's dismissal as occupation chief from upsetting the peace treaty project or causing the Japanese people to lose hope of an early pact. Dulles said he thought he had succeeded in providing "a large measure of reassurance."

Dulles, Republican advisor in the State Department and director of this government's efforts to complete a Japanese peace treaty as quickly as possible against Russian opposition, was in Japan for a week. In a statement issued through the department, he said he had three tasks and reported on them in this way:

1. He informed Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, MacArthur's successor, regarding American policies on a Japanese peace settlement. He reported Ridgway "is quickly mastering the subject" and "will deal effectively with the Japanese phase of his new responsibilities."

2. He reassured the Japanese, in conferences and a speech, that the United States' basic policies for Japan remain firmly committed to "an early and just Japanese peace settlement, an unwavering will to resist Communist aggression in the Western Pacific, and the implementing of the will be deeds to save Japan from being left defenseless upon consummation of the treaty."

He discussed with Japanese leaders and foreign diplomats in Tokyo the present status of treaty negotiations and told them of "the substantial progress made, the obstacles encountered, and our program for bringing the peace settlement to an early successful conclusion."

Dulles reported to Secretary of State Acheson on the results of his mission this morning.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 24 (AP)—The stock market wavered listlessly between gains and losses today unable to dig up the gumption to make a decisive move in either direction.

Advances and declines were well mixed through the list and issues constantly wandered from one side of the line to the other. Price changes were mostly in fraction.

Traders sat on the sidelines discussing affects of the Communist spring offensive, the British cabinet split and government regulations. When they did venture into the market it was with caution.

U. S. Steel, which has a quarterly meeting after market closing today to announce earnings and take dividend action, turned steady after dropping a fraction at the opening. Bethlehem, Republic and Youngstown Sheet were down slightly.

Railroad stocks turned weaker after a fair start.

Brannan Denies Farm Prices Are Causing Inflation

Washington, April 24 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Brannan denied today that prices farmers receive for foodstuffs are among the chief causes of inflation.

"Rather than being overpaid, farmers are earning less for their labor, less for their investment, and less for their management ability than are other sections of the economy," he told the House Agriculture Committee.

He also said an hour's earnings in a factory will buy more food now than before World War Two, and submitted charts to back up his statement.

Brannan's appearance before the key congressional farm group signaled the opening of a significant battle over the farm price provisions of the stabilization law.

That law provides that ceilings on farm products may not be set lower than parity, or lower than prices prevailing in the month before the outbreak of the Korean war last June. Parity is a level defined by law as equally fair to the farmers and those who buy their products.

The stabilization law runs out in June. Some labor unions have been demanding that Congress provide in a new law for tighter ceilings on food.

Brannan was invited to come before the Agriculture Committee for general testimony on food prices in relation to the stabilization program.

General Dawes . . .

Was With A.E.F.

It was as "Hell 'n Maria" that America remembers Dawes best.

Dawes was a brigadier general with the A.E.F. in France in World War I and was assigned as general purchasing officer.

Appearing before the House Investigating Committee, he was asked: "Isn't it true that excessive prices were paid for mules?"

"Hell 'n Maria!" shouted the general. "I'd have paid horse prices for sheep if the sheep could have hauled artillery."

Surviving Dawes, besides his widow, is a daughter, Mrs. Melvin B. Ericson of Evanston. A son, Rufus, drowned in 1912 when he was 21. Later General and Mrs. Dawes adopted two children, now Mrs. Virginia Cragg of Kenilworth, Ill., and Dana McCutcheon Dawes, of Marengo, Ill.

Funeral services have not been announced.

Landon Gives View

Kansas City, Mo., April 24 (AP)—The firing of General MacArthur had greater significance to the peoples of the world than to the American people, Alf M. Landon said today. The 1936 Republican presidential nominee and former governor of Kansas said the world has put two interpretations on the general's dismissal. It meant to the world, Landon said, "that we are going to concentrate all our strength in defense of Europe  and that we are ready to publicly accept the British policy of unconditional surrender in Korea." Landon, who has endorsed United Nations action in Korea, made his observations in a speech prepared for a meeting of a luncheon club.

Sent to Bellevue

New York, April 24 (AP)—An Air Force private, who allegedly threatened to kidnap a child television actor to get money to have his nose straightened, was sent to Bellevue Hospital today for observation. The government charged that Pfc. James A. Harvey, 23, of Brooklyn, tried to get $1,000 from the parents of Stefan Olsen under a kidnap threat. He wanted the money to pay for plastic surgery on his nose, the government said.

Pleads Innocent

New York, April 24 (AP)—Jack Goldsmith, 31, former Long Island University basketball star, today pleaded innocent to an indictment charging bribery in the basketball fix scandal. Dulles Says Reds Working Against Jap Peace Treaty

Washington, April 24 (AP)—Ambassador John Foster Dulles said on his return from Japan today there is "unmistakable evidence" that the Communist parties of Russia, China and Japan are working "with renewed vigor" to block a Japanese peace settlement.

However, Dulles said he had come home confident that the Red design "can be frustrated if the free world acts promptly, unitedly and with an enlightened recognition of its community of interest with the peace and freedom seeking people of Japan."

Dulles flew to Tokyo April 13 at President Truman's request to try to prevent Gen. Douglas MacArthur's dismissal as occupation chief from upsetting the peace treaty project or causing the Japanese people to lose hope of an early pact. Dulles said he thought he had succeeded in providing "a large measure of reassurance."

Dulles, Republican advisor in the State Department and director of this government's efforts to complete a Japanese peace treaty as quickly as possible against Russian opposition, was in Japan for a week. In a statement issued through the department, he said he had three tasks and reported on them in this way:

1. He informed Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, MacArthur's successor, regarding American policies on a Japanese peace settlement. He reported Ridgway "is quickly mastering the subject" and "will deal effectively with the Japanese phase of his new responsibilities."

2. He reassured the Japanese, in conferences and a speech, that the United States' basic policies for Japan remain firmly committed to "an early and just Japanese peace settlement, an unwavering will to resist Communist aggression in the Western Pacific, and the implementing of the will be deeds to save Japan from being left defenseless upon consummation of the treaty."

He discussed with Japanese leaders and foreign diplomats in Tokyo the present status of treaty negotiations and told them of "the substantial progress made, the obstacles encountered, and our program for bringing the peace settlement to an early successful conclusion."

Dulles reported to Secretary of State Acheson on the results of his mission this morning.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 24 (AP)—The stock market wavered listlessly between gains and losses today unable to dig up the gumption to make a decisive move in either direction.

Advances and declines were well mixed through the list and issues constantly wandered from one side of the line to the other. Price changes were mostly in fraction.

Traders sat on the sidelines discussing affects of the Communist spring offensive, the British cabinet split and government regulations. When they did venture into the market it was with caution.

U. S. Steel, which has a quarterly meeting after market closing today to announce earnings and take dividend action, turned steady after dropping a fraction at the opening. Bethlehem, Republic and Youngstown Sheet were down slightly.

Railroad stocks turned weaker after a fair start.

Brannan Denies Farm Prices Are Causing Inflation

Washington, April 24 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Brannan denied today that prices farmers receive for foodstuffs are among the chief causes of inflation.

"Rather than being overpaid, farmers are earning less for their labor, less for their investment, and less for their management ability than are other sections of the economy," he told the House Agriculture Committee.

He also said an hour's earnings in a factory will buy more food now than before World War Two, and submitted charts to back up his statement.

Brannan's appearance before the key congressional farm group signaled the opening of a significant battle over the farm price provisions of the stabilization law.

That law provides that ceilings on farm products may not be set lower than parity, or lower than prices prevailing in the month before the outbreak of the Korean war last June. Parity is a level defined by law as equally fair to the farmers and those who buy their products.

The stabilization law runs out in June. Some labor unions have been demanding that Congress provide in a new law for tighter ceilings on food.

Brannan was invited to come before the Agriculture Committee for general testimony on food prices in relation to the stabilization program.

General Dawes . . .

Was With A.E.F.

It was as "Hell 'n Maria" that America remembers Dawes best.

Dawes was a brigadier general with the A.E.F. in France in World War I and was assigned as general purchasing officer.

Appearing before the House Investigating Committee, he was asked: "Isn't it true that excessive prices were paid for mules?"

"Hell 'n Maria!" shouted the general. "I'd have paid horse prices for sheep if the sheep could have hauled artillery."

Surviving Dawes, besides his widow, is a daughter, Mrs. Melvin B. Ericson of Evanston. A son, Rufus, drowned in 1912 when he was 21. Later General and Mrs. Dawes adopted two children, now Mrs. Virginia Cragg of Kenilworth, Ill., and Dana McCutcheon Dawes, of Marengo, Ill.

Funeral services have not been announced.

Peter J. Halloran

Landon Gives View

Kansas City, Mo., April 24 (AP)—The firing of General MacArthur had greater significance to the peoples of the world than to the American people, Alf M. Landon said today. The 1936 Republican presidential nominee and former governor of Kansas said the world has put two interpretations on the general's dismissal. It meant to the world, Landon said, "that we are going to concentrate all our strength in defense of Europe  and that we are ready to publicly accept the British policy of unconditional surrender in Korea." Landon, who has endorsed United Nations action in Korea, made his observations in a speech prepared for a meeting of a luncheon club.

Sent to Bellevue

New York, April 24 (AP)—An Air Force private, who allegedly threatened to kidnap a child television actor to get money to have his nose straightened, was sent to Bellevue Hospital today for observation. The government charged that Pfc. James A. Harvey, 23, of Brooklyn, tried to get $1,000 from the parents of Stefan Olsen under a kidnap threat. He wanted the money to pay for plastic surgery on his nose, the government said.

Pleads Innocent

New York, April 24 (AP)—Jack Goldsmith, 31, former Long Island University basketball star, today pleaded innocent to an indictment charging bribery in the basketball fix scandal. Assistant District Attorney Vincent A. G. O'Connor branded Goldsmith as "a cheat and a double crosser," and said the accused man had substantial information about a group of fixers.

Pay for Birthday

Battle Creek, Mich., April 24 (AP)—The 3,500 employes of the W. F. Kellogg Company want the birthday of the company's founder included among their paid holidays. They will take a strike vote tomorrow on the birthday demand and other contract issues. Kellogg now resides in California.

Dulles Says Reds Working Against Jap Peace Treaty

Washington, April 24 (AP)—Ambassador John Foster Dulles said on his return from Japan today there is "unmistakable evidence" that the Communist parties of Russia, China and Japan are working "with renewed vigor" to block a Japanese peace settlement.

However, Dulles said he had come home confident that the Red design "can be frustrated if the free world acts promptly, unitedly and with an enlightened recognition of its community of interest with the peace and freedom seeking people of Japan."

Dulles flew to Tokyo April 13 at President Truman's request to try to prevent Gen. Douglas MacArthur's dismissal as occupation chief from upsetting the peace treaty project or causing the Japanese people to lose hope of an early pact. Dulles said he thought he had succeeded in providing "a large measure of reassurance."

Dulles, Republican advisor in the State Department and director of this government's efforts to complete a Japanese peace treaty as quickly as possible against Russian opposition, was in Japan for a week. In a statement issued through the department, he said he had three tasks and reported on them in this way:

1. He informed Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, MacArthur's successor, regarding American policies on a Japanese peace settlement. He reported Ridgway "is quickly mastering the subject" and "will deal effectively with the Japanese phase of his new responsibilities."

2. He reassured the Japanese, in conferences and a speech, that the United States' basic policies for Japan remain firmly committed to "an early and just Japanese peace settlement, an unwavering will to resist Communist aggression in the Western Pacific, and the implementing of the will be deeds to save Japan from being left defenseless upon consummation of the treaty."

He discussed with Japanese leaders and foreign diplomats in Tokyo the present status of treaty negotiations and told them of "the substantial progress made, the obstacles encountered, and our program for bringing the peace settlement to an early successful conclusion."

Dulles reported to Secretary of State Acheson on the results of his mission this morning.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 24 (AP)—The stock market wavered listlessly between gains and losses today unable to dig up the gumption to make a decisive move in either direction.

Advances and declines were well mixed through the list and issues constantly wandered from one side of the line to the other. Price changes were mostly in fraction.

Traders sat on the sidelines discussing affects of the Communist spring offensive, the British cabinet split and government regulations. When they did venture into the market it was with caution.

U. S. Steel, which has a quarterly meeting after market closing today to announce earnings and take dividend action, turned steady after dropping a fraction at the opening. Bethlehem, Republic and Youngstown Sheet were down slightly.

Railroad stocks turned weaker after a fair start.

Brannan Denies Farm Prices Are Causing Inflation

Washington, April 24 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Brannan denied today that prices farmers receive for foodstuffs are among the chief causes of inflation.

"Rather than being overpaid, farmers are earning less for their labor, less for their investment, and less for their management ability than are other sections of the economy," he told the House Agriculture Committee.

He also said an hour's earnings in a factory will buy more food now than before World War Two, and submitted charts to back up his statement.

Brannan's appearance before the key congressional farm group signaled the opening of a significant battle over the farm price provisions of the stabilization law.

That law provides that ceilings on farm products may not be set lower than parity, or lower than prices prevailing in the month before the outbreak of the Korean war last June. Parity is a level defined by law as equally fair to the farmers and those who buy their products.

The stabilization law runs out in June. Some labor unions have been demanding that Congress provide in a new law for tighter ceilings on food.

Brannan was invited to come before the Agriculture Committee for general testimony on food prices in relation to the stabilization program.

MODENA

Modena, April 24—One hundred fifty members of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association attended a meeting held Tuesday evening in Hasbrouck Memorial Hall, when 90 per cent of Ulster county fire departments were represented. Guest speaker was Captain John Masterson of the Air Force, Stewart Field, who spoke interestingly on air defense. Modena firemen were hosts.

Joseph Daunt of the Ardonia road is now operating the Star route of the U. S. mail, serving the areas of Highland, Clintondale, Ardonia, Modena, Gardiner and Wallkill, approximately 150 miles of rural service.

At a recent meeting of the Modena Fire Department the annual election of officers was held. All officers were reelected except the president and treasurer. DeWitt Hoffman was elected president to succeed Emmett Hyatt, who has moved from the Modena district, and Ernest Kittleberger as secretary, succeeding R. Coy. Emmett Hyatt, who served in his office so efficiently, has been made an honorary member of the department, for life.

Members of the fire commissioners of the Modena district held their annual election of officers on Monday evening at their regular meeting, in the office of Augustus S. Weeks Mr. Weeks was re-elected chairman, with DuBois Grimm as secretary-treasurer. Others attending were Eugene Paltridge, William Doolittle and Burton Ward.

Plans are complete for the Fellowship supper on Wednesday evening at Hasbrouck Memorial Hall. Mrs. Hallock Harris, Mrs. Myron Shultis, Mrs. Lillian Courter and Mrs. Earl DeWitt are in charge. This supper completes the series of suppers, dinners and luncheons held in accordance with plans made by members of the official board of the Modena Methodist Church to increase the treasury.

A meeting of the Democratic town committee was held Monday April 9, at the office of the county chairman in Kingston. A local representation was present.

Mrss. Roy DuBois and daughter Marylou were shoppers in Newburgh on Saturday.

Home Bureau units from various parts of Ulster county are invited to attend the silver tea and exhibit of articles made in Home Bureau projects at Hasbrouck Memorial Hall on Thursday, April 26.

Mrs. William A. Imler and son Donald have returned from a pleasant week spent at Drew Theological University in Madison, N. J. While there, Mrs. Imler participated in a round-table discussion, when she presented experiences and activities encountered as a minister's wife in a rural district. Donald Imler was in a contest and adjudged the baby who traveled most.

Mrs. Catherine Denton of Highland visited relatives in town last week-end.

A new roof is being placed on Harold Lucy's barn in Modena.

All Love Him

London, April 24 (AP)—Three women rushed up and kissed George Clements today when he was placed on probation on a charge of bigamy. They were: His legal wife, whom he married in 1920 and who bore him nine children. A woman he lived long enough to have his tenth child. His bigamous wife, who recently had his eleventh and twelfth—a set of twins. Clements pleaded guilty to the charge. He is 52.

False Choppers, Junior Size

Dr. Leon J. Schwartz places a set of false teeth in the mouth of three-year-old Jo Ann Richardson in Chicago. Abnormal decay of her baby teeth necessitated removal of 15 of them which were replaced by a full upper plate and a partial lower plate. The dentures were needed, Dr. Schwartz said, so that the child could eat properly and develop normal speaking habits. (AP Wirephoto)

NEED NO 'HELP' OF RED CHINA

One positive, stable element that can be injected into the troubled Far Eastern situation is formal peace with Japan. Consequently the newest Japanese mission of John Foster Dulles is of the highest importance.

There is no question Dulles went to Tokyo at this particular time to reassure Japan that General MacArthur's dismissal does not mean a change in U. S. policy there.

The Japanese have revered MacArthur as if he were a sort of substitute emperor. In their curious feudal psychology he was perhaps just that. Certainly he symbolized the power of the United States and stood for security against threats of all kind.

Certainly, too, MacArthur's conduct of the occupation was superior. It was without major incident. It reflected solid understanding of Japanese problems in their full Asiatic setting. It was virtually a model.

Butt in any event, with luck it was destined to end in the next six months or so. For the U. S. is hopeful a Japanese treaty may be concluded by that time. Hence the job now is to convince the Japanese the treaty project will go forward with dispatch—along lines already set—and to maintain MacArthur's successful occupation policies in the interim.

Dulles is probably better fit than almost any American to offer the needed reassurances at this moment. He has done an outstanding job in preparing for the Japanese treaty. Quietly and efficiently he has sketched out the basic features of the proposed pact and has won substantial acceptance of these terms from the Japanese and the other Pacific powers concerned.

It remains now to cast this work into formal documents which can be presented for ratification by the victors and vanquished. Any substantial delay would rob this country and its Pacific allies of the constructive initiative that, thanks to Dulles, they have been able to exhibit on this vital problem.

The United States has rejected a British proposal that Red China be consulted on the peace treaty. Britain was merely taking its standard view that, since the Communist regime is the actual ruling government, it would be "unrealistic" to conclude a Japanese pact without hearing Red China's attitude on it.

But in fact it's the other way around. It is wholly unrealistic to invite the Communists' participation in treaty talks at any stage. Enough is known of Red tactics by now to appreciate that in this or any other negotiation their aim would be solely to disrupt and delay and undermine.

Mao Tse-tung has done practically nothing to warrant his being taken seriously as a responsible leader among the family of nations. Whatever his purposes, he has behaved like a military adventurer. On the rare occasions when his representatives have joined in international discussion, they have made blatant propaganda noises bearing no relation to the utterances of sincere statesmen. Mao doesn't belong at the peace table.

The United States seems well advised to proceed with treaty arrangements with no thought of opening them to the destructive devices of the Communists. The goal here is peace with Japan. Efforts to entangle Dulles' fine work with the issue of our recognition of Red China can only obscure that objective.

STILL AT IT

You'd never know it, but the Big Four powers are still haranguing in Paris, trying to get together on an agenda for a conference of their foreign ministers.

Most of the western officials participating have about concluded that Russia doesn't really want a meeting. It begins to look as if this effort was just for the record, so they can shout to the world that the "war-mongering" West wouldn't agree to talk peace. Maybe they had some idea, too, about further splitting the western nations. But all they've succeeeded in splitting are a lot of hairs and diplomatic hairs.

What an impression one letter can make!

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE ISSUE IS ACHESON

Now that General Douglas MacArthur has had his week and the country has burst its bounds of anger and enthusiasm, it becomes clear that politically the quarrel is over Dean Acheson. President Truman has indicated beyond doubt that he has confidence in and supports Dean Acheson. The Republicans will continue their opposition to Dean Acheson and will make such an issue of him that his conduct of the State Department will be before the people from now until after the election of 1952.

General Douglas MacArthur's dismissal has proved to have been a political error on the part of President Truman. The brusque method did not go with the country. After all, General MacArthur has been in the service of his country 52 years and to the public he is a hero. Even those who disagreed with MacArthur's ideas or his conduct felt that the President might have employed some other method than a disgraceful dismissal.

A President's work is so arduous, his responsibilities so great that he too soon becomes a prisoner in the hands of those whom he hires to assist and protect him. Mr. Truman could have been told by his associates that popular opinion has been growing increasingly irritable over the numerous failures of our foreign policy. The country is shocked by our isolation. The machinations of Great Britain have stunned the people.

I am not discussing whether Dean Acheson or the British or Herbert Hoover or Senator Wherry is correct; I am trying to appraise public opinion, and I am sure that the enormous mail I have received during the past fortnight is public opinion. For while there is disagreement and confusion, there is also surprise and shock. India's attitude toward the United States, Iran's attitude toward the United States, and that amazingly unfriendly speech of Lester Pearson, Canada's secretary for external affairs, have made many who even thought well of Acheson's policies wonder at our stark isolation.

The presence of General MacArthur in this country makes the situation more difficult for Dean Acheson. No man in the United States possesses a more detailed knowledge of the Far East. He may even tell of his basic quarrels with the State Department over the attempt to load his administration with pro-Russian Communists and left-wingers. There is an interesting story in MacArthur's struggle with Dean Acheson which has lasted as long as the two men faced each other officially.

It is one of those fortuitous circumstances of politics that the army officer who received General MacArthur when he set foot on American soil was General Albert Wedemeyer, one of the most brilliant minds in our armed forces and a great authority on Far Eastern affairs. He, too, tangled with Dean Acheson on the Far East and Acheson won the argument. Although Wedemeyer's usefulness to the joint chiefs of staff at this time is beyond doubt, he has been situated at San Francisco in a housekeeping job.

It is impossible to investigate the MacArthur dismissal and the events that led to it without investigating the suppression of the Wedemeyer reports on China and Korea. Nor will it be possible to avoid a study of Acheson's appeasements, which he does not regard as appeasements but as technical negotiations. Acheson's speech to the newspaper women in Washington did not establish his denial of appeasement—which has, since Munich, become an offensive word.

The fact that he chose to speak on the Far East the night before General MacArthur's speech to Congress, after a silence since November, indicated to many that Acheson realizes what he faces.

It was in that speech that he reverted to MacArthur's earlier proposal for a Pacific alliance, omitting Formosa, of course. But as General MacArthur made clear in his speech to Congress, the Philippines would be imperiled from within and without, should Formosa be held by either Soviet Russia or Soviet China. At any rate, on the subject of the Philippines, no man can speak with greater authority and stature than General MacArthur and he has spoken of both the Philippines and Formosa.

So here we enter upon another debate which will be more vehement, more articulate than the "Great Debate." The Far Eastern debate may become so tense as to affect all other questions. President Truman and Dean Acheson have long sought to prevent this debate from breaking into the open. Now, it is in the open and they brought it on themselves.

That Body of Yours

HEART MURMURS

In my student days, a heart murmur was considered an important symptom in the diagnosis of heart disease. When a murmur was discovered, its exact location, the time it occurred in the heart cycle (before or after the first or second beat) whether it was soft or hard, the effect of exercise and other considerations were taken into account. In fact, at the beginning of World War I, a murmur of any kind was sufficient to cause rejection for overseas military service and until recently insurance companies have rejected or stepped up the premium where a murmur was present. Murmurs were considered a more important indication of heart disease than enlargement, effects of exercise and irregularities.

Dr. Wm. MacKenzie, (later knighted) was a Scottish general practitioner with an office at the top of a hill. A factory and factory settlement was situated at the bottom of the hill. Dr. MacKenzie noticed that a number of his patients with heart murmurs showed less breathlessness after climbing the hill than others with no heart murmurs. As a result of his research, before the end of World War I, both British and German physicians were accepting recruits with heart murmurs who had no other heart symptoms.

So careful still are physicians about accepting recruits or insurance candidates that often men and women are rejected for heart disease who really have normal hearts despite murmurs.

In a letter to the editor of The Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Myer Solis-Cohen, the Philadelphia specialist, describes a "crunching" murmur believed to be caused by a movement of the cartilage of a rib attached to breast bone during the beat of the heart. Because of its location at breast bone (exact heart region), it is mistaken for a valve defect and "has caused many healthy persons to be rejected for military service, refused employment, and denied life insurance or rated up for insurance, and subjected to unnecessary treatment with its accompanying expense, trouble and anxiety."

While the above teaches us that heart murmurs may be caused by conditions other than heart disease, heart murmurs, just the same, may be signs of heart disease and must not be ignored entirely.

Should you be rejected for military service, life insurance or employment because of a heart murmur, don't be discouraged but consult first your family physician. He may refer you to a heart specialist who by experience and use of X-ray and electrocardiagraph will be able to tell you that your heart is normal organically, or if disease is present, will show you the safest way to live.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—While the nation worries about Far Eastern war strategy, it can be revealed that spectacular new atomic weapons have been developed that can wipe out an entire regiment with one artillery shot or neutralize a city without killing a soul.

For security reasons, only a general report can be given. However, it can be stated that new weapons are under way which may stop Russian aggression dead in its tracks:

1. A terrible, more powerful atomic bomb has been produced that makes the old-fashioned Hiroshima bomb seem like a firecracker by comparison. This new super bomb will be exployed at Eniwetok May 6 to 12 in tests so important that top military and Congressional leaders have been invited to attend.

2. A giant howitzer, capable of firing atomic shells, will be off the production line within three to five months. This is so huge that it must be hauled by freight train. However, just one shot from this atomic-belching howitzer could wipe out a regiment.

3. A new type of warfare, called radiological warfare, has been developed from atomic research. By using radioactive rays, a city could be contaminated and subsequently captured without loss of life or property. A radioactive dose could be used that would not cause death unless absorbed for three or four days. Thus, the populace would have plenty of time to evacuate in safety.

This radiological warfare is what Congressman Albert Gore, Tennessee Democrat, had in mind when he suggested establishing a radioactive belt across the Korean peninsula. If a strong enough dose were used, a radioactive no man's land could be established that would mean certain death to Communist foot soldiers who tried to cross it.

Atomic Difficulties

Significantly, Gore's suggestion was taken up last week by the joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee. However, experts from the Atomic Energy Commission warned that the production of radioactive material for radiological warfare would cut down the atomic bomb output.

They pointed out a possible alternative, however. Buried in our southwest deserts is a huge radioactive stockpile of atomic wastes that could be used to produce the necessary radioactive material without reducing atomic bomb production. The trouble is that the stockpile contains a mixture of radioactive byproducts, including some that will remain radioactive for centuries. Thus the radioactivity might not wear off, and an attacking army could not enter the contaminated area in order to hold it.

It is possible—through an expensive process—to separate the long-term radioactive byproducts from those which are short-lived. The difficulty with this is that the radioactive material must be used immediately. Otherwise, a radioactive dose that has been prepared to contaminate an area, say for 60 days, might wear out before it was used.

Another difficulty with radiological warfare is the danger to those who handle it. Radioactive material to be used for the purpose of contaminating an enemy objective must be carried in clumsy, lead-lined containers. After the lead-lined containers are dropped on an enemy, however, explosive charges attached to the containers can free the radioactive rays.

Despite all these difficulties, the important fact is that radiological warfare is now possible—if President Truman wants to use it.

MacArthur Letters

Even ex-members of Congress are being flooded with "MacArthur" letters. Ex-Senator Scott Lucas of Illinois, who has been practicing law in Washington since he defeat last November, so far has received about 500 letters and they keep rolling in.

One particularly sharp missive from an Illinois teacher, protesting against the "dastardly dismissal" of MacArthur, really caused the former Democratic leader of Senate to sit up and take notice.

"In voting to re-elect you to the Senate last fall," the schoolteacher wrote, "I was convinced that you were first an American and second a Republican. I have continued in that same conviction since you took office. Why have you let the administration get away with this high-handed deed?"

Vandenberg Tribute

Just after the Senate paid its last respects to the late Senator Vandenberg, three anti-Vandenberg Republicans privately ribbed Idaho's freshman Senator Herman Welker for joining in the Vandenberg tribute.

Welker has been such a vigorous political echo of the anti-Vandenberg clique during his four months in the Senate, that after his joining of the parade of speakers eulogizing Vandenber, Senators Mundt of South Dakota, Hickenlooper of Iowa and Jenner of Indiana chided Welker about his eulogy.

With a broad wink at Hickenlooper in the Senate cloakroom, Mundt asked: "Don't you think Welker's attack on Vandenberg was in poor taste?"

With mock seriousness, Hickenlooper and Jenner agreed.

However, this got under Welker's skin, and he snapped: "Go ahead and strike it out! Strike it out of the record! I don't care!"

Jenner then said, in completely serious vein, that he peersonally just didn't feel that he could pay tribute to Vandenberg because of his differing views on foreign policy, but that he was happy that others were paying the tribute which he justly deserved.

MacArthur Merry-Go-Round

The foreign minister and vice-president of Peru, who have been honored guests in this country, didn't mind being ousted from their Waldorf-Astoria Hotel suite to make room for General MacArthur. But they did feel hurt at the lack of confidence implied by the fact that the locks on the doors were changed immediately after they departed and before MacArthur moved in. . . . MacArthur was able to recognize at least one Democrats among the Republicans that surrounded him in the capitol—Senator Tom Connally of Texas. "Hell, Mr. Tom," said the general as the Texan stuck out his hand. . . . When Rep. Overton Brooks of Louisiana commented on MacArthur's spry appearance, Colonel C. C. Canada, the general's personal physician, remarked that the 71-year-old campaigner had the physique of a 53-year-old man. "It's partly due to the good hours he keeps and his attitude toward life," explained Canada.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

April 24, 1931—All bids for the proposed new state armory here were rejected.

William O'Grady, of Athens, Dairymen's League truck driver, was injured when the truck was hit by a West Shore train at Catskill.

The Junior League presented Hansel and Gretel at Epworth Hall.

Charles V. DuBois, for years manager of the Kingston Opera House, died here.

April 24, 1941—The Uptown Business Men's Association, which had backed a parking meter proposal, reversed its stand and opposed it.

A state warning stressed the threat of forest fires in the Catskills and Adirondacks following 27 fires in Orange county, and others in Rockland and Suffolk counties.

The state announced plans for early improvement of the Milton-Marlborough section of Route 9W.

The area overnight temperature was 43 degrees and the noon high 62 following an unseasonal cold spell.

Policy Makers as Much at Sea Over Soviet Moves as They Were on Chinese Plan

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 24 (AP)—The Red air offensive may have a decisive effect on American policy in the Far East.

If the Communists, whether from bases in China or Russia, begin to frustrate our air defense in Korea, authority to bomb the Communist bases will be given. There are some rumors that the Far Eastern command may already have such contingent instructions.

Fundamentally, the main fact, as between those who say that bombarding the Manchurian airfields will bring on a general war and those who say it will not bring any such result, is that nobody really knows the Communist intentions or policy.

Much has been made by administration spokesmen of the point that General MacArthur at Wake Island in October last year, in the course of a discussion of many other things, hazarded the guess that the Chinese Communists would not intervene in Korea. Actually General MacArthur had no other information except that furnished him by the central intelligence agency of our government, which presumably has informants throughout the world, and that which came to him from the Department of State.

In line with the belief that the Department of State is supposed to be most expert on the subject of political information, General MacArthur relied on the data furnished him by this and other agencies of the government. It will be recalled that, just four or five weeks before the Wake Island conference, not only General MacArthur but the American people as a whole were formally told that Communist China would not intervene in the Korean war. Here is an excerpt from a script prepared in advance by Secretary of State Acheson for a large network of television stations on September 10 last and which has since been published as an official document by the Department of State. It is as follows:

"Mr. Bancroft (of CBS): Well, Mr. Secretary, what are the chances, do you think, of Communist China getting herself involved in support of the Korean Communists?

"Secretary Acheson: I should think it would be sheer madness on the part of the Chinese Communists to do that, and I see no advantage to them in doing it. . .

"Now, I give the people in Peiping credit for being intelligent enough to see what is happening to them. Why they should want to further their own dismemberment and destruction by getting at cross purposes with all the free nations of the world who are inherently their friends and have always been friends of the Chinese as against this imperialism coming down from the Soviet Union I cannot see. And since there is nothing in it for them, I don't see why they should yield to what undoubtedly pressures from the Communist movement to get into this Korean row."

The foregoing was substantially the kind of information which continued to be sent to General MacArthur during the latter part of September and October of last year and he relied on it because the Department of State not only has access through Great Biritain to the sources of information of the Indian and Arab governments and their own diplomats in Peiping who are friendly to the Communist government but also to the reports of intelligence officers in the civil branch of our government here who, every day, analyze world-wide reports.

General MacArthur did not have a staff of intelligence agents stationed in Peiping. He might know what the enemy was doing if he had agents behind the enemy lines but air reconnaissance, which has the only certain way to observe what was going on in Manchuria, was denied to the general.

On the subject of whether or not Russia will intervene in the Korean war more actively than she has already and whether she will feel obliged to come to the aid of Communist China because of a mutual-assistance pact, it is pointed out that policy-makers here have no authoritative information on Russian intentions either. During the greater part of World War 2, Russia and Japan had an offensive and defensive alliance which logically should have brought Russia into conflict with the United States when Japan attacked Pearl Harbor and a state of war ensued. But Russia not only ignored that mutual-assistance pact—she subsequently denounced it and joined the United States against Japan.

Nobody in our Department of State or in our military service really knows Russia's intentions. The only good analysis that has been borne out by events was that made by General Clay when he insisted that, if we stood our ground at the time of the Berlin blackade, Russia would not start a war. It is the same kind of analysis as General MacArthur is making today—a diagnosis of military rather than political factors.

Right to Lead May Be Worth Plenty

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"The player who wins a trick," Dick Kahn was saying as I poked my head in the doorway, "has the right to lead to the next trick. And sometimes that privilege of leading is just as important as the trick you've just won."

The scene was the Card School, and Dick Kahn was talking to an "intermediate" class. I tiptoed in to listen.

East wins the first trick with the ace of spades and returns the queen of diamonds. South takes the ace of diamonds and stews about the best way to proceed.

Declarer must plan to lead trumps from the dummy twice and must lead clubs from the dummy once. Hence three tricks must be won somehow in the dummy.

South begins by leading the king of spades from his hand and ruffing it in dummy. Dummy returns a trump, and South wins a finesse with the queen.

South next leads the six of clubs, west plays low, and dummy wins with the king. This enables dummy to lead another trump, and South finesses again, but then he leaves the king of trumps out in order to keep control of the hand.

Now South cashes the kind of diamonds and continues with the seven of diamonds. East wins and returns his last trump (his safest lead), South winning with the ace.

At this point South produces the deuce of diamonds and wins the last diamond trick with dummy's six. That enables him to lead a club from dummy and finesse the ten from his own hand.

South therefore makes his contract by winning three tricks in dummy. One, the king of clubs, is a high-card trick; another, the spade ruff, is a ruffing trick; and the third, the diamond, is a low-card trick.

Dick's class thought it was a good lesson. So did I.

Toledo (AP)—If mother is grouchy and down in the dumps most of the time, or if junior is on a continual rampage around the house, it may be because they need their windows adjusted. A study of the effects of home daylighting shows a direct relationship between the amount of light entering the home and the dispositions of its occupants.

The Sacred Tree in Poona, India, is appealed to by childless women or their kin in search of male progeny. In 1908 an old woman of Darjeeling, named Shelibai, decided on a real tour de force to compel Providence to grant her daughter a male child. She ran on the platform around the tree making the circuit a million times in the period of 15 months, until a messenger ran up to her and reported that her prayer had been granted and that her daughter had borne a son three months before. It took the messenger 90 days to cover the distance between Darjeeling and Poona, 1500 miles.

NEED NO 'HELP' OF RED CHINA

One positive, stable element that can be injected into the troubled Far Eastern situation is formal peace with Japan. Consequently the newest Japanese mission of John Foster Dulles is of the highest importance.

There is no question Dulles went to Tokyo at this particular time to reassure Japan that General MacArthur's dismissal does not mean a change in U. S. policy there.

The Japanese have revered MacArthur as if he were a sort of substitute emperor. In their curious feudal psychology he was perhaps just that. Certainly he symbolized the power of the United States and stood for security against threats of all kind.

Certainly, too, MacArthur's conduct of the occupation was superior. It was without major incident. It reflected solid understanding of Japanese problems in their full Asiatic setting. It was virtually a model.

Butt in any event, with luck it was destined to end in the next six months or so. For the U. S. is hopeful a Japanese treaty may be concluded by that time. Hence the job now is to convince the Japanese the treaty project will go forward with dispatch—along lines already set—and to maintain MacArthur's successful occupation policies in the interim.

Dulles is probably better fit than almost any American to offer the needed reassurances at this moment. He has done an outstanding job in preparing for the Japanese treaty. Quietly and efficiently he has sketched out the basic features of the proposed pact and has won substantial acceptance of these terms from the Japanese and the other Pacific powers concerned.

It remains now to cast this work into formal documents which can be presented for ratification by the victors and vanquished. Any substantial delay would rob this country and its Pacific allies of the constructive initiative that, thanks to Dulles, they have been able to exhibit on this vital problem.

The United States has rejected a British proposal that Red China be consulted on the peace treaty. Britain was merely taking its standard view that, since the Communist regime is the actual ruling government, it would be "unrealistic" to conclude a Japanese pact without hearing Red China's attitude on it.

But in fact it's the other way around. It is wholly unrealistic to invite the Communists' participation in treaty talks at any stage. Enough is known of Red tactics by now to appreciate that in this or any other negotiation their aim would be solely to disrupt and delay and undermine.

Mao Tse-tung has done practically nothing to warrant his being taken seriously as a responsible leader among the family of nations. Whatever his purposes, he has behaved like a military adventurer. On the rare occasions when his representatives have joined in international discussion, they have made blatant propaganda noises bearing no relation to the utterances of sincere statesmen. Mao doesn't belong at the peace table.

The United States seems well advised to proceed with treaty arrangements with no thought of opening them to the destructive devices of the Communists. The goal here is peace with Japan. Efforts to entangle Dulles' fine work with the issue of our recognition of Red China can only obscure that objective.

STILL AT IT

You'd never know it, but the Big Four powers are still haranguing in Paris, trying to get together on an agenda for a conference of their foreign ministers.

Most of the western officials participating have about concluded that Russia doesn't really want a meeting. It begins to look as if this effort was just for the record, so they can shout to the world that the "war-mongering" West wouldn't agree to talk peace. Maybe they had some idea, too, about further splitting the western nations. But all they've succeeeded in splitting are a lot of hairs and diplomatic hairs.

What an impression one letter can make!

'These Days'

THE ISSUE IS ACHESON

Now that General Douglas MacArthur has had his week and the country has burst its bounds of anger and enthusiasm, it becomes clear that politically the quarrel is over Dean Acheson. President Truman has indicated beyond doubt that he has confidence in and supports Dean Acheson. The Republicans will continue their opposition to Dean Acheson and will make such an issue of him that his conduct of the State Department will be before the people from now until after the election of 1952.

General Douglas MacArthur's dismissal has proved to have been a political error on the part of President Truman. The brusque method did not go with the country. After all, General MacArthur has been in the service of his country 52 years and to the public he is a hero. Even those who disagreed with MacArthur's ideas or his conduct felt that the President might have employed some other method than a disgraceful dismissal.

A President's work is so arduous, his responsibilities so great that he too soon becomes a prisoner in the hands of those whom he hires to assist and protect him. Mr. Truman could have been told by his associates that popular opinion has been growing increasingly irritable over the numerous failures of our foreign policy. The country is shocked by our isolation. The machinations of Great Britain have stunned the people.

I am not discussing whether Dean Acheson or the British or Herbert Hoover or Senator Wherry is correct; I am trying to appraise public opinion, and I am sure that the enormous mail I have received during the past fortnight is public opinion. For while there is disagreement and confusion, there is also surprise and shock. India's attitude toward the United States, Iran's attitude toward the United States, and that amazingly unfriendly speech of Lester Pearson, Canada's secretary for external affairs, have made many who even thought well of Acheson's policies wonder at our stark isolation.

The presence of General MacArthur in this country makes the situation more difficult for Dean Acheson. No man in the United States possesses a more detailed knowledge of the Far East. He may even tell of his basic quarrels with the State Department over the attempt to load his administration with pro-Russian Communists and left-wingers. There is an interesting story in MacArthur's struggle with Dean Acheson which has lasted as long as the two men faced each other officially.

It is one of those fortuitous circumstances of politics that the army officer who received General MacArthur when he set foot on American soil was General Albert Wedemeyer, one of the most brilliant minds in our armed forces and a great authority on Far Eastern affairs. He, too, tangled with Dean Acheson on the Far East and Acheson won the argument. Although Wedemeyer's usefulness to the joint chiefs of staff at this time is beyond doubt, he has been situated at San Francisco in a housekeeping job.

It is impossible to investigate the MacArthur dismissal and the events that led to it without investigating the suppression of the Wedemeyer reports on China and Korea. Nor will it be possible to avoid a study of Acheson's appeasements, which he does not regard as appeasements but as technical negotiations. Acheson's speech to the newspaper women in Washington did not establish his denial of appeasement—which has, since Munich, become an offensive word.

The fact that he chose to speak on the Far East the night before General MacArthur's speech to Congress, after a silence since November, indicated to many that Acheson realizes what he faces.

It was in that speech that he reverted to MacArthur's earlier proposal for a Pacific alliance, omitting Formosa, of course. But as General MacArthur made clear in his speech to Congress, the Philippines would be imperiled from within and without, should Formosa be held by either Soviet Russia or Soviet China. At any rate, on the subject of the Philippines, no man can speak with greater authority and stature than General MacArthur and he has spoken of both the Philippines and Formosa.

So here we enter upon another debate which will be more vehement, more articulate than the "Great Debate." The Far Eastern debate may become so tense as to affect all other questions. President Truman and Dean Acheson have long sought to prevent this debate from breaking into the open. Now, it is in the open and they brought it on themselves.

That Body of Yours

HEART MURMURS

In my student days, a heart murmur was considered an important symptom in the diagnosis of heart disease. When a murmur was discovered, its exact location, the time it occurred in the heart cycle (before or after the first or second beat) whether it was soft or hard, the effect of exercise and other considerations were taken into account. In fact, at the beginning of World War I, a murmur of any kind was sufficient to cause rejection for overseas military service and until recently insurance companies have rejected or stepped up the premium where a murmur was present. Murmurs were considered a more important indication of heart disease than enlargement, effects of exercise and irregularities.

Dr. Wm. MacKenzie, (later knighted) was a Scottish general practitioner with an office at the top of a hill. A factory and factory settlement was situated at the bottom of the hill. Dr. MacKenzie noticed that a number of his patients with heart murmurs showed less breathlessness after climbing the hill than others with no heart murmurs. As a result of his research, before the end of World War I, both British and German physicians were accepting recruits with heart murmurs who had no other heart symptoms.

So careful still are physicians about accepting recruits or insurance candidates that often men and women are rejected for heart disease who really have normal hearts despite murmurs.

In a letter to the editor of The Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Myer Solis-Cohen, the Philadelphia specialist, describes a "crunching" murmur believed to be caused by a movement of the cartilage of a rib attached to breast bone during the beat of the heart. Because of its location at breast bone (exact heart region), it is mistaken for a valve defect and "has caused many healthy persons to be rejected for military service, refused employment, and denied life insurance or rated up for insurance, and subjected to unnecessary treatment with its accompanying expense, trouble and anxiety."

While the above teaches us that heart murmurs may be caused by conditions other than heart disease, heart murmurs, just the same, may be signs of heart disease and must not be ignored entirely.

Should you be rejected for military service, life insurance or employment because of a heart murmur, don't be discouraged but consult first your family physician. He may refer you to a heart specialist who by experience and use of X-ray and electrocardiagraph will be able to tell you that your heart is normal organically, or if disease is present, will show you the safest way to live.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—While the nation worries about Far Eastern war strategy, it can be revealed that spectacular new atomic weapons have been developed that can wipe out an entire regiment with one artillery shot or neutralize a city without killing a soul.

For security reasons, only a general report can be given. However, it can be stated that new weapons are under way which may stop Russian aggression dead in its tracks:

1. A terrible, more powerful atomic bomb has been produced that makes the old-fashioned Hiroshima bomb seem like a firecracker by comparison. This new super bomb will be exployed at Eniwetok May 6 to 12 in tests so important that top military and Congressional leaders have been invited to attend.

2. A giant howitzer, capable of firing atomic shells, will be off the production line within three to five months. This is so huge that it must be hauled by freight train. However, just one shot from this atomic-belching howitzer could wipe out a regiment.

3. A new type of warfare, called radiological warfare, has been developed from atomic research. By using radioactive rays, a city could be contaminated and subsequently captured without loss of life or property. A radioactive dose could be used that would not cause death unless absorbed for three or four days. Thus, the populace would have plenty of time to evacuate in safety.

This radiological warfare is what Congressman Albert Gore, Tennessee Democrat, had in mind when he suggested establishing a radioactive belt across the Korean peninsula. If a strong enough dose were used, a radioactive no man's land could be established that would mean certain death to Communist foot soldiers who tried to cross it.

Atomic Difficulties

Significantly, Gore's suggestion was taken up last week by the joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee. However, experts from the Atomic Energy Commission warned that the production of radioactive material for radiological warfare would cut down the atomic bomb output.

They pointed out a possible alternative, however. Buried in our southwest deserts is a huge radioactive stockpile of atomic wastes that could be used to produce the necessary radioactive material without reducing atomic bomb production. The trouble is that the stockpile contains a mixture of radioactive byproducts, including some that will remain radioactive for centuries. Thus the radioactivity might not wear off, and an attacking army could not enter the contaminated area in order to hold it.

It is possible—through an expensive process—to separate the long-term radioactive byproducts from those which are short-lived. The difficulty with this is that the radioactive material must be used immediately. Otherwise, a radioactive dose that has been prepared to contaminate an area, say for 60 days, might wear out before it was used.

Another difficulty with radiological warfare is the danger to those who handle it. Radioactive material to be used for the purpose of contaminating an enemy objective must be carried in clumsy, lead-lined containers. After the lead-lined containers are dropped on an enemy, however, explosive charges attached to the containers can free the radioactive rays.

Despite all these difficulties, the important fact is that radiological warfare is now possible—if President Truman wants to use it.

MacArthur Letters

Even ex-members of Congress are being flooded with "MacArthur" letters. Ex-Senator Scott Lucas of Illinois, who has been practicing law in Washington since he defeat last November, so far has received about 500 letters and they keep rolling in.

One particularly sharp missive from an Illinois teacher, protesting against the "dastardly dismissal" of MacArthur, really caused the former Democratic leader of Senate to sit up and take notice.

"In voting to re-elect you to the Senate last fall," the schoolteacher wrote, "I was convinced that you were first an American and second a Republican. I have continued in that same conviction since you took office. Why have you let the administration get away with this high-handed deed?"

Vandenberg Tribute

Just after the Senate paid its last respects to the late Senator Vandenberg, three anti-Vandenberg Republicans privately ribbed Idaho's freshman Senator Herman Welker for joining in the Vandenberg tribute.

Welker has been such a vigorous political echo of the anti-Vandenberg clique during his four months in the Senate, that after his joining of the parade of speakers eulogizing Vandenber, Senators Mundt of South Dakota, Hickenlooper of Iowa and Jenner of Indiana chided Welker about his eulogy.

With a broad wink at Hickenlooper in the Senate cloakroom, Mundt asked: "Don't you think Welker's attack on Vandenberg was in poor taste?"

With mock seriousness, Hickenlooper and Jenner agreed.

However, this got under Welker's skin, and he snapped: "Go ahead and strike it out! Strike it out of the record! I don't care!"

Jenner then said, in completely serious vein, that he peersonally just didn't feel that he could pay tribute to Vandenberg because of his differing views on foreign policy, but that he was happy that others were paying the tribute which he justly deserved.

MacArthur Merry-Go-Round

The foreign minister and vice-president of Peru, who have been honored guests in this country, didn't mind being ousted from their Waldorf-Astoria Hotel suite to make room for General MacArthur. But they did feel hurt at the lack of confidence implied by the fact that the locks on the doors were changed immediately after they departed and before MacArthur moved in. . . . MacArthur was able to recognize at least one Democrats among the Republicans that surrounded him in the capitol—Senator Tom Connally of Texas. "Hell, Mr. Tom," said the general as the Texan stuck out his hand. . . . When Rep. Overton Brooks of Louisiana commented on MacArthur's spry appearance, Colonel C. C. Canada, the general's personal physician, remarked that the 71-year-old campaigner had the physique of a 53-year-old man. "It's partly due to the good hours he keeps and his attitude toward life," explained Canada.

Policy Makers as Much at Sea Over Soviet Moves as They Were on Chinese Plan

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 24 (AP)—The Red air offensive may have a decisive effect on American policy in the Far East.

If the Communists, whether from bases in China or Russia, begin to frustrate our air defense in Korea, authority to bomb the Communist bases will be given. There are some rumors that the Far Eastern command may already have such contingent instructions.

Fundamentally, the main fact, as between those who say that bombarding the Manchurian airfields will bring on a general war and those who say it will not bring any such result, is that nobody really knows the Communist intentions or policy.

Much has been made by administration spokesmen of the point that General MacArthur at Wake Island in October last year, in the course of a discussion of many other things, hazarded the guess that the Chinese Communists would not intervene in Korea. Actually General MacArthur had no other information except that furnished him by the central intelligence agency of our government, which presumably has informants throughout the world, and that which came to him from the Department of State.

In line with the belief that the Department of State is supposed to be most expert on the subject of political information, General MacArthur relied on the data furnished him by this and other agencies of the government. It will be recalled that, just four or five weeks before the Wake Island conference, not only General MacArthur but the American people as a whole were formally told that Communist China would not intervene in the Korean war. Here is an excerpt from a script prepared in advance by Secretary of State Acheson for a large network of television stations on September 10 last and which has since been published as an official document by the Department of State. It is as follows:

"Mr. Bancroft (of CBS): Well, Mr. Secretary, what are the chances, do you think, of Communist China getting herself involved in support of the Korean Communists?

"Secretary Acheson: I should think it would be sheer madness on the part of the Chinese Communists to do that, and I see no advantage to them in doing it. . .

"Now, I give the people in Peiping credit for being intelligent enough to see what is happening to them. Why they should want to further their own dismemberment and destruction by getting at cross purposes with all the free nations of the world who are inherently their friends and have always been friends of the Chinese as against this imperialism coming down from the Soviet Union I cannot see. And since there is nothing in it for them, I don't see why they should yield to what undoubtedly pressures from the Communist movement to get into this Korean row."

The foregoing was substantially the kind of information which continued to be sent to General MacArthur during the latter part of September and October of last year and he relied on it because the Department of State not only has access through Great Biritain to the sources of information of the Indian and Arab governments and their own diplomats in Peiping who are friendly to the Communist government but also to the reports of intelligence officers in the civil branch of our government here who, every day, analyze world-wide reports.

General MacArthur did not have a staff of intelligence agents stationed in Peiping. He might know what the enemy was doing if he had agents behind the enemy lines but air reconnaissance, which has the only certain way to observe what was going on in Manchuria, was denied to the general.

On the subject of whether or not Russia will intervene in the Korean war more actively than she has already and whether she will feel obliged to come to the aid of Communist China because of a mutual-assistance pact, it is pointed out that policy-makers here have no authoritative information on Russian intentions either. During the greater part of World War 2, Russia and Japan had an offensive and defensive alliance which logically should have brought Russia into conflict with the United States when Japan attacked Pearl Harbor and a state of war ensued. But Russia not only ignored that mutual-assistance pact—she subsequently denounced it and joined the United States against Japan.

Nobody in our Department of State or in our military service really knows Russia's intentions. The only good analysis that has been borne out by events was that made by General Clay when he insisted that, if we stood our ground at the time of the Berlin blackade, Russia would not start a war. It is the same kind of analysis as General MacArthur is making today—a diagnosis of military rather than political factors.

Right to Lead May Be Worth Plenty

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"The player who wins a trick," Dick Kahn was saying as I poked my head in the doorway, "has the right to lead to the next trick. And sometimes that privilege of leading is just as important as the trick you've just won."

The scene was the Card School, and Dick Kahn was talking to an "intermediate" class. I tiptoed in to listen.

East wins the first trick with the ace of spades and returns the queen of diamonds. South takes the ace of diamonds and stews about the best way to proceed.

Declarer must plan to lead trumps from the dummy twice and must lead clubs from the dummy once. Hence three tricks must be won somehow in the dummy.

South begins by leading the king of spades from his hand and ruffing it in dummy. Dummy returns a trump, and South wins a finesse with the queen.

South next leads the six of clubs, west plays low, and dummy wins with the king. This enables dummy to lead another trump, and South finesses again, but then he leaves the king of trumps out in order to keep control of the hand.

Now South cashes the kind of diamonds and continues with the seven of diamonds. East wins and returns his last trump (his safest lead), South winning with the ace.

At this point South produces the deuce of diamonds and wins the last diamond trick with dummy's six. That enables him to lead a club from dummy and finesse the ten from his own hand.

South therefore makes his contract by winning three tricks in dummy. One, the king of clubs, is a high-card trick; another, the spade ruff, is a ruffing trick; and the third, the diamond, is a low-card trick.

Dick's class thought it was a good lesson. So did I.

The United States has rejected a British proposal that Red China be consulted on the peace treaty. Britain was merely taking its standard view that, since the Communist regime is the actual ruling government, it would be "unrealistic" to conclude a Japanese pact without hearing Red China's attitude on it.

But in fact it's the other way around. It is wholly unrealistic to invite the Communists' participation in treaty talks at any stage. Enough is known of Red tactics by now to appreciate that in this or any other negotiation their aim would be solely to disrupt and delay and undermine.

Mao Tse-tung has done practically nothing to warrant his being taken seriously as a responsible leader among the family of nations. Whatever his purposes, he has behaved like a military adventurer. On the rare occasions when his representatives have joined in international discussion, they have made blatant propaganda noises bearing no relation to the utterances of sincere statesmen. Mao doesn't belong at the peace table.

The United States seems well advised to proceed with treaty arrangements with no thought of opening them to the destructive devices of the Communists. The goal here is peace with Japan. Efforts to entangle Dulles' fine work with the issue of our recognition of Red China can only obscure that objective.

STILL AT IT

You'd never know it, but the Big Four powers are still haranguing in Paris, trying to get together on an agenda for a conference of their foreign ministers.

Most of the western officials participating have about concluded that Russia doesn't really want a meeting. It begins to look as if this effort was just for the record, so they can shout to the world that the "war-mongering" West wouldn't agree to talk peace. Maybe they had some idea, too, about further splitting the western nations. But all they've succeeeded in splitting are a lot of ... and diplomatic hairs.

What an impression one letter can make!

'These Days'

THE ISSUE IS ACHESON

Now that General Douglas MacArthur has had his week and the country has burst its bounds of anger and enthusiasm, it becomes clear that politically the quarrel is over Dean Acheson. President Truman has indicated beyond doubt that he has confidence in and supports Dean Acheson. The Republicans will continue their opposition to Dean Acheson and will make such an issue of him that his conduct of the State Department will be before the people from now until after the election of 1952.

General Douglas MacArthur's dismissal has proved to have been a political error on the part of President Truman. The brusque method did not go with the country. After all, General MacArthur has been in the service of his country 52 years and to the public he is a hero. Even those who disagreed with MacArthur's ideas or his conduct felt that the President might have employed some other method than a disgraceful dismissal.

A President's work is so arduous, his responsibilities so great that he too soon becomes a prisoner in the hands of those whom he hires to assist and protect him. Mr. Truman could have been told by his associates that popular opinion has been growing increasingly irritable over the numerous failures of our foreign policy. The country is shocked by our isolation. The machinations of Great Britain have stunned the people.

I am not discussing whether Dean Acheson or the British or Herbert Hoover or Senator Wherry is correct; I am trying to appraise public opinion, and I am sure that the enormous mail I have received during the past fortnight is public opinion. For while there is disagreement and confusion, there is also surprise and shock. India's attitude toward the United States, Iran's attitude toward the United States, and that amazingly unfriendly speech of Lester Pearson, Canada's secretary for external affairs, have made many who even thought well of Acheson's policies wonder at our stark isolation.

The presence of General MacArthur in this country makes the situation more difficult for Dean Acheson. No man in the United States possesses a more detailed knowledge of the Far East. He may even tell of his basic quarrels with the State Department over the attempt to load his administration with pro-Russian Communists and left-wingers. There is an interesting story in MacArthur's struggle with Dean Acheson which has lasted as long as the two men faced each other officially.

It is one of those fortuitous circumstances of politics that the army officer who received General MacArthur when he set foot on American soil was General Albert Wedemeyer, one of the most brilliant minds in our armed forces and a great authority on Far Eastern affairs. He, too, tangled with Dean Acheson on the Far East and Acheson won the argument. Although Wedemeyer's usefulness to the joint chiefs of staff at this time is beyond doubt, he has been situated at San Francisco in a housekeeping job.

It is impossible to investigate the MacArthur dismissal and the events that led to it without investigating the suppression of the Wedemeyer reports on China and Korea. Nor will it be possible to avoid a study of Acheson's appeasements, which he does not regard as appeasements but as technical negotiations. Acheson's speech to the newspaper women in Washington did not establish his denial of appeasement—which has, since Munich, become an offensive word.

The fact that he chose to speak on the Far East the night before General MacArthur's speech to Congress, after a silence since November, indicated to many that Acheson realizes what he faces.

It was in that speech that he reverted to MacArthur's earlier proposal for a Pacific alliance, omitting Formosa, of course. But as General MacArthur made clear in his speech to Congress, the Philippines would be imperiled from within and without, should Formosa be held by either Soviet Russia or Soviet China. At any rate, on the subject of the Philippines, no man can speak with greater authority and stature than General MacArthur and he has spoken of both the Philippines and Formosa.

So here we enter upon another debate which will be more vehement, more articulate than the "Great Debate." The Far Eastern debate may become so tense as to affect all other questions. President Truman and Dean Acheson have long sought to prevent this debate from breaking into the open. Now, it is in the open and they brought it on themselves.

That Body of Yours

HEART MURMURS

In my student days, a heart murmur was considered an important symptom in the diagnosis of heart disease. When a murmur was discovered, its exact location, the time it occurred in the heart cycle (before or after the first or second beat) whether it was soft or hard, the effect of exercise and other considerations were taken into account. In fact, at the beginning of World War I, a murmur of any kind was sufficient to cause rejection for overseas military service and until recently insurance companies have rejected or stepped up the premium where a murmur was present. Murmurs were considered a more important indication of heart disease than enlargement, effects of exercise and irregularities.

Dr. Wm. MacKenzie, (later knighted) was a Scottish general practitioner with an office at the top of a hill. A factory and factory settlement was situated at the bottom of the hill. Dr. MacKenzie noticed that a number of his patients with heart murmurs showed less breathlessness after climbing the hill than others with no heart murmurs. As a result of his research, before the end of World War I, both British and German physicians were accepting recruits with heart murmurs who had no other heart symptoms.

So careful still are physicians about accepting recruits or insurance candidates that often men and women are rejected for heart disease who really have normal hearts despite murmurs.

In a letter to the editor of The Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Myer Solis-Cohen, the Philadelphia specialist, describes a "crunching" murmur believed to be caused by a movement of the cartilage of a rib attached to breast bone during the beat of the heart. Because of its location at breast bone (exact heart region), it is mistaken for a valve defect and "has caused many healthy persons to be rejected for military service, refused employment, and denied life insurance or rated up for insurance, and subjected to unnecessary treatment with its accompanying expense, trouble and anxiety."

While the above teaches us that heart murmurs may be caused by conditions other than heart disease, heart murmurs, just the same, may be signs of heart disease and must not be ignored entirely.

Should you be rejected for military service, life insurance or employment because of a heart murmur, don't be discouraged but consult first your family physician. He may refer you to a heart specialist who by experience and use of X-ray and electrocardiagraph will be able to tell you that your heart is normal organically, or if disease is present, will show you the safest way to live.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—While the nation worries about Far Eastern war strategy, it can be revealed that spectacular new atomic weapons have been developed that can wipe out an entire regiment with one artillery shot or neutralize a city without killing a soul.

For security reasons, only a general report can be given. However, it can be stated that new weapons are under way which may stop Russian aggression dead in its tracks:

1. A terrible, more powerful atomic bomb has been produced that makes the old-fashioned Hiroshima bomb seem like a firecracker by comparison. This new super bomb will be exployed at Eniwetok May 6 to 12 in tests so important that top military and Congressional leaders have been invited to attend.

2. A giant howitzer, capable of firing atomic shells, will be off the production line within three to five months. This is so huge that it must be hauled by freight train. However, just one shot from this atomic-belching howitzer could wipe out a regiment.

3. A new type of warfare, called radiological warfare, has been developed from atomic research. By using radioactive rays, a city could be contaminated and subsequently captured without loss of life or property. A radioactive dose could be used that would not cause death unless absorbed for three or four days. Thus, the populace would have plenty of time to evacuate in safety.

This radiological warfare is what Congressman Albert Gore, Tennessee Democrat, had in mind when he suggested establishing a radioactive belt across the Korean peninsula. If a strong enough dose were used, a radioactive no man's land could be established that would mean certain death to Communist foot soldiers who tried to cross it.

Atomic Difficulties

Significantly, Gore's suggestion was taken up last week by the joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee. However, experts from the Atomic Energy Commission warned that the production of radioactive material for radiological warfare would cut down the atomic bomb output.

They pointed out a possible alternative, however. Buried in our southwest deserts is a huge radioactive stockpile of atomic wastes that could be used to produce the necessary radioactive material without reducing atomic bomb production. The trouble is that the stockpile contains a mixture of radioactive byproducts, including some that will remain radioactive for centuries. Thus the radioactivity might not wear off, and an attacking army could not enter the contaminated area in order to hold it.

It is possible—through an expensive process—to separate the long-term radioactive byproducts from those which are short-lived. The difficulty with this is that the radioactive material must be used immediately. Otherwise, a radioactive dose that has been prepared to contaminate an area, say for 60 days, might wear out before it was used.

Another difficulty with radiological warfare is the danger to those who handle it. Radioactive material to be used for the purpose of contaminating an enemy objective must be carried in clumsy, lead-lined containers. After the lead-lined containers are dropped on an enemy, however, explosive charges attached to the containers can free the radioactive rays.

Despite all these difficulties, the important fact is that radiological warfare is now possible—if President Truman wants to use it.

MacArthur Letters

Even ex-members of Congress are being flooded with "MacArthur" letters. Ex-Senator Scott Lucas of Illinois, who has been practicing law in Washington since he defeat last November, so far has received about 500 letters and they keep rolling in.

One particularly sharp missive from an Illinois teacher, protesting against the "dastardly dismissal" of MacArthur, really caused the former Democratic leader of Senate to sit up and take notice.

"In voting to re-elect you to the Senate last fall," the schoolteacher wrote, "I was convinced that you were first an American and second a Republican. I have continued in that same conviction since you took office. Why have you let the administration get away with this high-handed deed?"

Vandenberg Tribute

Just after the Senate paid its last respects to the late Senator Vandenberg, three anti-Vandenberg Republicans privately ribbed Idaho's freshman Senator Herman Welker for joining in the Vandenberg tribute.

Welker has been such a vigorous political echo of the anti-Vandenberg clique during his four months in the Senate, that after his joining of the parade of speakers eulogizing Vandenber, Senators Mundt of South Dakota, Hickenlooper of Iowa and Jenner of Indiana chided Welker about his eulogy.

With a broad wink at Hickenlooper in the Senate cloakroom, Mundt asked: "Don't you think Welker's attack on Vandenberg was in poor taste?"

With mock seriousness, Hickenlooper and Jenner agreed.

However, this got under Welker's skin, and he snapped: "Go ahead and strike it out! Strike it out of the record! I don't care!"

Jenner then said, in completely serious vein, that he peersonally just didn't feel that he could pay tribute to Vandenberg because of his differing views on foreign policy, but that he was happy that others were paying the tribute which he justly deserved.

MacArthur Merry-Go-Round

The foreign minister and vice-president of Peru, who have been honored guests in this country, didn't mind being ousted from their Waldorf-Astoria Hotel suite to make room for General MacArthur. But they did feel hurt at the lack of confidence implied by the fact that the locks on the doors were changed immediately after they departed and before MacArthur moved in. . . . MacArthur was able to recognize at least one Democrats among the Republicans that surrounded him in the capitol—Senator Tom Connally of Texas. "Hell, Mr. Tom," said the general as the Texan stuck out his hand. . . . When Rep. Overton Brooks of Louisiana commented on MacArthur's spry appearance, Colonel C. C. Canada, the general's personal physician, remarked that the 71-year-old campaigner had the physique of a 53-year-old man. "It's partly due to the good hours he keeps and his attitude toward life," explained Canada.

Ripley's—Believe It or Not!

The Sacred Tree in Poona, India, is appealed to by childless women or their kin in search of male progeny. In 1908 an old woman of Darjeeling, named Shelibai, decided on a real tour de force to compel Providence to grant her daughter a male child. She ran on the platform around the tree making the circuit a million times in the period of 15 months, until a messenger ran up to her and reported that her prayer had been granted and that her daughter had borne a son three months before. It took the messenger 90 days to cover the distance between Darjeeling and Poona, 1500 miles.

Policy Makers as Much at Sea Over Soviet Moves as They Were on Chinese Plan

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 24 (AP)—The Red air offensive may have a decisive effect on American policy in the Far East.

If the Communists, whether from bases in China or Russia, begin to frustrate our air defense in Korea, authority to bomb the Communist bases will be given. There are some rumors that the Far Eastern command may already have such contingent instructions.

Fundamentally, the main fact, as between those who say that bombarding the Manchurian airfields will bring on a general war and those who say it will not bring any such result, is that nobody really knows the Communist intentions or policy.

Much has been made by administration spokesmen of the point that General MacArthur at Wake Island in October last year, in the course of a discussion of many other things, hazarded the guess that the Chinese Communists would not intervene in Korea. Actually General MacArthur had no other information except that furnished him by the central intelligence agency of our government, which presumably has informants throughout the world, and that which came to him from the Department of State.

In line with the belief that the Department of State is supposed to be most expert on the subject of political information, General MacArthur relied on the data furnished him by this and other agencies of the government. It will be recalled that, just four or five weeks before the Wake Island conference, not only General MacArthur but the American people as a whole were formally told that Communist China would not intervene in the Korean war. Here is an excerpt from a script prepared in advance by Secretary of State Acheson for a large network of television stations on September 10 last and which has since been published as an official document by the Department of State. It is as follows:

"Mr. Bancroft (of CBS): Well, Mr. Secretary, what are the chances, do you think, of Communist China getting herself involved in support of the Korean Communists?

"Secretary Acheson: I should think it would be sheer madness on the part of the Chinese Communists to do that, and I see no advantage to them in doing it. . .

"Now, I give the people in Peiping credit for being intelligent enough to see what is happening to them. Why they should want to further their own dismemberment and destruction by getting at cross purposes with all the free nations of the world who are inherently their friends and have always been friends of the Chinese as against this imperialism coming down from the Soviet Union I cannot see. And since there is nothing in it for them, I don't see why they should yield to what undoubtedly pressures from the Communist movement to get into this Korean row."

The foregoing was substantially the kind of information which continued to be sent to General MacArthur during the latter part of September and October of last year and he relied on it because the Department of State not only has access through Great Biritain to the sources of information of the Indian and Arab governments and their own diplomats in Peiping who are friendly to the Communist government but also to the reports of intelligence officers in the civil branch of our government here who, every day, analyze world-wide reports.

General MacArthur did not have a staff of intelligence agents stationed in Peiping. He might know what the enemy was doing if he had agents behind the enemy lines but air reconnaissance, which has the only certain way to observe what was going on in Manchuria, was denied to the general.

On the subject of whether or not Russia will intervene in the Korean war more actively than she has already and whether she will feel obliged to come to the aid of Communist China because of a mutual-assistance pact, it is pointed out that policy-makers here have no authoritative information on Russian intentions either. During the greater part of World War 2, Russia and Japan had an offensive and defensive alliance which logically should have brought Russia into conflict with the United States when Japan attacked Pearl Harbor and a state of war ensued. But Russia not only ignored that mutual-assistance pact—she subsequently denounced it and joined the United States against Japan.

Nobody in our Department of State or in our military service really knows Russia's intentions. The only good analysis that has been borne out by events was that made by General Clay when he insisted that, if we stood our ground at the time of the Berlin blackade, Russia would not start a war. It is the same kind of analysis as General MacArthur is making today—a diagnosis of military rather than political factors.

Right to Lead May Be Worth Plenty

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"The player who wins a trick," Dick Kahn was saying as I poked my head in the doorway, "has the right to lead to the next trick. And sometimes that privilege of leading is just as important as the trick you've just won."

The scene was the Card School, and Dick Kahn was talking to an "intermediate" class. I tiptoed in to listen.

East wins the first trick with the ace of spades and returns the queen of diamonds. South takes the ace of diamonds and stews about the best way to proceed.

Declarer must plan to lead trumps from the dummy twice and must lead clubs from the dummy once. Hence three tricks must be won somehow in the dummy.

South begins by leading the king of spades from his hand and ruffing it in dummy. Dummy returns a trump, and South wins a finesse with the queen.

South next leads the six of clubs, west plays low, and dummy wins with the king. This enables dummy to lead another trump, and South finesses again, but then he leaves the king of trumps out in order to keep control of the hand.

Now South cashes the kind of diamonds and continues with the seven of diamonds. East wins and returns his last trump (his safest lead), South winning with the ace.

At this point South produces the deuce of diamonds and wins the last diamond trick with dummy's six. That enables him to lead a club from dummy and finesse the ten from his own hand.

South therefore makes his contract by winning three tricks in dummy. One, the king of clubs, is a high-card trick; another, the spade ruff, is a ruffing trick; and the third, the diamond, is a low-card trick.

Dick's class thought it was a good lesson. So did I.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

This column was written shortly after the epic oration to the assembled Houses of the Congress by General MacArthur, and before any reactions from official Washington or the Pentagon had been issued.

Accordingly, the Ruminator can only speculate on possible "contrary opinions" that come to mind prior to any official developments.

There is one point, it seems to me, we might well keep in mind.

You doubtless noted General MacArthur's reference to the fact that if the "enemy" (meaning Russia, presumably) can wage its aggressive tactics, by war and by propaganda, on two fronts, then certainly the defensive powers should be able to do the same. (This reference is from recollection of the radio address, and I have not used the general's forceful language, because of faulty memory.)

If this policy gains ground—that we must protect the east as well as the west—then it will mean that mobilization for defense will obviously have to be greatly increased. This seems also to be the view of the Whaley-Eaton "Foreign Letter" gleaned from their reports from abroad.

It is obvious that administration, General Eisenhower, and the chiefs of staff, will not, under any circumstance, let up in their determination to defend Europe. The European theatre will remain as the top-billing in the defense program. However, if General MacArthur succeeds in convincing the Congress—and the people of the country—that the Pacific area must likewise receive top-ranking military attention, then the answer has to be that mobilization will become an even larger undertaking than the present astronomical figures reveal.

We cannot, I am sure, continue to ADD to our mobilization responsibilities and at the same time enjoy the comforts and luxuries of our current standard of living.

Something must give somewhere if we are to shoulder both tasks.

Such a possibility projects many problems, chief among them what will happen to the inflation that has been at least curbed in recent weeks.

The dangers from inflation are too well known, and have been discussed so often here, that we need not dwell upon them again. Suffice to remark that in order to prevent an inflation running away, our standard of living must suffer.

A second point that we might keep in mind while the Great Debate on foreign policy is opened anew, is the thought that the other nations of the so-called western block will demand a stronger voice in the conduct and decisions of anti-Russian policies in the future. The voice of the United States has been the most powerful up to now, because we have shouldered the largest proportion of both the financial burden and the man-power burden.

Nevertheless, it seems clearly evident that both Great Britain and France, and certainly Canada will insist upon much greater participation in affairs from now on. There is no secret that Great Britain and France were in the anti - MacArthur camp. Public opinion and newspaper opinion abroad has been "against" MacArthur for months. Obviously so, as they wish to save their own skins first. This is natural. Nonetheless, this feeling of "Europe first" can cause strained feelings among the western powers, if great care is not taken to tread diplomatically in future discussions. (It will be especially interesting, by the way, to see how Churchill will attempt to smooth things over when he speaks in Philadelphia on May 8. His subject, already announced, "Anglo-American Relations," is timely indeed).

It is difficult to see how these stirring developments, occasioned by General MacArthur's return, will have any immediate effect on economic conditions. They may have long-run implications, because of the speculations expressed above, but unlikely, it seems to me, to change the near-term outlook. The stock market, for example, was only moderately active on Thursday, and prices merely slipped off a little. A reaction in the market was natural after the recent fast upward thrust, and thus some slight weakness on the day of the general's address to the Congress does not appear to hold any significance.

It is the long-run, not the short view, that we need to keep our minds on—and indications of the long view will develop as the days pass and people argue the MacArthur thesis.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

More R.A.F. Planes

Singapore (AP)—More bombing planes are coming from England to aid the R.A.F. in its attacks against Communist terrorists in the dense Jungles of Malaya. The R.A.F. headquarters here said this means an intensification of the air strikes against terrorist hideouts.

Decision Is Made By Supreme Court On 'Eating Piggy'

Washington, April 24 (AP)—The Supreme Court formally decided a legal squabble yesterday over the little toy pig who clings to junior's cereal bowl. Now it can be a pig, a puppy or anything else.

This particular little pig devotes his life trying to sell junior on the idea of eating his cereal. He hangs on the rim of the bowl by his front feet, his head and hungry mouth watching over the food.

The idea is that when junior balks at eating, mother puts a couple spoonsful into the pig's mouth. The cereal vanishes, apparently relished by Mr. Pig. (A trick through inside the plastic toy drops the food back into the bowl. But junior is not supposed to catch on to this.)

This, said the U. S. District Court in Chicago, is more than a toy. It is a device "highly utilitarian in character;" it has "decided educational and psychological value," and its concept was "new and inventive." (What the court meant was it's a darned clever idea and it works.)

Because of its finding that the device was "new and inventive," the district court said Eoina Nudelman, 4 East Ohio street, Chicago, properly granted a patent on the pig. Further, it said the patent infringed by a firm called Crest Specialty of 663 W. Washington boulevard, Chicago. Crest has a similar device in puppy form.

Crest fought the decision by appealing to the U. S. Circuit Court in Chicago. That court too decided in favor of Nudelman. Crest continued the fight with an appeal to the Supreme Court.

The highest tribunal had the final say with a formal ruling in favor of Crest. The court wrote no opinion but in a brief order noted that its decision was based on another ruling last December 4. At that time the Supreme Court unanimously threw out a claim that the A. and P. grocery chain had infringed on a patent for a check-out tray.

Declines Re-election

Boston, April 24 (AP)—Samuel Zemurray, who rose from dock laborer to millionaire businessman, has stepped down as president of the huge United Fruit Company. The 74-year-old native of Russian Bessarabia told the firm's board of directors yesterday that he did not wish to be re-elected. He was elected chairman of the executive committee, however, and will continue actively in his new position. T. Jefferson Coolidge was re-elected chairman of the board and Kenneth H. Redmond was chosen president.

Harry's Cousin Is A Puncher Also

Springfield, Mo., April 24 (AP)—Seventy-year-old Ralph Truman knocked off the hat of an insurance salesman who made a remark about President Truman yesterday.

Ralph Truman, a retired major general, is the President's cousin.

The incident followed a Chamber of Commerce directors' meeting.

During the session, civilian defense pamphlets telling what to do during an atomic bomb attack were passed around. Witnesses said Larry Eiffert, the salesman, remarked, "They ought to drop one of these on old Harry."

Truman, who attended the meeting, approached 35-year-old Eiffert afterwards and said:

"You can't talk like that about the President."

He followed through with a punch that knocked off Eiffert's hat.

Bishop Taken by Reds

Hong Kong, April 24 (AP)—The Red China radio yesterday announced the arrest of Bishop Francis X. Ford and his secretary, Miss Joan Marie Ryan, of the Maryknoll Catholic Mission at Meihsien, 210 miles northeast of Canton. The announcement said they were arrested April 14 on charges of spying and harboring secret agents and organizing a "black army" for armed uprisings against the Reds.

Press too Noisy

Rome, April 24 (AP)—Police closed down the Daily American, an English language newspaper yesterday on the grounds that its press made too much noise. This, said the police, disturbed and annoyed the entire neighborhood. Jack L. Begon, president of the publishing company that has put out the paper since 1946, said he would start legal action in an effort to collect damages resulting from the closure.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

This column was written shortly after the epic oration to the assembled Houses of the Congress by General MacArthur, and before any reactions from official Washington or the Pentagon had been issued.

Accordingly, the Ruminator can only speculate on possible "contrary opinions" that come to mind prior to any official developments.

There is one point, it seems to me, we might well keep in mind.

You doubtless noted General MacArthur's reference to the fact that if the "enemy" (meaning Russia, presumably) can wage its aggressive tactics, by war and by propaganda, on two fronts, then certainly the defensive powers should be able to do the same. (This reference is from recollection of the radio address, and I have not used the general's forceful language, because of faulty memory.)

If this policy gains ground—that we must protect the east as well as the west—then it will mean that mobilization for defense will obviously have to be greatly increased. This seems also to be the view of the Whaley-Eaton "Foreign Letter" gleaned from their reports from abroad.

It is obvious that administration, General Eisenhower, and the chiefs of staff, will not, under any circumstance, let up in their determination to defend Europe. The European theatre will remain as the top-billing in the defense program. However, if General MacArthur succeeds in convincing the Congress—and the people of the country—that the Pacific area must likewise receive top-ranking military attention, then the answer has to be that mobilization will become an even larger undertaking than the present astronomical figures reveal.

We cannot, I am sure, continue to ADD to our mobilization responsibilities and at the same time enjoy the comforts and luxuries of our current standard of living.

Something must give somewhere if we are to shoulder both tasks.

Such a possibility projects many problems, chief among them what will happen to the inflation that has been at least curbed in recent weeks.

The dangers from inflation are too well known, and have been discussed so often here, that we need not dwell upon them again. Suffice to remark that in order to prevent an inflation running away, our standard of living must suffer.

A second point that we might keep in mind while the Great Debate on foreign policy is opened anew, is the thought that the other nations of the so-called western block will demand a stronger voice in the conduct and decisions of anti-Russian policies in the future. The voice of the United States has been the most powerful up to now, because we have shouldered the largest proportion of both the financial burden and the man-power burden.

Nevertheless, it seems clearly evident that both Great Britain and France, and certainly Canada will insist upon much greater participation in affairs from now on. There is no secret that Great Britain and France were in the anti-MacArthur camp. Public opinion and newspaper opinion abroad has been "against" MacArthur for months. Obviously so, as they wish to save their own skins first. This is natural. Nonetheless, this feeling of "Europe first" can cause strained feelings among the western powers, if great care is not taken to tread diplomatically in future discussions. (It will be especially interesting, by the way, to see how Churchill will attempt to smooth things over when he speaks in Philadelphia on May 8. His subject, already announced, "Anglo-American Relations," is timely indeed).

It is difficult to see how these stirring developments, occasioned by General MacArthur's return, will have any immediate effect on economic conditions. They may have long-run implications, because of the speculations expressed above, but unlikely, it seems to me, to change the near-term outlook. The stock market, for example, was only moderately active on Thursday, and prices merely slipped off a little. A reaction in the market was natural after the recent fast upward thrust, and thus some slight weakness on the day of the general's address to the Congress does not appear to hold any significance.

It is the long-run, not the short view, that we need to keep our minds on—and indications of the long view will develop as the days pass and people argue the MacArthur thesis.

More R.A.F. Planes

Decision Is Made By Supreme Court On 'Eating Piggy'

Washington, April 24 (AP)—The Supreme Court formally decided a legal squabble yesterday over the little toy pig who clings to junior's cereal bowl. Now it can be a pig, a puppy or anything else.

This particular little pig devotes his life trying to sell junior on the idea of eating his cereal. He hangs on the rim of the bowl by his front feet, his head and hungry mouth watching over the food.

The idea is that when junior balks at eating, mother puts a couple spoonsful into the pig's mouth. The cereal vanishes, apparently relished by Mr. Pig. (A trick through inside the plastic toy drops the food back into the bowl. But junior is not supposed to catch on to this.)

This, said the U. S. District Court in Chicago, is more than a toy. It is a device "highly utilitarian in character;" it has "decided educational and psychological value," and its concept was "new and inventive." (What the court meant was it's a darned clever idea and it works.)

Because of its finding that the device was "new and inventive," the district court said Eoina Nudelman, 4 East Ohio street, Chicago, properly granted a patent on the pig. Further, it said the patent infringed by a firm called Crest Specialty of 663 W. Washington boulevard, Chicago. Crest has a similar device in puppy form.

Crest fought the decision by appealing to the U. S. Circuit Court in Chicago. That court too decided in favor of Nudelman. Crest continued the fight with an appeal to the Supreme Court.

The highest tribunal had the final say with a formal ruling in favor of Crest. The court wrote no opinion but in a brief order noted that its decision was based on another ruling last December 4. At that time the Supreme Court unanimously threw out a claim that the A. and P. grocery chain had infringed on a patent for a check-out tray.

Declines Re-election

Boston, April 24 (AP)—Samuel Zemurray, who rose from dock laborer to millionaire businessman, has stepped down as president of the huge United Fruit Company. The 74-year-old native of Russian Bessarabia told the firm's board of directors yesterday that he did not wish to be re-elected. He was elected chairman of the executive committee, however, and will continue actively in his new position. T. Jefferson Coolidge was re-elected chairman of the board and Kenneth H. Redmond was chosen president.

Harry's Cousin Is A Puncher Also

Springfield, Mo., April 24 (AP)—Seventy-year-old Ralph Truman knocked off the hat of an insurance salesman who made a remark about President Truman yesterday.

Ralph Truman, a retired major general, is the President's cousin.

The incident followed a Chamber of Commerce directors' meeting.

During the session, civilian defense pamphlets telling what to do during an atomic bomb attack were passed around. Witnesses said Larry Eiffert, the salesman, remarked, "They ought to drop one of these on old Harry."

Truman, who attended the meeting, approached 35-year-old Eiffert afterwards and said:

"You can't talk like that about the President."

He followed through with a punch that knocked off Eiffert's hat.

Bishop Taken by Reds

Hong Kong, April 24 (AP)—The Red China radio yesterday announced the arrest of Bishop Francis X. Ford and his secretary, Miss Joan Marie Ryan, of the Maryknoll Catholic Mission at Meihsien, 210 miles northeast of Canton. The announcement said they were arrested April 14 on charges of spying and harboring secret agents and organizing a "black army" for armed uprisings against the Reds.

MacArthur Buttons Cut Jail Sentences

New York, April 23 (AP)—Two Brooklyn men sang the praises of Gen. Douglas MacArthur from a jail cell today.

Manuel Hueta, 49, and John Welle, 44, admitted yesterday in Brooklyn week-end court that they may have had a little too much to drink and maybe were a little too noisy.

Magistrate Abner C. Surpless noticed the MacArthur buttons pinned to their lapels, and grinned:

"Well, he is a great American. As long as you're friends of his I'll only give you 10 days in jail each. I was going to make it 30 days."

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

New York (AP)—Before the species dies out altogether, someone ought to go out and trap a real old-fashioned grandma.

And they ought to trap a real old-fashioned grandpa, too, and put the pair of them on exhibition in the American Museum of Natural History—somewhere between the dinosaur and the brontosaurus.

But I suppose it is too late. Are there any real old-fashioned grandparents left? If there are I don't see them anymore. No place, that is, except in the magazine ads.

You know the type of grandma I mean. She's the dear old white-haired soul with the kindly look, sitting in a quaint rocking chair and putting the finishing touches on a quilt. And remember the old-fashioned grandpa? He's the gentle character with the time-frayed moustache. He is seated by the fireplace. His cane is by his side, and a golden-haired tot is sleeping on his lap as the fine old fellow gazes with misty eyes into the dying fire.

Well, that's the kind of grandma and grandpa I was raised to believe in. But today they're about as legendary as Santa Claus. I have met a lot of grandparents recently, but none of them were sewing quilts or sitting by the fireside.

They have become streamlined just like trains, airplanes and motor cars. The jet age grandma doesn't want to look like Whistler's mother. Her model is Marlene Dietrich, who is a grandma, too, but gets a little tired of having that fact mentioned so much.

Yep, grandma has done gone in for glamor and sex appeal. The only needle she knows is the one she gives grandpa for stopping off at a bar on his way home. She no longer has silver threads among the gold. She's a platinum blonde. And by golly, and by peroxide, she's going to stay a blonde!

She and grandpa don't hang out in their children's chimney corner. The youngsters live with them, and grandpar usually pays the rent.

The big argument about the house now isn't whether the grandchildren should be spanked. It's about whose turn is it to stay home and baby sit—mother's or grandmother's?

"They're your kids," says grandma firmly. "You stay home and raise 'em. Your father and I are already 15 minutes late to our Samba lesson."

Nope, grandma is done with diapers. She'd rather play Canasta or talk about the foreign policy.

Recently I visited a household that has one of those golden-haired little tots that used to fall asleep on grandpa's lap. She was prettily begging her mother to let her stay up until midnight—"just this once."

"Why?" said the harassed mother.

"I want to see grandma come home," explained the tot.

And at a party I went to I spent an hour with a couple of these streamlined grandmas. One was teaching the other how to blow smoke rings, and all they discussed was baseball and who would win the Kentucky Derby. Gave me kind of an eerie feeling, too.

You don't think grandma and grandpa are stepping out?

"Listen," said a night club operator, "if they passed a law that grandmas couldn't come out after dark I'd have to close up this joint."

When the wolf knocks on the door where Red Riding Hood's grandma lives, he isn't coming for a free meal. He's got a date.

Well, it's kind of sad to have the old-fashioned grandma and the old-fashioned grandpa vanish, like the dodo. But the new streamlined models seem to have a lot more fun. They may not act their age, but it's rather nice to see the old folks growing young so disgracefully.

Rita Ready to Work

Hollywood, April 24 (AP)—Rita Hayworth says she's ready to go back to work and Hollywood has jumped to the conclusion that she wants to divorce Prince Aly Khan. All that's known is that she has hired an attorney, in New York, and notified her studio here that she's available for movie roles. Miss Hayworth isn't talking, and neither is her attorney. Her studio said yesterday she can have her pick of several starring roles. The actress was suspended two and a half years ago when she dropped her film career to marry the Moslem prince. She now is in New York, her husband in Europe.

Margaret Would Act

Hollywood, April 24 (AP)—Margaret Truman would like to become an actress as well as continuing her singing career. She "might consider motion pictures" she told a news conference yesterday upon her arrival to participate in a radio play Thursday. She said she has had movie offers but has been too busy with radio and record work to consider them. The President's daughter will appear opposite James Stewart in a Screen Directors Guild Playhouse presentation of the play "Jackpot." She will play Stewart's wife and the mother of two children.

Practice Declines

Albany, N. Y., April 24 (AP)—The State Labor Department says violation of state labor laws pertaining to employment of children on farms has declined almost 80 per cent in two years. Four per cent of the workers on fruit and vegetable farms last year were children illegally employed, the department said yesterday. This compared with 19 per cent in 1948 and six per cent in 1949.

Say Russians Ready

Taipeh, Formosa, April 24 (AP)—The Nationalist Chinese Defense Ministry said today a Russian armored division is stationed at Suchow, a Red Chinese rail junction about 200 miles northwest of Nanking. The ministry quoted a recent arrival in Hong Kong from Suchow. He was not identified.

Recreation Officers

Glens Falls, N. Y., April 24 (AP)—Salvatore Prezioso of Scarsdale was elected vice president of the New York State Public Recreation Society last night at the group's annual convention. The society is composed of city recreation directors. Elected to the executive board were: Peter J. Mayers, New Rochelle; Louis A. Pierro, Hudson; and Carl E. Waite, White Plains.

Run by Hiss?

Cudahy, Wis., April 24 (AP)—Harry Truman is President "in name only," says Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.). "The Hiss crowd," the Wisconsin Republican senator said last night, "still runs the State Department and not only determines foreign policy but military strategy as well." McCarthy told a Chamber of Commerce dinner he thinks Mr. Truman "is essentially just as loyal as the average American citizen," but "the Acheson group has almost hypnotic powers over him."

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

New York (AP)—Before the species dies out altogether, someone ought to go out and trap a real old-fashioned grandma.

And they ought to trap a real old-fashioned grandpa, too, and put the pair of them on exhibition in the American Museum of Natural History—somewhere between the dinosaur and the brontosaurus.

But I suppose it is too late. Are there any real old-fashioned grandparents left? If there are I don't see them anymore. No place, that is, except in the magazine ads.

You know the type of grandma I mean. She's the dear old white-haired soul with the kindly look, sitting in a quaint rocking chair and putting the finishing touches on a quilt. And remember the old-fashioned grandpa? He's the gentle character with the time-frayed moustache. He is seated by the fireplace. His cane is by his side, and a golden-haired tot is sleeping on his lap as the fine old fellow gazes with misty eyes into the dying fire.

Well, that's the kind of grandma and grandpa I was raised to believe in. But today they're about as legendary as Santa Claus. I have met a lot of grandparents recently, but none of them were sewing quilts or sitting by the fireside.

They have become streamlined just like trains, airplanes and motor cars. The jet age grandma doesn't want to look like Whistler's mother. Her model is Marlene Dietrich, who is a grandma, too, but gets a little tired of having that fact mentioned so much.

Yep, grandma has done gone in for glamor and sex appeal. The only needle she knows is the one she gives grandpa for stopping off at a bar on his way home. She no longer has silver threads among the gold. She's a platinum blonde. And by golly, and by peroxide, she's going to stay a blonde!

She and grandpa don't hang out in their children's chimney corner. The youngsters live with them, and grandpar usually pays the rent.

The big argument about the house now isn't whether the grandchildren should be spanked. It's about whose turn is it to stay home and baby sit—mother's or grandmother's?

"They're your kids," says grandma firmly. "You stay home and raise 'em. Your father and I are already 15 minutes late to our Samba lesson."

Nope, grandma is done with diapers. She'd rather play Canasta or talk about the foreign policy.

SHOKAN

Shokan, April 23—Morton Hendrickson, Jr., who joined the army last winter is now undergoing infantry training at Camp Campbell, Ky. Morton's younger brother, Kenneth, a pupil of the Shokan school, is helping his mother with the family farm work including the milking of three cows.

John Douglas and family have moved into the Fred Woernecke bungalow in the west end. Douglas is employed as a foreman on construction of the new Onteora central school building at Boiceville.

Henry Gebelein of the village center spent several days in New York and vicinity. Henry greatly enjoyed the MacArthur celebration, a part of which he viewed from a good vantage point in city hall park.

Our Old Timer in reminiscent mood recalled that 50 years ago and more men of his age would by this time have shed their woolen wristlets—though not their heavy underwear. These homemade knitted coverings for the wrist were highly esteemed as protectors for the blood vessels. O. T. in this connection also recalled how Dr. Harvey Wygant of Saugerties, at about this time in April, 65 years ago, was about well again following a serious illness from poisoning, the result of wearing gay-colored wristlets.

Merlin DuBois, Glenford Heights war veteran, has resumed his duties as driver for a Kingston asphalting concern.

Mrs. Denis T. Lynch of New York and friend, Mrs. B. Johnson of New Jersey, have been spending a few days at the Lynch summer home. Here also, for the week-end, were Donoch Lynch and wife and baby of Baltimore.

Echo of waterworks days: April 23, 1910—Awards by an Ashokan commission of which Joseph M. Fowler of Kingston is a member, totalled $79,585, including the following: Heirs of William and Anna Greenway, $8,500; John D. Emmist, $7,500; Nellie and Jay Every and Abram Molyneaux as administrators of Wm. D. Every, $32,500, and Oliver Davis, $4,950. Above awards all were for Shokan properties.

Work on the construction of the $2,150,000 Onteora school building is progressing rapidly, with footings and walls on the senior high school wing being almost complete, and it is now expected the building will be enclosed by late fall. Local labor is being employed on the school job insofar as this is possible.

Attorney Says Prison Used to 'Break' Client

New York, April 24 (AP)—An attorney for condemned atom spy Ethel Rosenberg says he will subpoena a number of "journalists" to testify on reports that she was placed in Sing Sing's death house "for reasons of 'breaking' her."

The attorney, Emanuel Bloch, won a hearing yesterday to find out if his client is suffering "undue and unusual psychological pressure" in Sing Sing prison, at Ossining, N. Y.

Federal Judge John C. Knox set Mrs. Rosenberg's hearing for May 2 at the Federal Court House here. She will not be present.

Mrs. Rosenberg and her husband, Julius, have been sentenced to die for wartime atomic espionage for Russia. Appeals will delay the executions, originally scheduled for the week beginning May 1.

Rosenberg is in the Federal House of Detention here. However, U. S. Attorney Irving H. Saypol said yesterday that Rosenberg would be moved to Sing Sing death house within a few days.

In opposing Bloch's demand for a hearing on Mrs. Rosenberg's death house confinement, Saypol said she was transferred there 13 days ago because of lack of facilities at the women's detention house here.

Bloch said he intended to subpoena newsmen who have commented on Mrs. Rosenberg's removal. He did not name any of the newsmen, but said many might be "unwilling" witnesses.

Saypol denied the government was subjecting Mrs. Rosenberg to "any coercive attempts."

Testimony by newspaper people, Saypol said, would be "hearsay."

Saypol has said he would oppose any possible move to commute the death sentence unless the condemned aided the government by talking freely.

HOME BUREAU

Interesting Program

The Ulster County Home Bureau reminds members and friends who plan to attend the county-wide Achievement Day May 3 at the Saugerties Municipal Auditorium to be at the meeting at 10:15 and to allow time for parking because the program is an interesting one. Miss Therese Wood will tell about the extension service in England and Sweden and the schools in the latter country for young women who wish to work on farms. She also will discuss rural life in Denmark as well as describe the meetings of the Associated Country Women of the World which were held in Copenhagen in September. The slides she will show are of places in Germany, Switzerland and France.

Another interesting part of the meeting will be a talk by Miss Beth Peterson of E. I. duPont de Nemours and Co., entitled "From Calico to Nylon."

There will be reports on membership and on the scholarship fund and one minute reports on unit activities to be given by the chairmen.

Two Groups Served

Two groups of people were served by the Ulster County Home Bureau at the Meals for Many meeting held in Woodstock April 20. They were boarding house operators and women who were responsible for serving community meals in church halls, granges and others.

Miss Agnes Carlson, specialist, demonstrated the making in quantity amounts of a cream soup and plain and jelly muffins.

Miss Dorothy Proud, specialist, reviewed the patterns established for menu planning according to the season. These menus are designed to meet nutritional needs with attractive dishes. She spent considerable time reviewing costs.

SHOKAN

Shokan, April 23—Morton Hendrickson, Jr., who joined the army last winter is now undergoing infantry training at Camp Campbell, Ky. Morton's younger brother, Kenneth, a pupil of the Shokan school, is helping his mother with the family farm work including the milking of three cows.

John Douglas and family have moved into the Fred Woernecke bungalow in the west end. Douglas is employed as a foreman on construction of the new Onteora central school building at Boiceville.

Henry Gebelein of the village center spent several days in New York and vicinity. Henry greatly enjoyed the MacArthur celebration, a part of which he viewed from a good vantage point in city hall park.

Our Old Timer in reminiscent mood recalled that 50 years ago and more men of his age would by this time have shed their woolen wristlets—though not their heavy underwear. These homemade knitted coverings for the wrist were highly esteemed as protectors for the blood vessels. O. T. in this connection also recalled how Dr. Harvey Wygant of Saugerties, at about this time in April, 65 years ago, was about well again following a serious illness from poisoning, the result of wearing gay-colored wristlets.

Merlin DuBois, Glenford Heights war veteran, has resumed his duties as driver for a Kingston asphalting concern.

Mrs. Denis T. Lynch of New York and friend, Mrs. B. Johnson of New Jersey, have been spending a few days at the Lynch summer home. Here also, for the week-end, were Donoch Lynch and wife and baby of Baltimore.

Echo of waterworks days: April 23, 1910—Awards by an Ashokan commission of which Joseph M. Fowler of Kingston is a member, totalled $79,585, including the following: Heirs of William and Anna Greenway, $8,500; John D. Emmist, $7,500; Nellie and Jay Every and Abram Molyneaux as administrators of Wm. D. Every, $32,500, and Oliver Davis, $4,950. Above awards all were for Shokan properties.

Work on the construction of the $2,150,000 Onteora school building is progressing rapidly, with footings and walls on the senior high school wing being almost complete, and it is now expected the building will be enclosed by late fall. Local labor is being employed on the school job insofar as this is possible.

Attorney Says Prison Used to 'Break' Client

New York, April 24 (AP)—An attorney for condemned atom spy Ethel Rosenberg says he will subpoena a number of "journalists" to testify on reports that she was placed in Sing Sing's death house "for reasons of 'breaking' her."

The attorney, Emanuel Bloch, won a hearing yesterday to find out if his client is suffering "undue and unusual psychological pressure" in Sing Sing prison, at Ossining, N. Y.

Federal Judge John C. Knox set Mrs. Rosenberg's hearing for May 2 at the Federal Court House here. She will not be present.

Mrs. Rosenberg and her husband, Julius, have been sentenced to die for wartime atomic espionage for Russia. Appeals will delay the executions, originally scheduled for the week beginning May 1.

Rosenberg is in the Federal House of Detention here. However, U. S. Attorney Irving H. Saypol said yesterday that Rosenberg would be moved to Sing Sing death house within a few days.

In opposing Bloch's demand for a hearing on Mrs. Rosenberg's death house confinement, Saypol said she was transferred there 13 days ago because of lack of facilities at the women's detention house here.

Bloch said he intended to subpoena newsmen who have commented on Mrs. Rosenberg's removal. He did not name any of the newsmen, but said many might be "unwilling" witnesses.

Saypol denied the government was subjecting Mrs. Rosenberg to "any coercive attempts."

Testimony by newspaper people, Saypol said, would be "hearsay."

Saypol has said he would oppose any possible move to commute the death sentence unless the condemned aided the government by talking freely.

HOME BUREAU

Interesting Program

The Ulster County Home Bureau reminds members and friends who plan to attend the county-wide Achievement Day May 3 at the Saugerties Municipal Auditorium to be at the meeting at 10:15 and to allow time for parking because the program is an interesting one. Miss Therese Wood will tell about the extension service in England and Sweden and the schools in the latter country for young women who wish to work on farms. She also will discuss rural life in Denmark as well as describe the meetings of the Associated Country Women of the World which were held in Copenhagen in September. The slides she will show are of places in Germany, Switzerland and France.

Another interesting part of the meeting will be a talk by Miss Beth Peterson of E. I. duPont de Nemours and Co., entitled "From Calico to Nylon."

There will be reports on membership and on the scholarship fund and one minute reports on unit activities to be given by the chairmen.

Two Groups Served

Two groups of people were served by the Ulster County Home Bureau at the Meals for Many meeting held in Woodstock April 20. They were boarding house operators and women who were responsible for serving community meals in church halls, granges and others.

Miss Agnes Carlson, specialist, demonstrated the making in quantity amounts of a cream soup and plain and jelly muffins.

Miss Dorothy Proud, specialist, reviewed the patterns established for menu planning according to the season. These menus are designed to meet nutritional needs with attractive dishes. She spent considerable time reviewing costs.

Expects Eruption Of Hawaii Volcano

Honolulu, April 23 (AP) — A strong earthquake on the big island of Hawaii Sunday prompted speculation today that Kilauea volcano may rumble to eruption after 16 years of silence.

A two-minute quake shook the island at 2:53 p. m. (7:53 p. m., E.S.T.). Windows in downtown Hilo, the island's largest city, were shattered but no other damage or casualties were reported.

Dr. Thomas A. Jaggar, volcanologist, said "it looks like the lava is moving again at Kilauea. A sharp quake of this nature usually precedes volcanic activity."

Kilauea, inactive for 16 years, had been erupting on an average of once every 11 years.

"It's five years overdue now," Jaggar said. "We've been expecting it to wake up again."

The earthquake caused a landslide at Halemaumau, largest crater on Mount Kilauea. The U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey said the quake centered under either that mountain or Mauna Loa which erupted last year.

Invented the Aileron

Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone, was also the inventor of the aileron which replaced wing warping as a method for control of airplane flight.

GOP Aims to Trim Million Off Pay Roll

Washington, April 23 (AP) — House Republicans are gearing up a new economy drive aimed at saving tax money by trimming some half a million civilian employes off the Federal payroll.

Rep. Jensen (R-Iowa), a leader in the move, told a reporter Monday that such a cut in the payroll should "effect savings of at least $1,000,000,000" during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The plan appeared certain to gain the ears of some members of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee. Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.), a committee member, said yesterday a nationwide survey of businessmen indicated strong backing for a $5,000,000,000 cut in Federal spending, as suggested by Senator Byrd (D-Va.)

Nepal Gets 'Air Force'

Khatmandu, Nepal (AP) — This tiny kingdom now has an air force. It consists of two reconditioned Douglas Dakotas (C-47) twin-engined transports purchased from India at a cost of $105,000. The planes are the first owned by Nepal, which previously depended on chartered planes from Indian airlines or Indian government planes for aerial communication with the outside world.

Dismissal Opens Way

Haswell, England, April 23 (AP) —The dismissal of General MacArthur offers a new opportunity for the United Nations and the Chinese Communist government to end the Korean fighting, British Defense Minister Emanuel Shinwell said yesterday. "I think that opportunity has been present for some considerable time," he declared in a speech to his constituents, "but here again (MacArthur's removal) is the opportunity for the United Nations representatives and the representatives of the Peiping government to get together to bring this Korean affair to an end."

There are 28 railway tunnels more than a mile long in the United States.

Calls for 'Clean Up'

New York, April 23 (AP)—Political "decadence" in the United States, Sen. Estes Kefauver (D.-Tenn.) says, calls for a "housecleaning through all levels of government." But the head of the U. S. Senate Crime Investigating Committee adds that the decadent trend "is not fatal and I don't think it's deeply rooted." Kefauver and Dr. Lawrence Kubie, psychiatrist at the Yale School of Medicine, discussed crime and politics yesterday on a National Broadcasting Company television program usually conducted by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, now in Europe.

In Genoa, 1951 is being celebrated as the 500th anniversary of Columbus' birth.

I NEVER BOUGHT STOCKS BEFORE . . . HOW DO I GO ABOUT IT ?

Here are some questions that people ask:

Can I choose any broker I want? You certainly can. Member firms of the New York Stock Exchange have 1,600 offices in 396 cities.

Suppose I have only $500 to invest? Whether you have $500 or $5,000 to invest, you will get courteous, intelligent attention. Handling orders for a few shares or hundreds is the day-to-day business of member firms of the Exchange.

Will I be high-pressured? Helping people invest their money is a serious business. The broker's job is to help you—not to high-pressure you—and that goes even if you just want to talk things over.

How much will the broker charge me? Nothing for information or advice. If you decide to invest, he will charge you a commission based on the price and number of shares you order. The average commission on the great majority of stock transactions on the Exchange is about one per cent.

Are women customers welcome in a brokerage office? You can count on it. Women are important investors.

Once you've decided why you want to invest—considered the risks as well as the rewards—you'll probably have specific questions of your own. Your questions will be answered simply and directly—and without charge—at any member firm of the New York Stock Exchange.

If you do become a stockholder, you'll have plenty of company. All kinds of people in all walks of life own stocks in American businesses. And millions of these people made their first purchase through Stock Exchange firms.

Dismissal Opens Way

Haswell, England, April 23 (AP) —The dismissal of General MacArthur offers a new opportunity for the United Nations and the Chinese Communist government to end the Korean fighting, British Defense Minister Emanuel Shinwell said yesterday. "I think that opportunity has been present for some considerable time," he declared in a speech to his constituents, "but here again (MacArthur's removal) is the opportunity for the United Nations representatives and the representatives of the Peiping government to get together to bring this Korean affair to an end."

Calls for 'Clean Up'

New York, April 23 (AP)—Political "decadence" in the United States, Sen. Estes Kefauver (D.-Tenn.) says, calls for a "housecleaning through all levels of government." But the head of the U. S. Senate Crime Investigating Committee adds that the decadent trend "is not fatal and I don't think it's deeply rooted." Kefauver and Dr. Lawrence Kubie, psychiatrist at the Yale School of Medicine, discussed crime and politics yesterday on a National Broadcasting Company television program usually conducted by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, now in Europe.

Expects Eruption Of Hawaii Volcano

Honolulu, April 23 (AP) — A strong earthquake on the big island of Hawaii Sunday prompted speculation today that Kilauea volcano may rumble to eruption after 16 years of silence.

A two-minute quake shook the island at 2:53 p. m. (7:53 p. m., E.S.T.). Windows in downtown Hilo, the island's largest city, were shattered but no other damage or casualties were reported.

Dr. Thomas A. Jaggar, volcanologist, said "it looks like the lava is moving again at Kilauea. A sharp quake of this nature usually precedes volcanic activity."

Kilauea, inactive for 16 years, had been erupting on an average of once every 11 years.

"It's five years overdue now," Jaggar said. "We've been expecting it to wake up again."

The earthquake caused a landslide at Halemaumau, largest crater on Mount Kilauea. The U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey said the quake centered under either that mountain or Mauna Loa which erupted last year.

Invented the Aileron

Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone, was also the inventor of the aileron which replaced wing warping as a method for control of airplane flight.

GOP Aims to Trim Million Off Pay Roll

Washington, April 23 (AP) — House Republicans are gearing up a new economy drive aimed at saving tax money by trimming some half a million civilian employes off the Federal payroll.

Rep. Jensen (R-Iowa), a leader in the move, told a reporter Monday that such a cut in the payroll should "effect savings of at least $1,000,000,000" during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The plan appeared certain to gain the ears of some members of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee. Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.), a committee member, said yesterday a nationwide survey of businessmen indicated strong backing for a $5,000,000,000 cut in Federal spending, as suggested by Senator Byrd (D-Va.)

Khatmandu, Nepal (AP) — This tiny kingdom now has an air force. It consists of two reconditioned Douglas Dakotas (C-47) twin-engined transports purchased from India at a cost of $105,000. The planes are the first owned by Nepal, which previously depended on chartered planes from Indian airlines or Indian government planes for aerial communication with the outside world.

Mrs. Haynes Speaks Before Local WCTU On Liquor in Korea

Mrs. Daniel L. Haynes spoke on the provocative subject, Champagne for Death, at a recent meeting of the Kingston WCTU, held at the home of the president, Mrs. George H. Shultis, 279 Washington avenue.

Reporting from an Associated Press dispatch of last July 27 from an advance command in Korea, Mrs. Haynes told how Maj. Gen. Hobert R. Gay had issued an order, awarding "a decoration and a bottle of champagne to go to each member of every First Cavalry Division bazooka squad that gets a North Korean tank."

"Major General Gay will buy the champagne himself and have it flown here from Japan," the dispatch continued.

Mrs. Haynes summed up her adddress by saying that fighting men were ordered to face almost certain death with the promise that if they went a little further into danger, they would receive an award, not of "a crown of righteousness which the Lord, the righteous Judge shall give," but a bottle of champagne.

Next on the program was a report of liquor propaganda for churches, given by Mrs. John Steketee. She told of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union Research Council report on an alleged plan financed by liquor and beer associates, and supported by liquor interests, offering to pay churches $10 to show a film entitled The Truth Shall Make You Free. The film shows the failure of the temperance movement to halt drinking or dissipation.

It was announced that the May meeting of the WCTU will be held at the home of Mrs. Benjamin Charchian, Port Ewen.

Mrs. Haynes Speaks Before Local WCTU On Liquor in Korea

Mrs. Daniel L. Haynes spoke on the provocative subject, Champagne for Death, at a recent meeting of the Kingston WCTU, held at the home of the president, Mrs. George H. Shultis, 279 Washington avenue.

Reporting from an Associated Press dispatch of last July 27 from an advance command in Korea, Mrs. Haynes told how Maj. Gen. Hobert R. Gay had issued an order, awarding "a decoration and a bottle of champagne to go to each member of every First Cavalry Division bazooka squad that gets a North Korean tank."

"Major General Gay will buy the champagne himself and have it flown here from Japan," the dispatch continued.

Mrs. Haynes summed up her adddress by saying that fighting men were ordered to face almost certain death with the promise that if they went a little further into danger, they would receive an award, not of "a crown of righteousness which the Lord, the righteous Judge shall give," but a bottle of champagne.

Next on the program was a report of liquor propaganda for churches, given by Mrs. John Steketee. She told of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union Research Council report on an alleged plan financed by liquor and beer associates, and supported by liquor interests, offering to pay churches $10 to show a film entitled The Truth Shall Make You Free. The film shows the failure of the temperance movement to halt drinking or dissipation.

It was announced that the May meeting of the WCTU will be held at the home of Mrs. Benjamin Charchian, Port Ewen.

Excerpts from Our 106th Annual Report...

The Fight Against Inflation

WHAT GOVERNMENT SHOULD DO:

"First of all, it is imperative that non-essential expenditures, whether for civilian or military purposes, should be reduced to the bone. Taxes should be increased so as to place the defense program, so far as possible, on a pay-as-you-go basis. Monetary and economic controls should be installed so as to combat an inflationary increase in the money supply and to restrict wage and price increases lest the financial effect of other measures be nullified.

"If expenses are expanded too far it will not be possible, without great damage to our economy, to operate on a pay-as-you-go basis. Deficits, therefore, may have to be financed through new issues of securities by the government. Such securities should be issued on terms and at rates of interest that will encourage their sale to private investors and not to banks. The sale of government securities to banks tends to increase the supply of money and is therefore inflationary."

WHAT INDIVIDUALS SHOULD DO:

"1. Recognize that there cannot be either magical avoidance or effortless solution of the problems we face.

2. Urge our representatives in government to fight the forces that threaten to undermine our economy. And support them vigorously when they do what is right, even when it is unpopular.

3. Don't buy what we don't need; use what we have sparingly. In both ways this will reduce the demand for goods.

4. Pay higher taxes ungrudgingly. It is better to pay stiff taxes and check inflation than to enjoy the delusion of an exaggerated income and reckon later with a damaged economy.

5. Increase our savings. Money put into life insurance, government savings bonds and other forms of saving, helps to check inflation."

From the Letter to Policyholders signed by George L. Harrison, Chairman of the Board, and Devereux C. Josephs, President.

Sewing Human Needs

Behind every fact, behind every figure in the year's report lies a human story . . . a story of what life insurance is doing to give hope and security to somebody, someplace. The Annual Report contains several real-life stories, showing how—thanks to the efforts of a skilled agent—insurance is helping folks today in neighborhoods like yours.

Financial Highlights

The New York Life Insurance Company's operations for the year 1950, and its financial position at the close of the year, may be briefly summarized as follows:

Assets of $4,907,729,002 compared with $4,674,990,644 at the previous year-end; and liabilities of $4,559,916,790 compared with $4,366,397,324.

Surplus funds held for general contingencies were increased from $283,593,320 to $302,812,212; and the asset fluctuation fund was increased from $25,000,000 to $45,000,000.

Sales, amounting to $1,012,322,500, established a new high record.

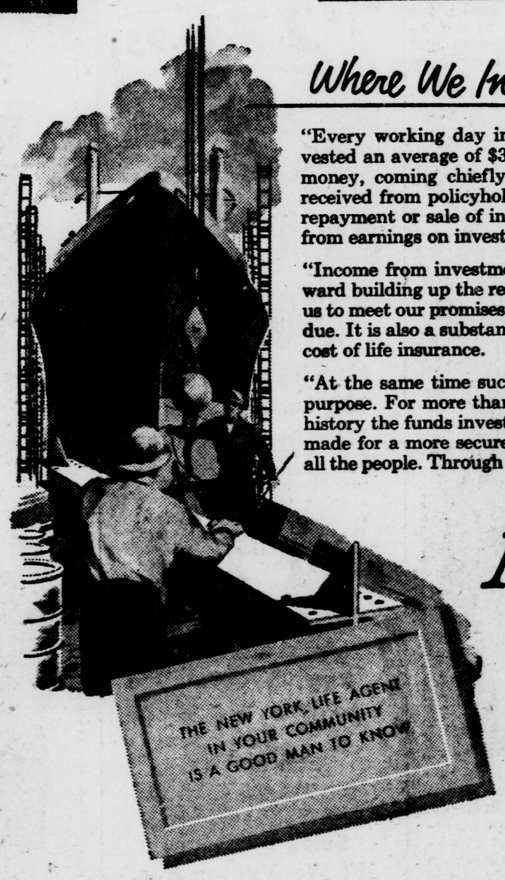
Life insurance in force at year-end totalled $10,585,587,438 under 3,959,160 policies as against $9,970,371,347 under 3,864,338 policies at the end of the previous year.

Interest earnings improved; mortality was favorably low; expenses were higher although new economies were introduced.

Payments to living policyholders amounted to $140,420,485 and payments to beneficiaries, $94,466,289. The comparable figures for the preceding year were $131,802,411 and $88,447,839.

Total dividends to policyholders in 1951 will be higher.

The Company will enter the fields of group insurance and accident and sickness insurance in 1951.



Where We Invest...and Why

"Every working day in 1950 the New York Life invested an average of $3,700,000. Part of this was new money, coming chiefly from premium payments we received from policyholders. Part of it came from the repayment or sale of investments already owned, and from earnings on investments.

"Income from investments contributes materially toward building up the reserves that make it possible for us to meet our promises to policyholders when they fall due. It is also a substantial factor in reducing the total cost of life insurance.

"At the same time such investments serve a broader purpose. For more than a hundred years of American history the funds invested by the New York Life have made for a more secure nation and a better living for all the people. Through peace and war these funds have tended to flow where they were most needed by the national economy; whether to build the railroads of a growing nation or to help our government protect the country in time of war. The kind of investments the New York Life made during the past decade will illustrate this role as dramatically as anything can."

Introduction to an illustrated article in the Annual Report on the changing patterns of investing during the past ten years.

HAVE YOU LOOKED IN YOUR MEDICINE CHEST LATELY?

"If it's anything like the average family's, it's well-stocked with sundry specifics for last year's ailments . . . pills and palliatives, syrups, salves and potions, lozenges and capsules—and the extra key to the garage. But where is that roll of sterile gauze? Adhesive tape? Antiseptic?"

From a timely article in the Annual Report entitled "When Accidents Happen," containing a check list of essential first aid supplies for serious emergencies.

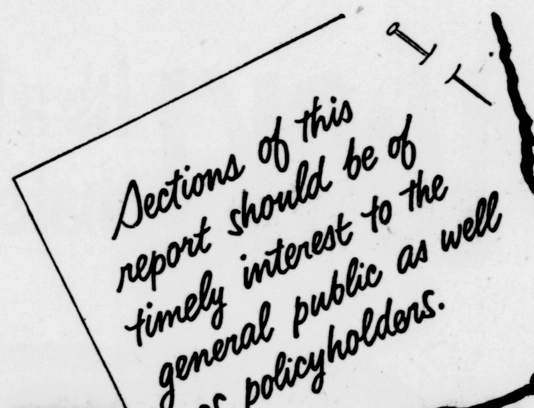
Excerpts from Our 106th Annual Report...



The Fight Against Inflation

WHAT GOVERNMENT SHOULD DO:

"First of all, it is imperative that non-essential expenditures, whether for civilian or military purposes, should be reduced to the bone. Taxes should be increased so as to place the defense program, so far as possible, on a pay-as-you-go basis. Monetary and economic controls should be installed so as to combat an inflationary increase in the money supply and to restrict wage and price increases lest the financial effect of other measures be nullified.

"If expenses are expanded too far it will not be possible, without great damage to our economy, to operate on a pay-as-you-go basis. Deficits, therefore, may have to be financed through new issues of securities by the government. Such securities should be issued on terms and at rates of interest that will encourage their sale to private investors and not to banks. The sale of government securities to banks tends to increase the supply of money and is therefore inflationary."

WHAT INDIVIDUALS SHOULD DO:

"1. Recognize that there cannot be either magical avoidance or effortless solution of the problems we face.

2. Urge our representatives in government to fight the forces that threaten to undermine our economy. And support them vigorously when they do what is right, even when it is unpopular.

3. Don't buy what we don't need; use what we have sparingly. In both ways this will reduce the demand for goods.

4. Pay higher taxes ungrudgingly. It is better to pay stiff taxes and check inflation than to enjoy the delusion of an exaggerated income and reckon later with a damaged economy.

5. Increase our savings. Money put into life insurance, government savings bonds and other forms of saving, helps to check inflation."

Sewing Human Needs

Behind every fact, behind every figure in the year's report lies a human story . . . a story of what life insurance is doing to give hope and security to somebody, someplace. The Annual Report contains several real-life stories, showing how—thanks to the efforts of a skilled agent—insurance is helping folks today in neighborhoods like yours.

Financial Highlights

The New York Life Insurance Company's operations for the year 1950, and its financial position at the close of the year, may be briefly summarized as follows:

Assets of $4,907,729,002 compared with $4,674,990,644 at the previous year-end; and liabilities of $4,559,916,790 compared with $4,366,397,324.

Surplus funds held for general contingencies were increased from $283,593,320 to $302,812,212; and the asset fluctuation fund was increased from $25,000,000 to $45,000,000.

Sales, amounting to $1,012,322,500, established a new high record.

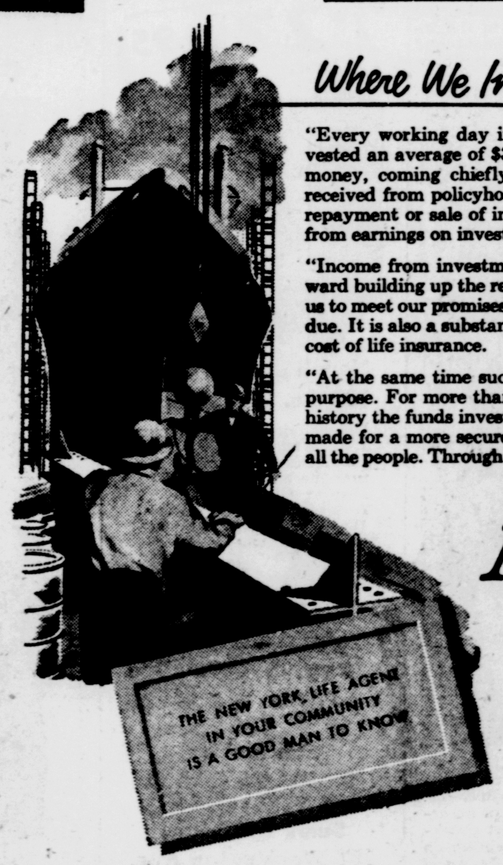
Life insurance in force at year-end totalled $10,585,587,438 under 3,959,160 policies as against $9,970,371,347 under 3,864,338 policies at the end of the previous year.

Interest earnings improved; mortality was favorably low; expenses were higher although new economies were introduced.

Payments to living policyholders amounted to $140,420,485 and payments to beneficiaries, $94,466,289. The comparable figures for the preceding year were $131,802,411 and $88,447,839.

Total dividends to policyholders in 1951 will be higher.

The Company will enter the fields of group insurance and accident and sickness insurance in 1951.



Where We Invest...and Why

"Every working day in 1950 the New York Life invested an average of $3,700,000. Part of this was new money, coming chiefly from premium payments we received from policyholders. Part of it came from the repayment or sale of investments already owned, and from earnings on investments.

"Income from investments contributes materially toward building up the reserves that make it possible for us to meet our promises to policyholders when they fall due. It is also a substantial factor in reducing the total cost of life insurance.

"At the same time such investments serve a broader purpose. For more than a hundred years of American history the funds invested by the New York Life have made for a more secure nation and a better living for all the people. Through peace and war these funds have tended to flow where they were most needed by the national economy; whether to build the railroads of a growing nation or to help our government protect the country in time of war. The kind of investments the New York Life made during the past decade will illustrate this role as dramatically as anything can."

Bush Arraignment Is Scheduled in Pine Hill

Paul Bush, 22, of Florida, will be arraigned before Justice of the Peace Morton Bertrand of Pine Hill today on a third degree burglary charge, the sheriff's office reported.

Bush, accused of taking articles from the Mt. Tremper home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cleland on Friday, was apprehended at Monroe by state police after they were notified by the sheriff's office that Bush had purchased a bus ticket to Washington, D. C. He was brought back to this county last night by Undersheriff Clayton Vredenburg and Deputy Sheriff William Thompson.

Undersheriff Vredenburg said that the articles reported stolen, totaling approximately $140 worth, were recovered. They included money, a topcoat, a watch and several articles of costume jewelry.

Protest on Prices

Bilbao, Spain, April 24 (AP)—Strikers in this heavy industry region defied government threats today and remained away from their jobs in protest against skyrocketing prices, but there was some evidence they might return to work tomorrow. Nearly 250,000 workers still were out today. It appeared that, having made the dramatic demonstration against the soaring prices they say are keeping them hungry, they would be willing to return. The strike has been orderly since it began yesterday, and there have been on demonstrations against the government of Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

Chevalier Sorrowful

Quebec, April 24 (AP)—Maurice Chevalier said today the United States had done him "an immense injustice" in denying him a visa. The whole business, he added, is causing him "more sorrow than pain." The 63-year-old veteran French actor said the action was apparently based on his signing of the Communist-sponsored Stockholm peace appeal. He told reporters: "Yes, I did sign it, but in good faith, believe me. Millions of Frenchmen have signed it. Someone came around asking if I was against the atomic bomb no matter who used it and well . . . nobody likes the atomic bomb."

Considering Divorce

New York, April 24 (AP)—Rita Hayworth's attorney indicated today she is considering a divorce from Prince Aly Khan. "No decision has been reached yet," Attorney Bartley Crum told a reporter. This statement contrasted with earlier denials by the film star and her associates that she was considering a divorce. When she returned to New York on April 2 from Europe, she was asked about reports of a rift between her and the prince and replied: "There is no truth in that."

Accompanying the state president will be John C. Fisher, executive vice-president of the state association.

New York, April 24 (AP)—The New York Appellate Division today reversed the conviction of Max Stark, cashier once described as "the underworld banker," on charges he conspired in New York to violate New Jersey gambling laws. The court also reversed a similar conviction against Philip Broselofsky, one of Stark's employes. The court held there was no proof of conspiracy committed in New York. "Judgments unanimously reversed and the information dismissed," the decision said, "upon the ground that there was no proof that the crime of conspiracy charged in the information was committed in the state of New York."

Bush Arraignment Is Scheduled in Pine Hill

Paul Bush, 22, of Florida, will be arraigned before Justice of the Peace Morton Bertrand of Pine Hill today on a third degree burglary charge, the sheriff's office reported.

Bush, accused of taking articles from the Mt. Tremper home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cleland on Friday, was apprehended at Monroe by state police after they were notified by the sheriff's office that Bush had purchased a bus ticket to Washington, D. C. He was brought back to this county last night by Undersheriff Clayton Vredenburg and Deputy Sheriff William Thompson.

Undersheriff Vredenburg said that the articles reported stolen, totaling approximately $140 worth, were recovered. They included money, a topcoat, a watch and several articles of costume jewelry.

Protest on Prices

Bilbao, Spain, April 24 (AP)—Strikers in this heavy industry region defied government threats today and remained away from their jobs in protest against skyrocketing prices, but there was some evidence they might return to work tomorrow. Nearly 250,000 workers still were out today. It appeared that, having made the dramatic demonstration against the soaring prices they say are keeping them hungry, they would be willing to return. The strike has been orderly since it began yesterday, and there have been on demonstrations against the government of Generalissimo Francisco Franco.

Chevalier Sorrowful

Quebec, April 24 (AP)—Maurice Chevalier said today the United States had done him "an immense injustice" in denying him a visa. The whole business, he added, is causing him "more sorrow than pain." The 63-year-old veteran French actor said the action was apparently based on his signing of the Communist-sponsored Stockholm peace appeal. He told reporters: "Yes, I did sign it, but in good faith, believe me. Millions of Frenchmen have signed it. Someone came around asking if I was against the atomic bomb no matter who used it and well . . . nobody likes the atomic bomb."

Considering Divorce

New York, April 24 (AP)—Rita Hayworth's attorney indicated today she is considering a divorce from Prince Aly Khan. "No decision has been reached yet," Attorney Bartley Crum told a reporter. This statement contrasted with earlier denials by the film star and her associates that she was considering a divorce. When she returned to New York on April 2 from Europe, she was asked about reports of a rift between her and the prince and replied: "There is no truth in that."

Strikes in Italy

Rome, April 24 (AP) — Government workers in three regions of Italy walked off the job today for one to two hours. The strike, for higher pay, was called in the industrial regions of Piedmont and Emilia and agricultural southern Calabria.

Real Estate Men To Hear C. F. Ritter

C. Fred Ritter, president of the New York State Association of Real Estate Boards, will be main speaker Thursday evening at the annual banquet of the Ulster County Real Estate Board at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

President Ritter's message is timed to follow just one day after the Lower Regional Conference to be held Wednesday at West Point, and will contain much up-to-the-minute information of interest to local realtors.

Accompanying the state president will be John C. Fisher, executive vice-president of the state association.

George W. Moore, president of the county board, will preside. Among the items on the agenda is the installation of officers for 1951. They are President Moore, who was re-elected; George Neher of Woodstock as vice president; Arthur J. Burns, Kingston, treasurer, and Lawrence J. MacAvery, Kingston, secretary.

Arrangements for the banquet were in charge of Mrs. F. Trowbridge Loomis. The dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m. About 50 persons are expected to attend.

Reverses Conviction

New York, April 24 (AP)—The New York Appellate Division today reversed the conviction of Max Stark, cashier once described as "the underworld banker," on charges he conspired in New York to violate New Jersey gambling laws. The court also reversed a similar conviction against Philip Broselofsky, one of Stark's employes. The court held there was no proof of conspiracy committed in New York. "Judgments unanimously reversed and the information dismissed," the decision said, "upon the ground that there was no proof that the crime of conspiracy charged in the information was committed in the state of New York."

They added that since the marriage was performed in France any divorce suit would have to be tried here to be valid in this country.

EAT WELL for Less

BUDGET MEALS REQUIRE PLANNING

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

In order to eat well for less these days, careful study of what the market offers, a knowledge of cooking or the ability to follow recipes and a willingness to plan menus in advance are needed. Let's not try to fool ourselves. It is becoming harder and harder to feed the family well on the average budget. Nevertheless, it can be done.

Here are a few budget menus carefully planned by market and cooking experts of a great American city. Use them as a guide to your own planning.

Luncheon: Cream of tomato soup, peanut butter and jelly sandwich, stewed mixed fruit, milk. Dinner: Baked macroni and cheese, marinated vegetable salad, enriched bread, butter or fortified margarine, apple dumplings with lemon sauce, coffee, milk.

Luncheon: A date and nut bread and cheese sandwich, carrot slaw, fresh fruit, cocoa, tea. Dinner: Meat loaf with mushroom sauce, sauteed yellow turnips, mashed potatoes, escarole and radish salad, enriched bread, butter or fortified margarine, date-rice pudding, coffee, milk.

Luncheon: Black bean soup, a tomato and bacon sandwich, fresh pears, milk. Dinner: Chicken-noodle soup, pork chow mein, rice-noodles, lettuce, slaw, enriched bread, butter or fortified margarine, almond cookies, coffee, milk.

Luncheon: Chopped ham and carrot sandwiches, spinach and egg salad, cocoa. Dinner: Potato crusted meat loaf, stewed tomatoes with celery, peas, molded vegetable salad, enriched bread, butter or fortified margarine, stewed apple slices, coffee, milk.

Here are two main dishes that use tongue—a good budget meat.

Tongue and Lima Skillet
(4 to 6 servings)

Two cups diced cooked tongue, 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion, 2 tablespoons fat, ¼ cup catsup 1/3 teaspoon thyme, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 cups (No. 2 can) lima beans, 1 teaspoon vinegar (optional.)

Pan-fry onions in hot fat in a skillet. Add remaining ingredients and simmer for 5 minutes.

Tongue and Noodle Casserole
(4 to 6 servings)

Two cups diced coooked tongue, 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion, 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 2 tablespoons fat, ⅛ teaspoon curry powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 ten-ounce can cream of chicken soup, 2 cups cooked noodles, ¾ cup shredded sharp cheese.

Pan-fry onion and peppers in hot fat. Combine with tongue, curry powder, salt, soup, noodles, and ½ cup of the cheese. Turn into a 2-quart casserole. Top with remaning cheese. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 minutes.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST. Blended orange and grapefruit juice, ready-to-eat cereal, French toast, syrup or honey, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Sliced hard-cooked eggs in savory tomato sauce, toasted English muffins, lemon gelatin, whole milk, tea, milk.

Elementary Teachers Needed, Anderson Says

Ithaca, N. Y., April 24 (AP)—Colleges are producing too many teachers for high schools and not enough for elementary schools, an official of the U. S. Office of Education says.

Howard R. Anderson, chief of instructional problems, made the statement last night at the opening of the 25th annual Institute for Parent-Teacher Leaders.

"More than 100,000 new teachers will be needed for elementary schools each year for the next decade," Anderson said. He added that the "present rate of production is barely one-third of that number."

"There are too many secondary school teachers," he continued. "Needing about 25,000 new high school teachers each year, the nation's colleges during the last two years prepared 67,000 to 85,000—more than double the number needed."

The college executive committee appointed these new district directors: West Long Island—Mrs. W. Gardiner Thompson, Rockville Centre; East Long Island, Mrs. Harry Tuthill, Riverhead; South Central—Mrs. Samuel Geleta, Hornell.

About 500 delegates are attending the four-day conference at Cornell University.

Rent Case Settled

A settlement was announced in County Court folowing the drawing of a jury Monday afternoon in an action to recover alleged overpayment of rent brought by Fred Longto of Tillson against Louis and Mary Perry of 54 Gill street. Attorney Charles Saccoman represented the plaintiff, and Thomas Saccoman, the defendants.

Cocke Would Use Chinese Nationals

New York, April 24 (AP)—The "simple logic of overwhelming strength," the American Legion national commander says, will "crush Communist aggression and attract friends" for the United States in the Far East.

Erle Cocke, Jr., the 29-year-old Legion head, says this logic must be part of our Far Eastern policy.

Speaking to the Harvard business School Club here last night, Cocke also called for a shakeup of the State Department "to rid it of men of questionable loyalties and timid and apologetic Americanism."

Cocke, who recently returned from a world tour that included Korea, again urged "removing the stupid handicaps imposed upon our fighting men."

He asked for the use of Chinese Nationalists troops against the China mainland, bombing of Manchuria and Red Chinese ports, and the rearming of Japan.

Cocke also criticized British trading with Red China. He said Tommies in Korea "are ashamed and mad" about their government's attitude towards Peiping.

Says U. S. Is Lax In Handling Rubber

Washington, April 24 (AP)—Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) said today hearings by a Senate subcommittee which he heads have shown "gross laxity" in government handling of the rubber program.

Gillette told a reporter he will propose a drastic shakeup in top management of the program to place it under "a rubber czar, as we did in World War II."

The senator said his small business subcommittee's hearings have reached a point where corrective steps may be planned. He predicted an early windup of current hearings, possibly late next week, to be followed by quick recommendations for a major reorganization.

In some parts of Europe, charcoal biscuits are popular, being eaten after meals to eliminate food tastes.

Hospitals Feeling Some Meat Shortages

Albany, N. Y., April 24 (AP)—A shortage of beef, lamb and veal has hit some sections of New York state with varying intensity.

The tightest pinch has been felt by hospitals and other institutions in New York city and Syracuse.

Packers across the state report supplies of beef, lamb and veal are below normal. Pork, however, is said to be plentiful.

Most packers say producers are reluctant to market high-grade beef until the government clarifies price control policies.

Marigolds Offer Many Types

Marigolds are annual flowers which love the sunny dry weather of summer and fall.

Colors range from light lemon yellow to deep orange browns and in size from the dwarf types to the tall varieties six feet in height; so selections may be made according to the size of your garden.

The dwarf French varieties are the most satisfactory, producing compact well-rounded little plants that are covered with a multitude of flowers.

Sow the seeds in well-prepared soil as soon as it is warm. Fertilize the area lightly and be sure that there is good drainage. Pinch the plant to remove the first bud. This will ensure branching and will produce attractive well-formed plants which will bloom until frost.

Spraying for aphids with D.D.T. or nicotine will be all the protection necessary against insects.

This plant makes an excellent cutting flower as well as being effective in the garden although it may be unpopular with those who are subject to hay fever.

Colors range from light lemon yellow to deep orange browns and in size from the dwarf types to the tall varieties six feet in height; so selections may be made according to the size of your garden.

The dwarf French varieties are the most satisfactory, producing compact well-rounded little plants that are covered with a multitude of flowers.

Sow the seeds in well-prepared soil as soon as it is warm. Fertilize the area lightly and be sure that there is good drainage. Pinch the plant to remove the first bud. This will ensure branching and will produce attractive well-formed plants which will bloom until frost.

Spraying for aphids with D.D.T. or nicotine will be all the protection necessary against insects.

This plant makes an excellent cutting flower as well as being effective in the garden although it may be unpopular with those who are subject to hay fever.

Good Taste Today

SOME VISITS NOT NECESSARILY RETURNED

A newcomer explains: "Some of the neighbors and other townspeople have called on me. I have returned all these calls, with one exception. This was the call made by the wife of our minister. A very charming, gracious and entirely informal person. I would have considered this a personal call except for her remark upon leaving. She said she would get in touch with me soon. This gave me the idea that she expected no return visit, and I wondered if it would be improper for me to go to see her. My husband thinks maybe such people would be swamped with calls if theirs were returned."

While I think your husband's advice well taken, it really is much easier to receive a visitor than to pay the visit the wife of the clergyman made. In my opinion this visit was the first you should have returned.

Addressing Invitations to Boys

Dear Mrs. Post: I'm fifteen and inviting my friends — both boys and girls—to a party. I'm addressing the invitations to the girls as Miss So-and-So, but I don't know how to address the envelopes to the boys. Should it be Master or Mr.?

Answer: The rule for this sounds unreasonable and is arbitrary, but between the ages of young childhood when a boy is addressed Master, and the age at which his graduation from high school permits the use of Mister —he is most correctly, addressed without title.

Bride's Father Officiating

Dear Mrs. Post: When the bride's father is a minister and going to perform the marriage sevice, should the bridegroom offer him the customary fee just the same. This looms up as an awkward situation.

Answer: The mention of fee made to a parent would be unthinkable.

Two Couples Entering Restaurant

Dear Mrs. Post: When two couples go to a restaurant, should the women follow the headwaiter or hostess and both men follow, or does each couple walk separately.

Answer: Ladies first, gentlemen follow.

Deny Divorce

Paris, April 24 (AP)—French lawyers of Princess Aly Khan, former movie star Rita Hayworth, today denied reports from the U. S. saying that their client will seek a divorce. The advisers said that Prince Aly was in Paris yesterday and declared he knew nothing of it. They added that since the marriage was performed in France any divorce suit would have to be tried here to be valid in this country.

Cash-Carry Dairy

Belleville, Ont. (AP) — A "cash and carry" dairy where milk will be sold at four to five cents less than prevailing prices is being started here as an experiment. sixty-year-old George Graham will sell milk at 15 to 18 cents a quart. The regular price here is 20 to 22 cents. "Milk is a vital food particularly for children, yet many people can't afford it at the present prices," says Graham, a farmer, rancher and businessman

EAT WELL for Less

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

In order to eat well for less these days, careful study of what the market offers, a knowledge of cooking or the ability to follow recipes and a willingness to plan menus in advance are needed. Let's not try to fool ourselves. It is becoming harder and harder to feed the family well on the average budget. Nevertheless, it can be done.

Here are a few budget menus carefully planned by market and cooking experts of a great American city. Use them as a guide to your own planning.

Luncheon: Cream of tomato soup, peanut butter and jelly sandwich, stewed mixed fruit, milk. Dinner: Baked macroni and cheese, marinated vegetable salad, enriched bread, butter or fortified margarine, apple dumplings with lemon sauce, coffee, milk.

Luncheon: A date and nut bread and cheese sandwich, carrot slaw, fresh fruit, cocoa, tea. Dinner: Meat loaf with mushroom sauce, sauteed yellow turnips, mashed potatoes, escarole and radish salad, enriched bread, butter or fortified margarine, date-rice pudding, coffee, milk.

Luncheon: Black bean soup, a tomato and bacon sandwich, fresh pears, milk Dinner: Chicken-noodle soup, pork chow mein, rice-noodles, lettuce, slaw, enriched bread, butter or fortified margarine, almond cookies, coffee, milk.

Luncheon: Chopped ham and carrot sandwiches, spinach and egg salad, cocoa. Dinner: Potato crusted meat loaf, stewed tomatoes with celery, peas, molded vegetable salad, enriched bread, butter or fortified margarine, stewed apple slices, coffee, milk.

Here are two main dishes that use tongue—a good budget meat.

Two cups diced cooked tongue, 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion, 2 tablespoons fat, ¼ cup catsup 1/3 teaspoon thyme, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 cups (No. 2 can) lima beans, 1 teaspoon vinegar (optional.)

Marigolds Offer Many Types

Elementary Teachers Needed, Anderson Says

Ithaca, N. Y., April 24 (AP)—Colleges are producing too many teachers for high schools and not enough for elementary schools, an official of the U. S. Office of Education says.

Howard R. Anderson, chief of instructional problems, made the statement last night at the opening of the 25th annual Institute for Parent-Teacher Leaders.

"More than 100,000 new teachers will be needed for elementary schools each year for the next decade," Anderson said. He added that the "present rate of production is barely one-third of that number."

"There are too many secondary school teachers," he continued. "Needing about 25,000 new high school teachers each year, the nation's colleges during the last two years prepared 67,000 to 85,000—more than double the number needed."

The college executive committee appointed these new district directors: West Long Island—Mrs. W. Gardiner Thompson, Rockville Centre; East Long Island, Mrs. Harry Tuthill, Riverhead; South Central—Mrs. Samuel Geleta, Hornell.

About 500 delegates are attending the four-day conference at Cornell University.

Rent Case Settled

A settlement was announced in County Court folowing the drawing of a jury Monday afternoon in an action to recover alleged overpayment of rent brought by Fred Longto of Tillson against Louis and Mary Perry of 54 Gill street. Attorney Charles Saccoman represented the plaintiff, and Thomas Saccoman, the defendants.

Cocke Would Use Chinese Nationals

New York, April 24 (AP)—The "simple logic of overwhelming strength," the American Legion national commander says, will "crush Communist aggression and attract friends" for the United States in the Far East.

Erle Cocke, Jr., the 29-year-old Legion head, says this logic must be part of our Far Eastern policy.

Speaking to the Harvard business School Club here last night, Cocke also called for a shakeup of the State Department "to rid it of men of questionable loyalties and timid and apologetic Americanism."

Cocke, who recently returned from a world tour that included Korea, again urged "removing the stupid handicaps imposed upon our fighting men."

He asked for the use of Chinese Nationalists troops against the China mainland, bombing of Manchuria and Red Chinese ports, and the rearming of Japan.

Cocke also criticized British trading with Red China. He said Tommies in Korea "are ashamed and mad" about their government's attitude towards Peiping.

Says U. S. Is Lax In Handling Rubber

Washington, April 24 (AP)—Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) said today hearings by a Senate subcommittee which he heads have shown "gross laxity" in government handling of the rubber program.

Gillette told a reporter he will propose a drastic shakeup in top management of the program to place it under "a rubber czar, as we did in World War II."

The senator said his small business subcommittee's hearings have reached a point where corrective steps may be planned. He predicted an early windup of current hearings, possibly late next week, to be followed by quick recommendations for a major reorganization.

In some parts of Europe, charcoal biscuits are popular, being eaten after meals to eliminate food tastes.

Hospitals Feeling Some Meat Shortages

Albany, N. Y., April 24 (AP)—A shortage of beef, lamb and veal has hit some sections of New York state with varying intensity.

The tightest pinch has been felt by hospitals and other institutions in New York city and Syracuse.

Packers across the state report supplies of beef, lamb and veal are below normal. Pork, however, is said to be plentiful.

Most packers say producers are reluctant to market high-grade beef until the government clarifies price control policies.

Colonials Meet Emil Gall's Idaho Club in Exhibition Game Sunday

Emil Gall, 1950 Kingston Colonial skipper, will lead his Class C, Pocatello, Idaho club of the Pioneer League against Manager Hank Camelli's 1951 Canadian-American League Colonial squad in an exhibition game on Sunday at municipal stadium.

Game time has been set for 2 p. m.

Gall, former Bushwick star, who transferred to the Rome Colonels of the Can-Am circuit when the Colonial loop folded in mid-season, later signed to manage in the Pioneer League.

Dick Conners, who was associated with the Torrington franchise in the Colonial circuit, is general manager of the Pocatello club.

Improved weather conditions had the Colonial skipper in jovial spirits at yesterday's long workout at municipal stadium.

"The club is beginning to take shape," Camelli said, "and with the additional help that is headed here, we should be able to field a pretty fair ball club for next Tuesday's league opener."

Camelli announced that nine of the 20 or more players working out of the stadium are already under contract. He said a few others were due to get releases today, while some would be carried at least until the end of the week.

New Hurler Arrives

A good looking young Puerto Rican southpaw, who was purchased from the St. Hyacinthe club of the Canadian Provincial League, heads the list of players who have already inked a Colonial contract. He is Ismeal Alvarado, a youngster with a wicked fast ball. Alvarado is visiting the United States for the first time and has yet to master only the basic words in the English language.

"I don't care how articulate he is," the skipper quipped, "just so long as he can find the plate with that fast ball. And he has a good one."

Other players signed include:

Thomas L. Luce, of Troy, N. Y., a shortstop, with no previous organized ball experience.

Jack Allen, a catcher who served a few years in the Boston Braves farm system and played in the New England and Three-Eye League.

Niro Is Starter

Perhaps the best looking all-round prospect in camp at the moment is Joe Niro, of Milford, Mass., a three-year veteran in the Philly organization and one of the players personally signed by Manager Camelli.

Niro is capable of doing a good job either at third base or in the outfield and figures to be one of the Colonials' heavy stickmen this season.

Three other candidates are expected to sign contracts today. Lou Kramberg, of Brooklyn, who played winter ball in Puerto Rico but was not in OB in 1950, has an excellent chance of surviving the final cut. He can play first base or the outfield and has demonstrated more than average familiarity with batting techniques.

John Ayers, a right handed pitcher, and John Armstrong, another righty flinger, completes the roster of players who will be assigned uniforms. Ayers served a brief stint in the Big Gap League.

Perlmutter Helps

Danny Perlmutter, former Kingston Colonial outfield star, who was out of action last season because of a salary dispute with the front office, was on hand for Monday's workout.

Perlmutter has no designs on resuming his baseball career and reported to give his old teammate a hand in conducting the workout. Perlmutter and Camelli were teammates with the San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast League shortly after the war.

The brilliant centerfielder, who always ranked among the best hitters in the Colonial League, flashed exceptionally sharp form for his first workout of the year. He drilled several line drives during practice and appeared ready to step into the breach on call.

"Danny is a nice ball player and I'd like to have him with me," Camelli sighed, "but I guess he wants to settle down in business."

Camelli said he could not confirm rumors that the Colonials will try to sign Billy Ostrom, the fabulous Poughkeepsie southpaw. Ostrom, who holds the all-time batting and pitching records in the Colonial League, would make a valuable addition to the Colonial lineup.

Ostrom would be a great guy to have around . . . if you could have him around all the time.

Dodgers' Great Relief Pitching Features Quantity and Quality

Four-Man Brigade Proves Terrific

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Meet King, Palica, Branca and Newcombe. Not a Brooklyn law firm but the Dodgers' answer to Jim Konstanty.

As brilliant as Konstanty was last year when he helped Philadelphia win the pennant as the league's most valuable player, his rescue work never matched the sensational relief pitching of his quartet.

The season is only a week old, but the four already have been credited with three relief victories. Better yet, they have 13 innings all told (excluding Newcombe's rout-going effort against the New York Giants), without surrendering a run. They have yielded only three safeties.

No wonder Manager Chuck Dressen is chortling with glee as his charges sit comfortably on top of the National League Standings with five victories in six starts.

King In Debut

Erv Palica and Clyde King hurled 4 2/3 innings on excellent relief ball yesterday as the Dodgers outlasted Boston's Braves, 2-1, in a 16-inning marathon on a clutch run-scoring single by Carl Furillo. Palica rescued starter Joe Hatten, getting the side out after Hatten had walked the first two batters to face him.

The triumph maintained the Dodgers' half-game lead over the Chicago Cubs, who nipped Pittsburgh, 2-1, on a ninth inning double by Andy Pafko that scored Hal Jeffcoat.

The Phils handed the Giants their fifth successive defeat with an 8-4 victory under the Philadelphia lights to gain their first triumph over Jim Hearn since he came up to the majors in 1947. The righthander had whipped the Phils nine times. Rookie Jocko Thompson held the Giants to six hits.

Vic Raschi pitched the New York Yankees to a 5-4 victory over his Philadelphia "cousins" for his second success of the season—his 17th lifetime win in 19 decisions with the Athletics. Vic Wertz' ninth inning home run with two mates on base gave the Tigers a 7-4 triumph over the St. Louis Browns in the only other American League game. The other clubs were not scheduled.

In another after-dark clash, the Cardinals shaded the Cincinnati Reds, 2-1, in St. Louis. Veteran Harry Brecheen scattered eight hits to beat Ken Raffensberger, an old Redbird nemesis. Shortstop Solly Hemus accounted for both St. Louis runs with a single and triple.

Terrific Record

The flawless firemen roles of Palica and King for Brooklyn followed on the heels of a hitless and runless three-inning stint by Don Newcombe and a shorter one of an inning and a third by Palica on Sunday.

Ralph Branca duplicated Newcombe's performance, also at the expense of the Giants, it was King who came through with a two-inning effort in which he allowed no runs and only one hit in a losing cause. Brooklyn pitchers needed no relief in the other two games.

Furillo's winning hit came with two out, scoring Billy Cox, who had singled, reached second on a sacrifice and third on Gene Mauch's bobble of Eddie Miksis's grounder. The run was unearned.

Frank Miller of the Cubs bettered Mel Queen, in a pitchers' battle between the pair of ex-Yankee righthanders. Hiller spaced eight hits for his second triumph.

Giants Fizzle

Rookie Mickey Mantle and little Phil Rizzuto led the Yankees' 13-hit attack on loser Lou Brissie and Hank Wyse. Mantle collected three singles and Rizzuto drove in two runs with a pair of one-baggers.

Held to one homer in five previous games, Detroit clubbed three yesterday to beat the Browns. Besides Wertz' ninth inning game-winner, Joe Ginsberg and Pat Mullin also hit home runs.

Richie Ashburn and Granny Hamner whacked five hits between them to lead the Phils' 13-hit attack against the Giants. Loose fielding by the Giants paved the way for Hearn's downfall. In addition to errors by Monte Irvin and Wes Westrum, Clint Hartung misplayed two fly balls into a double and triple, and Eddie Stanky and Irvin were guilty of poor play in the field.

Tourney Starts

Chicago, April 24 (AP)—More than 40 teams open doubles competition today in the National Amateur Handball Union tournament. Singles play will be resumed Thursday with the quarter-final round. Ken Schneider of Chicago, 1950 National AAU champion, and three other former AAU titleholders moved through the fourth round yesterday. The three are Angelo Trulio of Brooklyn, Vic Hershkowitz of Brooklyn, and Gus Lewis of Chicago.

Babe Captures Richmond Open

Richmond, Calif., April 24 (AP) Golf's greatest woman player, Mrs. George (Babe Didrikson) Zaharias, had another triumph notched into the record today, winner of the $3,000 Richmond Open Tournament.

The Tampa, Fla., professional fronted the rest of the money players, as well as some good amateurs, yesterday with a 224 for the 54-hole event. It was worth $750 and increased her earnings for the current country-wide tournament trial to $3,750. She has won five of the seven played thus far and placed second in the other two.

Mrs. Zaharias turned in rounds of 76-73-75. Wind bothered the players during the three days. The Babe cut two shots off women's par, one over men's, with her second round 73. Her usually keen putting game was off in the final round and she failed to get a one-putt green, yet came up with a par 75.

Uncle Miltie Due To Sit Out Derby

New York, April 24 (AP)—The vanguard of Kentucky Derby hopefuls winged southward today, but not Uncle Miltie, the unpredictable colt whose name was on everybody's lips two weeks ago.

Joseph J. Colando, the owner, said so definitely late last night, ending 12 hours of confusion over the status of the former Derby favorite.

"We've got to rest him and freshen him up a bit," said Colando in announcing Uncle Miltie wouldn't answer the bugle call at Louisville's Churchills Downs May 5.

At first yesterday Colando's son and the horse's trainer, Dr. Andrew C. Colando, said Miltie wouldn't run. Then papa rushed over from Lodi, N. J., where he's a banker and fuel oil man, and said that wasn't so—Miltie might. They'd wait a few days.

Then, with everybody thoroughly confused, the elder Colando finally made it unanimous—no Derby for Uncle Miltie.

"We've run and worked him too much," he said. "He's lost weight but he'll be ready for the Preakness May 19. We won't run him until then."

Boxer Rallies From Bad Kayo

Newark, N. J., April 24 (AP)—Lightweight Charles Venable, who lost consciousness for 15-minutes last night after being kayoed at Laurel Garden, was reported in fair condition today.

The 137-pound Newark Negro was carried from the ring on a stretcher and taken to City Hospital for observation shortly after Jack (The Bat) Nicholson of Garfield floored him with a wild roundhouse right.

Dr. Max Stern of the New Jersey State Athletic Commission, who was at ringside, said Venable suffered a possible brain concussion.

A City Hospital official confirmed the diagnosis but said Venable was "all right." "There's nothing wrong with him," he added.

Thousands of fight fans in the New York-Metropolitan area saw the bout on television.

City League Adopts Hattstrom Handicap

Point System Set For 1951-52 Season

The City Bowling League, oldest tenpin wheel in the city, last night voted to adopt the point system and the Hattstrom handicap for the 1951-52 season.

Action was taken at the annual banquet held at Jake's Grill.

Howard "Hod" Spaulding was re-elected president. Herb Van Deusen was re-named vice-president, while George Robinson was returned to the post of secretary-treasurer.

The league's "reserve clause," a controversial item for the past several years, was scrapped by the league managers who set a ceiling average of 940 and a minimum of 875 for teams in the league.

Under the point system, a point will be awarded for each victory and a point for total pins. Thus, it is possible for a team to lose two games and still gain a tie for the night.

The Hattstrom handicap system, a method of graduated handicaps for various average classifications, proved a great success in the recent city tournament.

For City League purposes it was decided to set a scratch figure of 190 and a minimum of 160.

Peter Keresman's Colonials, perennial champions of the traveling circuit, picked up some more silverware. John Ferraro was presented with a high average trophy and Phil Corrado, Jr., was winner of high triple and high single.

President Spaulding was the toastmaster and led a lively discussion on rules revision for the league. Guest speakers included Peter Keresman, Addison Jones, Manager Hank Camelli of the Kingston Colonials and Charles J. Tiano, K.B.A. secretary.

Pinehurst, N. C., April 24 (AP)—Match play began in the 49th women's North and South Amateur golf tournament today with Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., joining the list of favorites off the record-equalling 70 that won her the medal in yesterday's qualifying play.

The slim Georgia miss ran off with the medal honors on the strength of a 35-35—70 that saw her shave two strokes from women's par on each nine of the No. 2 championship course of the Pinehurst Country Club, a 6,000-yard layout. She tied the 1949 record set by Grace Lenczyk, of Hartford, Conn.

Miss Faulk, three time Georgia State champion, led her nearest rival, Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill, N. C., by four strokes. Mrs. Page, former National champion and seven-times winner here was finalist a year ago, losing to Pat O'Sullivan.

Miss O'Sulivan, the Connecticut girl, who plays out of nearby Southern Pines, had a satisfactory 76 to tie with Mae Murray, Rutland, Vt., girl, who also winters at Southern Pines. They trailed third place Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore, who shot a one-over par 75.

The upper bracket matches today had Miss Faulk meeting Jane Thomas of Salisbury, N. C., member of the men's team at Catawba College in Salisbury. Miss O'Sullivan had as her opponent Mrs. W. B. Cooke, of Charlotte and Miss Downey met Ann White, Uniontown, Pa.

Colonials Meet Emil Gall's Idaho Club in Exhibition Game Sunday

Emil Gall, 1950 Kingston Colonial skipper, will lead his Class C, Pocatello, Idaho club of the Pioneer League against Manager Hank Camelli's 1951 Canadian-American League Colonial squad in an exhibition game on Sunday at municipal stadium.

Game time has been set for 2 p. m.

Gall, former Bushwick star, who transferred to the Rome Colonels of the Can-Am circuit when the Colonial loop folded in mid-season, later signed to manage in the Pioneer League.

Dick Conners, who was associated with the Torrington franchise in the Colonial circuit, is general manager of the Pocatello club.

Improved weather conditions had the Colonial skipper in jovial spirits at yesterday's long workout at municipal stadium.

"The club is beginning to take shape," Camelli said, "and with the additional help that is headed here, we should be able to field a pretty fair ball club for next Tuesday's league opener."

Camelli announced that nine of the 20 or more players working out of the stadium are already under contract. He said a few others were due to get releases today, while some would be carried at least until the end of the week.

New Hurler Arrives

A good looking young Puerto Rican southpaw, who was purchased from the St. Hyacinthe club of the Canadian Provincial League, heads the list of players who have already inked a Colonial contract. He is Ismeal Alvarado, a youngster with a wicked fast ball. Alvarado is visiting the United States for the first time and has yet to master only the basic words in the English language.

"I don't care how articulate he is," the skipper quipped, "just so long as he can find the plate with that fast ball. And he has a good one."

Other players signed include:

Thomas L. Luce, of Troy, N. Y., a shortstop, with no previous organized ball experience.

Jack Allen, a catcher who served a few years in the Boston Braves farm system and played in the New England and Three-Eye League.

Niro Is Starter

Perhaps the best looking all-round prospect in camp at the moment is Joe Niro, of Milford, Mass., a three-year veteran in the Philly organization and one of the players personally signed by Manager Camelli.

Niro is capable of doing a good job either at third base or in the outfield and figures to be one of the Colonials' heavy stickmen this season.

Three other candidates are expected to sign contracts today. Lou Kramberg, of Brooklyn, who played winter ball in Puerto Rico but was not in OB in 1950, has an excellent chance of surviving the final cut. He can play first base or the outfield and has demonstrated more than average familiarity with batting techniques.

John Ayers, a right handed pitcher, and John Armstrong, another righty flinger, completes the roster of players who will be assigned uniforms. Ayers served a brief stint in the Big Gap League.

Perlmutter Helps

Danny Perlmutter, former Kingston Colonial outfield star, who was out of action last season because of a salary dispute with the front office, was on hand for Monday's workout.

Perlmutter has no designs on resuming his baseball career and reported to give his old teammate a hand in conducting the workout. Perlmutter and Camelli were teammates with the San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast League shortly after the war.

The brilliant centerfielder, who always ranked among the best hitters in the Colonial League, flashed exceptionally sharp form for his first workout of the year. He drilled several line drives during practice and appeared ready to step into the breach on call.

"Danny is a nice ball player and I'd like to have him with me," Camelli sighed, "but I guess he wants to settle down in business."

Camelli said he could not confirm rumors that the Colonials will try to sign Billy Ostrom, the fabulous Poughkeepsie southpaw. Ostrom, who holds the all-time batting and pitching records in the Colonial League, would make a valuable addition to the Colonial lineup.

Ostrom would be a great guy to have around . . . if you could have him around all the time.

Dodgers' Great Relief Pitching Features Quantity and Quality

Four-Man Brigade Proves Terrific

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Meet King, Palica, Branca and Newcombe. Not a Brooklyn law firm but the Dodgers' answer to Jim Konstanty.

As brilliant as Konstanty was last year when he helped Philadelphia win the pennant as the league's most valuable player, his rescue work never matched the sensational relief pitching of his quartet.

The season is only a week old, but the four already have been credited with three relief victories. Better yet, they have 13 innings all told (excluding Newcombe's rout-going effort against the New York Giants), without surrendering a run. They have yielded only three safeties.

No wonder Manager Chuck Dressen is chortling with glee as his charges sit comfortably on top of the National League Standings with five victories in six starts.

King In Debut

Erv Palica and Clyde King hurled 4 2/3 innings on excellent relief ball yesterday as the Dodgers outlasted Boston's Braves, 2-1, in a 16-inning marathon on a clutch run-scoring single by Carl Furillo. Palica rescued starter Joe Hatten, getting the side out after Hatten had walked the first two batters to face him.

The triumph maintained the Dodgers' half-game lead over the Chicago Cubs, who nipped Pittsburgh, 2-1, on a ninth inning double by Andy Pafko that scored Hal Jeffcoat.

The Phils handed the Giants their fifth successive defeat with an 8-4 victory under the Philadelphia lights to gain their first triumph over Jim Hearn since he came up to the majors in 1947. The righthander had whipped the Phils nine times. Rookie Jocko Thompson held the Giants to six hits.

Vic Raschi pitched the New York Yankees to a 5-4 victory over his Philadelphia "cousins" for his second success of the season—his 17th lifetime win in 19 decisions with the Athletics. Vic Wertz' ninth inning home run with two mates on base gave the Tigers a 7-4 triumph over the St. Louis Browns in the only other American League game. The other clubs were not scheduled.

In another after-dark clash, the Cardinals shaded the Cincinnati Reds, 2-1, in St. Louis. Veteran Harry Brecheen scattered eight hits to beat Ken Raffensberger, an old Redbird nemesis. Shortstop Solly Hemus accounted for both St. Louis runs with a single and triple.

Terrific Record

The flawless firemen roles of Palica and King for Brooklyn followed on the heels of a hitless and runless three-inning stint by Don Newcombe and a shorter one of an inning and a third by Palica on Sunday.

Ralph Branca duplicated Newcombe's performance, also at the expense of the Giants, it was King who came through with a two-inning effort in which he allowed no runs and only one hit in a losing cause. Brooklyn pitchers needed no relief in the other two games.

Furillo's winning hit came with two out, scoring Billy Cox, who had singled, reached second on a sacrifice and third on Gene Mauch's bobble of Eddie Miksis's grounder. The run was unearned.

Frank Miller of the Cubs bettered Mel Queen, in a pitchers' battle between the pair of ex-Yankee righthanders. Hiller spaced eight hits for his second triumph.

Giants Fizzle

Rookie Mickey Mantle and little Phil Rizzuto led the Yankees' 13-hit attack on loser Lou Brissie and Hank Wyse. Mantle collected three singles and Rizzuto drove in two runs with a pair of one-baggers.

Held to one homer in five previous games, Detroit clubbed three yesterday to beat the Browns. Besides Wertz' ninth inning game-winner, Joe Ginsberg and Pat Mullin also hit home runs.

Richie Ashburn and Granny Hamner whacked five hits between them to lead the Phils' 13-hit attack against the Giants. Loose fielding by the Giants paved the way for Hearn's downfall. In addition to errors by Monte Irvin and Wes Westrum, Clint Hartung misplayed two fly balls into a double and triple, and Eddie Stanky and Irvin were guilty of poor play in the field.

Tourney Starts

Chicago, April 24 (AP)—More than 40 teams open doubles competition today in the National Amateur Handball Union tournament. Singles play will be resumed Thursday with the quarter-final round. Ken Schneider of Chicago, 1950 National AAU champion, and three other former AAU titleholders moved through the fourth round yesterday. The three are Angelo Trulio of Brooklyn, Vic Hershkowitz of Brooklyn, and Gus Lewis of Chicago.

Babe Captures Richmond Open

Richmond, Calif., April 24 (AP) Golf's greatest woman player, Mrs. George (Babe Didrikson) Zaharias, had another triumph notched into the record today, winner of the $3,000 Richmond Open Tournament.

The Tampa, Fla., professional fronted the rest of the money players, as well as some good amateurs, yesterday with a 224 for the 54-hole event. It was worth $750 and increased her earnings for the current country-wide tournament trial to $3,750. She has won five of the seven played thus far and placed second in the other two.

Colonials Meet Emil Gall's Idaho Club in Exhibition Game Sunday

Emil Gall, 1950 Kingston Colonial skipper, will lead his Class C, Pocatello, Idaho club of the Pioneer League against Manager Hank Camelli's 1951 Canadian-American League Colonial squad in an exhibition game on Sunday at municipal stadium.

Game time has been set for 2 p. m.

Gall, former Bushwick star, who transferred to the Rome Colonels of the Can-Am circuit when the Colonial loop folded in mid-season, later signed to manage in the Pioneer League.

Dick Conners, who was associated with the Torrington franchise in the Colonial circuit, is general manager of the Pocatello club.

Improved weather conditions had the Colonial skipper in jovial spirits at yesterday's long workout at municipal stadium.

"The club is beginning to take shape," Camelli said, "and with the additional help that is headed here, we should be able to field a pretty fair ball club for next Tuesday's league opener."

Camelli announced that nine of the 20 or more players working out of the stadium are already under contract. He said a few others were due to get releases today, while some would be carried at least until the end of the week.

New Hurler Arrives

A good looking young Puerto Rican southpaw, who was purchased from the St. Hyacinthe club of the Canadian Provincial League, heads the list of players who have already inked a Colonial contract. He is Ismeal Alvarado, a youngster with a wicked fast ball. Alvarado is visiting the United States for the first time and has yet to master only the basic words in the English language.

"I don't care how articulate he is," the skipper quipped, "just so long as he can find the plate with that fast ball. And he has a good one."

Other players signed include:

Thomas L. Luce, of Troy, N. Y., a shortstop, with no previous organized ball experience.

Jack Allen, a catcher who served a few years in the Boston Braves farm system and played in the New England and Three-Eye League.

Niro Is Starter

Perhaps the best looking all-round prospect in camp at the moment is Joe Niro, of Milford, Mass., a three-year veteran in the Philly organization and one of the players personally signed by Manager Camelli.

Niro is capable of doing a good job either at third base or in the outfield and figures to be one of the Colonials' heavy stickmen this season.

Three other candidates are expected to sign contracts today. Lou Kramberg, of Brooklyn, who played winter ball in Puerto Rico but was not in OB in 1950, has an excellent chance of surviving the final cut. He can play first base or the outfield and has demonstrated more than average familiarity with batting techniques.

John Ayers, a right handed pitcher, and John Armstrong, another righty flinger, completes the roster of players who will be assigned uniforms. Ayers served a brief stint in the Big Gap League.

Perlmutter Helps

Danny Perlmutter, former Kingston Colonial outfield star, who was out of action last season because of a salary dispute with the front office, was on hand for Monday's workout.

Perlmutter has no designs on resuming his baseball career and reported to give his old teammate a hand in conducting the workout. Perlmutter and Camelli were teammates with the San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast League shortly after the war.

The brilliant centerfielder, who always ranked among the best hitters in the Colonial League, flashed exceptionally sharp form for his first workout of the year. He drilled several line drives during practice and appeared ready to step into the breach on call.

"Danny is a nice ball player and I'd like to have him with me," Camelli sighed, "but I guess he wants to settle down in business."

Camelli said he could not confirm rumors that the Colonials will try to sign Billy Ostrom, the fabulous Poughkeepsie southpaw. Ostrom, who holds the all-time batting and pitching records in the Colonial League, would make a valuable addition to the Colonial lineup.

Ostrom would be a great guy to have around . . . if you could have him around all the time.

Dodgers' Great Relief Pitching Features Quantity and Quality

Four-Man Brigade Proves Terrific

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Meet King, Palica, Branca and Newcombe. Not a Brooklyn law firm but the Dodgers' answer to Jim Konstanty.

As brilliant as Konstanty was last year when he helped Philadelphia win the pennant as the league's most valuable player, his rescue work never matched the sensational relief pitching of his quartet.

The season is only a week old, but the four already have been credited with three relief victories. Better yet, they have 13 innings all told (excluding Newcombe's rout-going effort against the New York Giants), without surrendering a run. They have yielded only three safeties.

No wonder Manager Chuck Dressen is chortling with glee as his charges sit comfortably on top of the National League Standings with five victories in six starts.

King In Debut

Erv Palica and Clyde King hurled 4 2/3 innings on excellent relief ball yesterday as the Dodgers outlasted Boston's Braves, 2-1, in a 16-inning marathon on a clutch run-scoring single by Carl Furillo. Palica rescued starter Joe Hatten, getting the side out after Hatten had walked the first two batters to face him.

The triumph maintained the Dodgers' half-game lead over the Chicago Cubs, who nipped Pittsburgh, 2-1, on a ninth inning double by Andy Pafko that scored Hal Jeffcoat.

The Phils handed the Giants their fifth successive defeat with an 8-4 victory under the Philadelphia lights to gain their first triumph over Jim Hearn since he came up to the majors in 1947. The righthander had whipped the Phils nine times. Rookie Jocko Thompson held the Giants to six hits.

Vic Raschi pitched the New York Yankees to a 5-4 victory over his Philadelphia "cousins" for his second success of the season—his 17th lifetime win in 19 decisions with the Athletics. Vic Wertz' ninth inning home run with two mates on base gave the Tigers a 7-4 triumph over the St. Louis Browns in the only other American League game. The other clubs were not scheduled.

In another after-dark clash, the Cardinals shaded the Cincinnati Reds, 2-1, in St. Louis. Veteran Harry Brecheen scattered eight hits to beat Ken Raffensberger, an old Redbird nemesis. Shortstop Solly Hemus accounted for both St. Louis runs with a single and triple.

Terrific Record

The flawless firemen roles of Palica and King for Brooklyn followed on the heels of a hitless and runless three-inning stint by Don Newcombe and a shorter one of an inning and a third by Palica on Sunday.

Ralph Branca duplicated Newcombe's performance, also at the expense of the Giants, it was King who came through with a two-inning effort in which he allowed no runs and only one hit in a losing cause. Brooklyn pitchers needed no relief in the other two games.

Furillo's winning hit came with two out, scoring Billy Cox, who had singled, reached second on a sacrifice and third on Gene Mauch's bobble of Eddie Miksis's grounder. The run was unearned.

Frank Miller of the Cubs bettered Mel Queen, in a pitchers' battle between the pair of ex-Yankee righthanders. Hiller spaced eight hits for his second triumph.

Giants Fizzle

Rookie Mickey Mantle and little Phil Rizzuto led the Yankees' 13-hit attack on loser Lou Brissie and Hank Wyse. Mantle collected three singles and Rizzuto drove in two runs with a pair of one-baggers.

Held to one homer in five previous games, Detroit clubbed three yesterday to beat the Browns. Besides Wertz' ninth inning game-winner, Joe Ginsberg and Pat Mullin also hit home runs.

Richie Ashburn and Granny Hamner whacked five hits between them to lead the Phils' 13-hit attack against the Giants. Loose fielding by the Giants paved the way for Hearn's downfall. In addition to errors by Monte Irvin and Wes Westrum, Clint Hartung misplayed two fly balls into a double and triple, and Eddie Stanky and Irvin were guilty of poor play in the field.

Tourney Starts

Chicago, April 24 (AP)—More than 40 teams open doubles competition today in the National Amateur Handball Union tournament. Singles play will be resumed Thursday with the quarter-final round. Ken Schneider of Chicago, 1950 National AAU champion, and three other former AAU titleholders moved through the fourth round yesterday. The three are Angelo Trulio of Brooklyn, Vic Hershkowitz of Brooklyn, and Gus Lewis of Chicago.

Babe Captures Richmond Open

The Tampa, Fla., professional fronted the rest of the money players, as well as some good amateurs, yesterday with a 224 for the 54-hole event. It was worth $750 and increased her earnings for the current country-wide tournament trial to $3,750. She has won five of the seven played thus far and placed second in the other two.

Mrs. Zaharias turned in rounds of 76-73-75. Wind bothered the players during the three days. The Babe cut two shots off women's par, one over men's, with her second round 73. Her usually keen putting game was off in the final round and she failed to get a one-putt green, yet came up with a par 75.

Uncle Miltie Due To Sit Out Derby

New York, April 24 (AP)—The vanguard of Kentucky Derby hopefuls winged southward today, but not Uncle Miltie, the unpredictable colt whose name was on everybody's lips two weeks ago.

Joseph J. Colando, the owner, said so definitely late last night, ending 12 hours of confusion over the status of the former Derby favorite.

"We've got to rest him and freshen him up a bit," said Colando in announcing Uncle Miltie wouldn't answer the bugle call at Louisville's Churchills Downs May 5.

At first yesterday Colando's son and the horse's trainer, Dr. Andrew C. Colando, said Miltie wouldn't run. Then papa rushed over from Lodi, N. J., where he's a banker and fuel oil man, and said that wasn't so—Miltie might. They'd wait a few days.

Then, with everybody thoroughly confused, the elder Colando finally made it unanimous—no Derby for Uncle Miltie.

"We've run and worked him too much," he said. "He's lost weight but he'll be ready for the Preakness May 19. We won't run him until then."

Boxer Rallies From Bad Kayo

Newark, N. J., April 24 (AP)—Lightweight Charles Venable, who lost consciousness for 15-minutes last night after being kayoed at Laurel Garden, was reported in fair condition today.

The 137-pound Newark Negro was carried from the ring on a stretcher and taken to City Hospital for observation shortly after Jack (The Bat) Nicholson of Garfield floored him with a wild roundhouse right.

Dr. Max Stern of the New Jersey State Athletic Commission, who was at ringside, said Venable suffered a possible brain concussion.

A City Hospital official confirmed the diagnosis but said Venable was "all right." "There's nothing wrong with him," he added.

City League Adopts Hattstrom Handicap

Point System Set For 1951-52 Season

The City Bowling League, oldest tenpin wheel in the city, last night voted to adopt the point system and the Hattstrom handicap for the 1951-52 season.

Howard "Hod" Spaulding was re-elected president. Herb Van Deusen was re-named vice-president, while George Robinson was returned to the post of secretary-treasurer.

The league's "reserve clause," a controversial item for the past several years, was scrapped by the league managers who set a ceiling average of 940 and a minimum of 875 for teams in the league.

Under the point system, a point will be awarded for each victory and a point for total pins. Thus, it is possible for a team to lose two games and still gain a tie for the night.

Peter Keresman's Colonials, perennial champions of the traveling circuit, picked up some more silverware. John Ferraro was presented with a high average trophy and Phil Corrado, Jr., was winner of high triple and high single.

President Spaulding was the toastmaster and led a lively discussion on rules revision for the league. Guest speakers included Peter Keresman, Addison Jones, Manager Hank Camelli of the Kingston Colonials and Charles J. Tiano, K.B.A. secretary.

Pinehurst, N. C., April 24 (AP)—Match play began in the 49th women's North and South Amateur golf tournament today with Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., joining the list of favorites off the record-equalling 70 that won her the medal in yesterday's qualifying play.

The slim Georgia miss ran off with the medal honors on the strength of a 35-35—70 that saw her shave two strokes from women's par on each nine of the No. 2 championship course of the Pinehurst Country Club, a 6,000-yard layout. She tied the 1949 record set by Grace Lenczyk, of Hartford, Conn.

Miss Faulk, three time Georgia State champion, led her nearest rival, Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill, N. C., by four strokes. Mrs. Page, former National champion and seven-times winner here was finalist a year ago, losing to Pat O'Sullivan.

Miss O'Sulivan, the Connecticut girl, who plays out of nearby Southern Pines, had a satisfactory 76 to tie with Mae Murray, Rutland, Vt., girl, who also winters at Southern Pines. They trailed third place Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore, who shot a one-over par 75.

Four New Umpires Added to 1951 Staff For Canadian-American League Season

Seek Old Hand In Cage Fixes

New York, April 24 (AP)—A fugitive ex-convict, who served a jail sentence for trying to fix a basketball game two years ago, today was being sought in connection with the newest widespread betting scandal.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said a 14-state alarm had been sent out for the arrest of William Rivlin, 45, who was indicted on a bribery charge yesterday along with Jack Goldsmith, former Long Island University star.

He was arrested after a vain attempt to fix a Madison Square Garden game Jan. 4, 1949, between George Washington and Manhattan. This was the game in which David Shapiro, George Washington's co-captain, tipped police that he had been approached with a proposition and then cooperated with authorities in making the arrests.

Now Hogan says Rivlin was present at several meetings with Goldsmith and four former LIU players to discuss fixing of the LIU-Duquesne game Jan. 1, 1949.

Goldsmith, described by the district attorney's office as an "essential key" in the probe, is accused of offering the four players $3,500 to arrange the point spread. Duquesne won the game, 64-55.

Newcomers Graduates Of PONY League

Two holdovers from last season and four new men will make up the 1951 umpiring staff of the Canadian-American League, according to Albert E. Houghton, league president. The four new arbiters all saw service in the PONY League last year and have been moved up one classification in accordance with the umpire promotion plan instituted several years ago by the Eastern, Interstate, Can-Am and PONY loops.

The two men who called balls and strikes last year, who will again work in the Can-Am circuit are John W. McKenzie of Mohawk, N. Y., and H. Robert Terry of Philadelphia. Both worked the full season in this league in 1950. McKenzie started his career in the Can-Am League at the end of the 1948 season, was sent to the PONY circuit in 1949 and his contract purchased from there by Houghton last spring. Terry's contract was purchased from the Eastern Shore League last spring following his good work there in 1949.

McKenzie was a member of the umpiring staff of the Dodger's Vero Beach training camp.

New Men Listed

The four new men in blue are:

Peter J. D'Ambrosio of Philadelphia. He was graduated from West Philadelphia High School and Brown Prep School and had three years at Villanova College. His first year of umpiring was with the Eastern Shore League in 1949 and he was promoted to the PONY League last season. He is employed by an advertising agency in Philadelphia in the off-season and this spring was at the Brooklyn Dodgers Vero Beach training camp. He is 30 years of age, 5 feet 9 inches in height and single.

Carlton J. Gaffney of Johnson City, N. J. He is 26 years old, 5 feet 11 inches, single. He is a graduate of Johnson City High School and attended Bill McGowan's Umpire School, worked in the Georgia State League in 1949 and the PONY last year. He is attending college in the winter.

John Howard Mallabon of Toronto. He is 25, 6 feet 3 inches tall and single. He is a high school graduate, attended George Barr's Umpire School, worked in the PONY League in 1950 and this spring was a member of the umpiring staff at the Dodgers' Vero Beach camp. He is a clerk in the off-season.

Vernon C. Williamson of Baltimore. He will be the tall man of the staff—6 feet 4 inches. He is 30 years old and single. A high school graduate, he attended Boyer's and O'Connor's Umpire School last spring and worked in the PONY League all of the 1950 season. In the winter he is an aircraft worker and basketball referee, and also on the Dodger's Vero Beach umpire staff.

Handball Aces Win Early Matches

Philadelphia, April 24 (AP)—Only one player was forced to go three games before winning his opening round match in the National AAU Fourwall Handball championship tournament.

Six of the 11 matches played yesterday were taken in straight sets, while four were won by default.

Heavy Scoring Tempo in ABC

St. Paul, Minn., April 24 (AP)—The American Bowling Congress tournament appears to be developing into the scoringest one since the war.

There were shakeups in wholesale fashion in yesterday's shooting. Bowlers from St. Louis, Cleveland, Chicago and Madison, Wis., swept into the top 10 in three divisions in the regular events and booster teams moved into first and second place in that class.

ABC officials expect some more high shooting tomorrow when two top Chicago teams, Joe Wilman's Tri-Par Radio team and the Nordic Hills Country Club, start firing.

The Hermann Undertaker bowlers of St. Louis caused the biggest stir yesterday. Ray Jung shot 701 to take over second in the singles; teammates Tom Hennessey and Don Carter rolled into fifth in the doubles with 1,304 and Jung and Hennessey climbed into the select group in the all-events, tied for eighth with 1,911 each.

Taking over third place in the doubles were John Skorich and George Talbert of Cleveland with 1,308. Frank Wiley and Fred Mattson of Billings, Mont., copped seventh place with 1,290 and Ed and Earl Brosius, brothers of Chicago, posted 1,285, good for a ninth place tie.

Ed Brosius gained second place in the all-events with 1,956 and brother Earl climbed into fourth with 1,919. Larry Stelter of Madison, Wis., hit 1,913 to pull into seventh place.

Pinehurst, N. C.—Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., won the qualifying medal in the north and south women's tournament with a 70.

Richmond, Calif.—Babe Didrikson Zaharias won the $3,000 Richmond Open with a 54-hole total of 224.

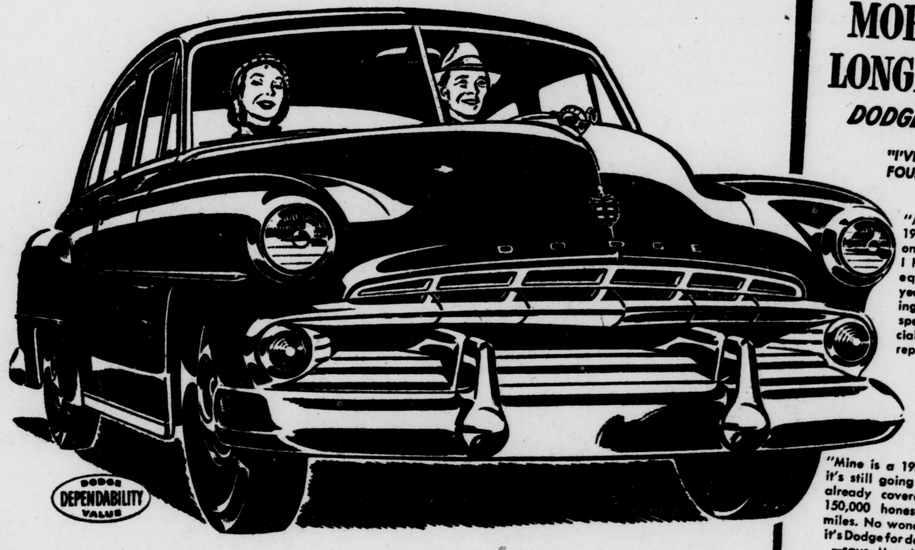
Owner after owner...Year after year-says

"IT'S DODGE FOR DEPENDABILITY"



MORE MILEAGE
LONGER CAR LIFE
DODGE OWNERS TESTIFY

"I'VE PUT THE EQUIVALENT OF FOUR YEARS' DRIVING ON MY '50 DODGE!"

"As a salesman, my 1950 Dodge is always on the go. I figure that I have already put the equivalent of four years of average driving on it — without spending any appreciable amount of money for repairs."
—says Harry H. Hurst Houston, Texas

"DROVE MY 1937 DODGE 150,000 MILES!"

"Mine is a 1937 Dodge—and it's still going strong! It has already covered more than 150,000 honest, dependable miles. No wonder people say it's Dodge for dependability."
—says Mrs. Noble Swisher Chicago, Ill.

"MY 1948 DODGE STILL LIKE NEW!"

"My work calls for thousands of miles of driving a year, yet my 1948 Dodge still has that 'new car' pep and feel. Outside of regular servicing, it has yet to see the inside of a repair shop."
—says George Kieffer St. Louis, Mo.

You could pay up to $1,000 more and still not get all the extra room, riding comfort and rugged dependability of Dodge

TAKE THE WORD of owners who know Dodge value and dependability from actual experience. "No major repairs in four years' driving" . . . "After driving another make less than a year, I'm back with Dodge again" . . . "Driven my Dodge 150,000 miles and it's still going strong." These are not unusual comments we receive from Dodge owners coast-to-coast.

Dodge dependability starts with a heavy, rugged frame, a "Get-Away" engine "speed-proofed" to resist wear, designed to be a miser on gas. There's a safe, rigid, all-steel body, rubber-mounted to eliminate rattle, squeak.

New Safer, Smoother Ride

Dodge Oriflow Shock Absorbers "float" you over roads that stop other cars, cushion vital chassis parts against road shocks . . . make them last years longer. And with this traditional Dodge quality of dependability goes extra headroom, leg room, elbow room found in no other car . . . "Watchtower" visibility in every direction. Longer lasting, smooth acting Safe-Guard Hydraulic Brakes make every mile you travel safer, more relaxed.

Come in Today

Take 5 minutes to check Dodge dependability in long life, in extra comfort and safety, low-cost maintenance and gas economy. It will be the most profitable 5 minutes you ever spent.

Four New Umpires Added to 1951 Staff For Canadian-American League Season

Seek Old Hand In Cage Fixes

New York, April 24 (AP)—A fugitive ex-convict, who served a jail sentence for trying to fix a basketball game two years ago, today was being sought in connection with the newest widespread betting scandal.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said a 14-state alarm had been sent out for the arrest of William Rivlin, 45, who was indicted on a bribery charge yesterday along with Jack Goldsmith, former Long Island University star.

Rivlin was sentenced to a year in prison in 1949 after pleading guilty to a conspiracy charge.

He was arrested after a vain attempt to fix a Madison Square Garden game Jan. 4, 1949, between George Washington and Manhattan. This was the game in which David Shapiro, George Washington's co-captain, tipped police that he had been approached with a proposition and then cooperated with authorities in making the arrests.

Now Hogan says Rivlin was present at several meetings with Goldsmith and four former LIU players to discuss fixing of the LIU-Duquesne game Jan. 1, 1949.

Goldsmith, described by the district attorney's office as an "essential key" in the probe, is accused of offering the four players $3,500 to arrange the point spread. Duquesne won the game, 64-55.

Newcomers Graduates Of PONY League

Two holdovers from last season and four new men will make up the 1951 umpiring staff of the Canadian-American League, according to Albert E. Houghton, league president. The four new arbiters all saw service in the PONY League last year and have been moved up one classification in accordance with the umpire promotion plan instituted several years ago by the Eastern, Interstate, Can-Am and PONY loops.

The two men who called balls and strikes last year, who will again work in the Can-Am circuit are John W. McKenzie of Mohawk, N. Y., and H. Robert Terry of Philadelphia. Both worked the full season in this league in 1950. McKenzie started his career in the Can-Am League at the end of the 1948 season, was sent to the PONY circuit in 1949 and his contract purchased from there by Houghton last spring. Terry's contract was purchased from the Eastern Shore League last spring following his good work there in 1949.

McKenzie was a member of the umpiring staff of the Dodger's Vero Beach training camp.

He is 30 years of age, 5 feet 9 inches in height and single.

Carlton J. Gaffney of Johnson City, N. J. He is 26 years old, 5 feet 11 inches, single. He is a graduate of Johnson City High School and attended Bill McGowan's Umpire School, worked in the Georgia State League in 1949 and the PONY last year. He is attending college in the winter.

John Howard Mallabon of Toronto. He is 25, 6 feet 3 inches tall and single. He is a high school graduate, attended George Barr's Umpire School, worked in the PONY League in 1950 and this spring was a member of the umpiring staff at the Dodgers' Vero Beach camp. He is a clerk in the off-season.

Vernon C. Williamson of Baltimore. He will be the tall man of the staff—6 feet 4 inches. He is 30 years old and single. A high school graduate, he attended Boyer's and O'Connor's Umpire School last spring and worked in the PONY League all of the 1950 season. In the winter he is an aircraft worker and basketball referee, and also on the Dodger's Vero Beach umpire staff.

Heavy Scoring Tempo in ABC

St. Paul, Minn., April 24 (AP)—The American Bowling Congress tournament appears to be developing into the scoringest one since the war.

There were shakeups in wholesale fashion in yesterday's shooting. Bowlers from St. Louis, Cleveland, Chicago and Madison, Wis., swept into the top 10 in three divisions in the regular events and booster teams moved into first and second place in that class.

ABC officials expect some more high shooting tomorrow when two top Chicago teams, Joe Wilman's Tri-Par Radio team and the Nordic Hills Country Club, start firing.

The Hermann Undertaker bowlers of St. Louis caused the biggest stir yesterday. Ray Jung shot 701 to take over second in the singles; teammates Tom Hennessey and Don Carter rolled into fifth in the doubes with 1,304 and Jung and Hennessey climbed into the select group in the all-events, tied for eighth with 1,911 each.

Taking over third place in the doubles were John Skorich and George Talbert of Cleveland with 1,308. Frank Wiley and Fred Mattson of Billings, Mont., copped seventh place with 1,290 and Ed and Earl Brosius, brothers of Chicago, posted 1,285, good for a ninth place tie.

Ed Brosius gained second place in the all-events with 1,956 and brother Earl climbed into fourth with 1,919. Larry Stelter of Madison, Wis., nit 1,913 to pull into seventh place.

Pinehurst, N. C.—Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., won the qualifying medal in the north and south women's tournament with a 70.

Richmond, Calif.—Babe Didrikson Zaharias won the $3,000 Richmond Open with a 54-hole total of 224.

MORE MILEAGE
LONGER CAR LIFE
DODGE OWNERS TESTIFY

"I'VE PUT THE EQUIVALENT OF FOUR YEARS' DRIVING ON MY '50 DODGE!"

"As a salesman, my 1950 Dodge is always on the go. I figure that I have already put the equivalent of four years of average driving on it — without spending any appreciable amount of money for repairs."
—says Harry H. Hurst
Houston, Texas

"DROVE MY 1937 DODGE 150,000 MILES!"

"Mine is a 1937 Dodge—and it's still going strong! It has already covered more than 150,000 honest, dependable miles. No wonder people say it's Dodge for dependability."
—says Mrs. Noble Swisher
Chicago, Ill.

"MY 1948 DODGE STILL LIKE NEW!"

"My work calls for thousands of miles of driving a year, yet my 1948 Dodge still has that 'new car' pep and feel. Outside of regular servicing, it has yet to see the inside of a repair shop."
—says George Kieffer
St. Louis, Mo.

You could pay up to $1,000 more and still not get all the extra room, riding comfort and rugged dependability of Dodge

TAKE THE WORD of owners who know Dodge value and dependability from actual experience. "No major repairs in four years' driving" . . . "After driving another make less than a year, I'm back with Dodge again" . . . "Driven my Dodge 150,000 miles and it's still going strong." These are not unusual comments we receive from Dodge owners coast-to-coast.

Dodge dependability starts with a heavy, rugged frame, a "Get-Away" engine "speed-proofed" to resist wear, designed to be a miser on gas. There's a safe, rigid, all-steel body, rubber-mounted to eliminate rattle, squeak.

New Safer, Smoother Ride

Dodge Oriflow Shock Absorbers "float" you over roads that stop other cars, cushion vital chassis parts against road shocks . . . make them last years longer. And with this traditional Dodge quality of dependability goes extra headroom, leg room, elbow room found in no other car . . . "Watchtower" visibility in every direction. Longer lasting, smooth acting Safe-Guard Hydraulic Brakes make every mile you travel safer, more relaxed.

Come in Today

Take 5 minutes to check Dodge dependability in long life, in extra comfort and safety, low-cost maintenance and gas economy. It will be the most profitable 5 minutes you ever spent.

Four New Umpires Added to 1951 Staff For Canadian-American League Season

Seek Old Hand In Cage Fixes

New York, April 24 (AP)—A fugitive ex-convict, who served a jail sentence for trying to fix a basketball game two years ago, today was being sought in connection with the newest widespread betting scandal.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said a 14-state alarm had been sent out for the arrest of William Rivlin, 45, who was indicted on a bribery charge yesterday along with Jack Goldsmith, former Long Island University star.

Rivlin was sentenced to a year in prison in 1949 after pleading guilty to a conspiracy charge.

He was arrested after a vain attempt to fix a Madison Square Garden game Jan. 4, 1949, between George Washington and Manhattan. This was the game in which David Shapiro, George Washington's co-captain, tipped police that he had been approached with a proposition and then cooperated with authorities in making the arrests.

Now Hogan says Rivlin was present at several meetings with Goldsmith and four former LIU players to discuss fixing of the LIU-Duquesne game Jan. 1, 1949.

Goldsmith, described by the district attorney's office as an "essential key" in the probe, is accused of offering the four players $3,500 to arrange the point spread. Duquesne won the game, 64-55.

Yesterday's Stars

Batting—Carl Furillo, Dodgers—singled with two out in the 16th inning scored Billy Cox with the run that beat the Boston Braves, 2-1.

Pitching—Harry Brecheen, Cardinals—spaced eight hits as St. Louis shaded the Cincinnati Reds, 2-1, to beat an old Redbird nemesis, Kenny Raffensberger.

Newcomers Graduates Of PONY League

Two holdovers from last season and four new men will make up the 1951 umpiring staff of the Canadian-American League, according to Albert E. Houghton, league president. The four new arbiters all saw service in the PONY League last year and have been moved up one classification in accordance with the umpire promotion plan instituted several years ago by the Eastern, Interstate, Can-Am and PONY loops.

The two men who called balls and strikes last year, who will again work in the Can-Am circuit are John W. McKenzie of Mohawk, N. Y., and H. Robert Terry of Philadelphia. Both worked the full season in this league in 1950. McKenzie started his career in the Can-Am League at the end of the 1948 season, was sent to the PONY circuit in 1949 and his contract purchased from there by Houghton last spring. Terry's contract was purchased from the Eastern Shore League last spring following his good work there in 1949.

McKenzie was a member of the umpiring staff of the Dodger's Vero Beach training camp.

New Men Listed

The four new men in blue are:

Peter J. D'Ambrosio of Philadelphia. He was graduated from West Philadelphia High School and Brown Prep School and had three years at Villanova College. His first year of umpiring was with the Eastern Shore League in 1949 and he was promoted to the PONY League last season. He is employed by an advertising agency in Philadelphia in the off-season and this spring was at the Brooklyn Dodgers Vero Beach training camp. He is 30 years of age, 5 feet 9 inches in height and single.

Carlton J. Gaffney of Johnson City, N. J. He is 26 years old, 5 feet 11 inches, single. He is a graduate of Johnson City High School and attended Bill McGowan's Umpire School, worked in the Georgia State League in 1949 and the PONY last year. He is attending college in the winter.

John Howard Mallabon of Toronto. He is 25, 6 feet 3 inches tall and single. He is a high school graduate, attended George Barr's Umpire School, worked in the PONY League in 1950 and this spring was a member of the umpiring staff at the Dodgers' Vero Beach camp. He is a clerk in the off-season.

Vernon C. Williamson of Baltimore. He will be the tall man of the staff—6 feet 4 inches. He is 30 years old and single. A high school graduate, he attended Boyer's and O'Connor's Umpire School last spring and worked in the PONY League all of the 1950 season. In the winter he is an aircraft worker and basketball referee, and also on the Dodger's Vero Beach umpire staff.

Heavy Scoring Tempo in ABC

St. Paul, Minn., April 24 (AP)—The American Bowling Congress tournament appears to be developing into the scoringest one since the war.

There were shakeups in wholesale fashion in yesterday's shooting. Bowlers from St. Louis, Cleveland, Chicago and Madison, Wis., swept into the top 10 in three divisions in the regular events and booster teams moved into first and second place in that class.

ABC officials expect some more high shooting tomorrow when two top Chicago teams, Joe Wilman's Tri-Par Radio team and the Nordic Hills Country Club, start firing.

The Hermann Undertaker bowlers of St. Louis caused the biggest stir yesterday. Ray Jung shot 701 to take over second in the singles; teammates Tom Hennessey and Don Carter rolled into fifth in the doubles with 1,304 and Jung and Hennessey climbed into the select group in the all-events, tied for eighth with 1,911 each.

Taking over third place in the doubles were John Skorich and George Talbert of Cleveland with 1,308. Frank Wiley and Fred Mattson of Billings, Mont., copped seventh place with 1,290 and Ed and Earl Brosius, brothers of Chicago, posted 1,285, good for a ninth place tie.

Ed Brosius gained second place in the all-events with 1,956 and brother Earl climbed into fourth with 1,919. Larry Stelter of Madison, Wis., hit 1,913 to pull into seventh place.

Pinehurst, N. C.—Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., won the qualifying medal in the north and south women's tournament with a 70.

Richmond, Calif.—Babe Didrikson Zaharias won the $3,000 Richmond Open with a 54-hole total of 224.

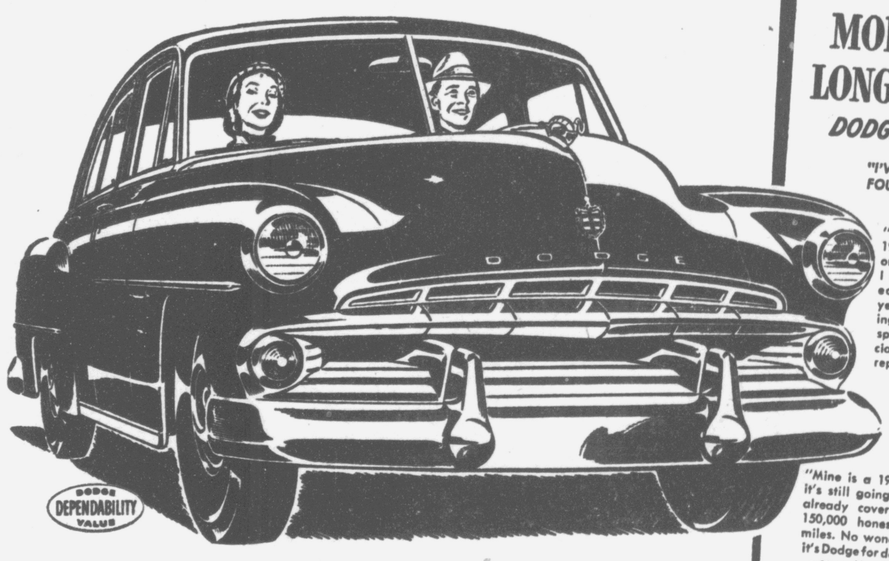
Owner after owner...Year after year-says

"IT'S DODGE FOR DEPENDABILITY"



MORE MILEAGE
LONGER CAR LIFE
DODGE OWNERS TESTIFY

"I'VE PUT THE EQUIVALENT OF FOUR YEARS' DRIVING ON MY '50 DODGE!"

"As a salesman, my 1950 Dodge is always on the go. I figure that I have already put the equivalent of four years of average driving on it — without spending any appreciable amount of money for repairs."
—says Harry H. Hurst
Houston, Texas

"DROVE MY 1937 DODGE 150,000 MILES!"

"Mine is a 1937 Dodge—and it's still going strong! It has already covered more than 150,000 honest, dependable miles. No wonder people say it's Dodge for dependability."
—says Mrs. Noble Swisher
Chicago, Ill.

"MY 1948 DODGE STILL LIKE NEW!"

"My work calls for thousands of miles of driving a year, yet my 1948 Dodge still has that 'new car' pep and feel. Outside of regular servicing, it has yet to see the inside of a repair shop."
—says George Kieffer
St. Louis, Mo.

You could pay up to $1,000 more and still not get all the extra room, riding comfort and rugged dependability of Dodge

TAKE THE WORD of owners who know Dodge value and dependability from actual experience. "No major repairs in four years' driving" . . . "After driving another make less than a year, I'm back with Dodge again" . . . "Driven my Dodge 150,000 miles and it's still going strong." These are not unusual comments we receive from Dodge owners coast-to-coast.

Dodge dependability starts with a heavy, rugged frame, a "Get-Away" engine "speed-proofed" to resist wear, designed to be a miser on gas. There's a safe, rigid, all-steel body, rubber-mounted to eliminate rattle, squeak.

New Safer, Smoother Ride

Dodge Oriflow Shock Absorbers "float" you over roads that stop other cars, cushion vital chassis parts against road shocks . . . make them last years longer. And with this traditional Dodge quality of dependability goes extra headroom, leg room, elbow room found in no other car . . . "Watchtower" visibility in every direction. Longer lasting, smooth acting Safe-Guard Hydraulic Brakes make every mile you travel safer, more relaxed.

Come in Today

Take 5 minutes to check Dodge dependability in long life, in extra comfort and safety, low-cost maintenance and gas economy. It will be the most profitable 5 minutes you ever spent.

Needs More Study

Washington, April 24 (AP)—The administration's plan to move 45,000 government employes out of downtown Washington because of the threat of atomic attack appeared today to be shelved indefinitely. A Senate coalition of 35 Republicans and 10 Democrats voted yesterday to send the dispersal-decentralization bill back to the public works committee for further study. Thirty-four Democrats and five Republicans opposed the move. Opponents of the bill raised an economy cry. Many of them urged that the government start firing employes instead of hiring them at a 5,000-a-month clip.

MacArthur Celebrator Dies of Fractured Skull

New York, April 24 (AP)—A man accidentally struck by a metal paperweight during the welcome-home parade for Gen. Douglas MacArthur Friday died today of a fractured skull.

Mario Riccobono, 47, of (25-42 31st St.) Astoria, Queens, had been standing near the Woolworth building at Broadway and Park place waiting for the parade. Suddenly he collapsed, and a half-pound paperweight was found beside him.

He was taken to Beekman Downtown Hospital, where he died today.

Police said Mary Simmons, 22, of (132 Stevens Place) North Arlington, N. J., and Rosemary Higgins, 19, of the Bronx, employed in the Woolworth building, told them the paperweight might have been caught in ticker tape and other paper they tossed out the window.

Police said the case, listed as an accident, would be investigated further.

Rackets Affecting Cost of Living

New York, April 24 (AP)—Rackets have a "direct effect" on the mounting cost of living, says Sen. Estes Kefauver (D.-Tenn.).

The chairman of the U. S. Senate Crime Investigating Committee addressed a dinner meeting of the Federal Grand Jurors Association of the Eastern District of New York last night in Brooklyn.

Kefauver said organized crime in the United States grosses nearly $30,000,000,000 annually. He added that his committee has evidence that racketeers had muscled into at least 76 legitimate businesses throughout the country.

Into the legitimate world, he said, they bring with them the same practices used in the underworld.

Later in the evening, Kefauver addressed a rally sponsored by the Brooklyn Chapter of the Atlantic Union Committee. He urged coordination of American foreign and military policies.

"We can't go on forever existing fighting aggression by ourselves or on a haphazard basis," he said.

"You couldn't combat aggression by piecemeal fashion," he added, "such as temporary alliances."

"We have to work out a federation plan. A start in that direction would be a coordination of our foreign and military policy."

Gets Nine Months For Assault During Christmas Battle

County Judge John M. Cashin on Monday afternoon sentenced Norman Frank, 23, of Waterbury, Conn., and Greenwich Village, New York, to a nine-month term at the Ulster county jail after Frank pleaded guilty to a third degree assault charge.

Frank will be given credit toward his nine months for the time already spent in jail since December 25, 1950, awaiting trial, the judge ruled.

Originally indicted on a second degree assault charge, Frank withdrew his previous plea of innocent to that charge and entered a plea of guilty to third degree assault. District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn, in consenting to the change of plea, informed the court that the complainant was "out of my jurisdiction" and could not be obtained to testify in a trial. Attorney Elmore Nathan represented Frank.

The young man was arrested early Christmas morning by Cpl. Ray Dunn of the state police following a reported scuffle at Lake Hill, in which Celeste Toolan, 25, of New York, said he struck her and she later received treatment at Kingston Hospital for two black eyes, a broken nose and possible rib fractures. Lewis Weber of Woodstock said he attempted to separate the two and Frank pulled a knife, cutting him on the forehead, according to Cpl. Dunn's report of the incident.

Two Other Cases

Two other cases on the criminal calendar were marked for trial on Wednesday. They were the case of people against Ephraim Decker of Sleightsburg, charged with drunken driving as a second offender, and the case of William Rosencrance, indicted by the grand jury for burglary third degree, unlawful entry and grand larceny first. Decker was represented by Attorney Howard C. St. John, and Rosencrance by John L. Larkin.

Cornelius O'Neil, 17, of 147 Abeel street, was set down for treatment under the Youthful Offender statute on motion of his attorney, Robert Ortale with the consent of the district attorney.

500 Members Are Sought for 1951 In Chamber Drive

The membership drive of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce starts with the mailing of annual renewal statements to members today as well as invitations to prospective members to apply for membership. In making this announcement today, J. Ellis Briggs, chairman of the planning committee, stated that most memberships become due on May 1, the beginning of the chamber fiscal year. A goal of 500 members has been set by the committee.

Briggs stated that several firms have voluntarily authorized the Chamber of Commerce to increase the number of memberships for which they are to be billed. During the past year active members increased their support by twenty-two memberships. At present 53 firms and individuals subscribe for 145 memberships.

In discussing the membership situation Briggs reported that a total of 340 firms and individuals subscribed for 442 memberships during the past year, which includes forty new members. The established goal, therefore, represents a net increase of 48 memberships for 1951-52. We are confident that this goal can be reached.

There is no set formula for support by corporations or individuals, however, the number of memberships subscribed for tends to represent the importance of any given business or industry in the community. Adequate financial support is essential. Briggs stated, and as memberships are the only source of income, additional support in the form of duplicate memberships is invited.

Sulphur Shortage

Tel Aviv (AP)—Israel's sulphur crisis has been worsened recently due to a cutback in U. S. exports. In an attempt to ease the shortage, a Haifa chemical company is considering the production of sulphuric acid from iron pyrites, found in Cyprus, North Africa and Spain.

Needs More Study

Washington, April 24 (AP)—The administration's plan to move 45,000 government employes out of downtown Washington because of the threat of atomic attack appeared today to be shelved indefinitely. A Senate coalition of 35 Republicans and 10 Democrats voted yesterday to send the dispersal-decentralization bill back to the public works committee for further study. Thirty-four Democrats and five Republicans opposed the move. Opponents of the bill raised an economy cry. Many of them urged that the government start hiring employes instead of hiring them at a 5,000-a-month clip.

MacArthur Celebrator Dies of Fractured Skull

New York, April 24 (AP)—A man accidentally struck by a metal paperweight during the welcome-home parade for Gen. Douglas MacArthur Friday died today of a fractured skull.

Mario Riccobono, 47, of (25-42 31st St.) Astoria, Queens, had been standing near the Woolworth building at Broadway and Park place waiting for the parade. Suddenly he collapsed, and a half-pound paperweight was found beside him.

He was taken to Beekman Downtown Hospital, where he died today.

Police said Mary Simmons, 22, of (132 Stevens Place) North Arlington, N. J., and Rosemary Higgins, 19, of the Bronx, employed in the Woolworth building, told them the paperweight might have been caught in ticker tape and other paper they tossed out the window.

Police said the case, listed as an accident, would be investigated further.

Rackets Affecting Cost of Living

New York, April 24 (AP)—Rackets have a "direct effect" on the mounting cost of living, says Sen. Estes Kefauver (D.-Tenn.).

The chairman of the U. S. Senate Crime Investigating Committee addressed a dinner meeting of the Federal Grand Jurors Association of the Eastern District of New York last night in Brooklyn.

Kefauver said organized crime in the United States grosses nearly $30,000,000,000 annually. He added that his committee has evidence that racketeers had muscled into at least 76 legitimate businesses throughout the country.

Into the legitimate world, he said, they bring with them the same practices used in the underworld.

Later in the evening, Kefauver addressed a rally sponsored by the Brooklyn Chapter of the Atlantic Union Committee. He urged coordination of American foreign and military policies.

"We can't go on forever existing fighting aggression by ourselves or on a haphazard basis," he said.

"You couldn't combat aggression by piecemeal fashion," he added, "such as temporary alliances."

Gets Nine Months For Assault During Christmas Battle

County Judge John M. Cashin on Monday afternoon sentenced Norman Frank, 23, of Waterbury, Conn., and Greenwich Village, New York, to a nine-month term at the Ulster county jail after Frank pleaded guilty to a third degree assault charge.

Frank will be given credit toward his nine months for the time already spent in jail since December 25, 1950, awaiting trial, the judge ruled.

Originally indicted on a second degree assault charge, Frank withdrew his previous plea of innocent to that charge and entered a plea of guilty to third degree assault. District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn, in consenting to the change of plea, informed the court that the complainant was "out of my jurisdiction" and could not be obtained to testify in a trial. Attorney Elmore Nathan represented Frank.

The young man was arrested early Christmas morning by Cpl. Ray Dunn of the state police following a reported scuffle at Lake Hill, in which Celeste Toolan, 25, of New York, said he struck her and she later received treatment at Kingston Hospital for two black eyes, a broken nose and possible rib fractures. Lewis Weber of Woodstock said he attempted to separate the two and Frank pulled a knife, cutting him on the forehead, according to Cpl. Dunn's report of the incident.

Two Other Cases

Two other cases on the criminal calendar were marked for trial on Wednesday. They were the case of people against Ephraim Decker of Sleightsburg, charged with drunken driving as a second offender, and the case of William Rosencrance, indicted by the grand jury for burglary third degree, unlawful entry and grand larceny first. Decker was represented by Attorney Howard C. St. John, and Rosencrance by John L. Larkin.

Cornelius O'Neil, 17, of 147 Abeel street, was set down for treatment under the Youthful Offender statute on motion of his attorney, Robert Ortale with the consent of the district attorney.

The case of William Chester Myers, indicted for violation of Section 1053-A, was put over the term. Court adjourned until Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

To Aid Adults

New York, April 24 (AP)—The Ford Foundation announced last night establishment of the fund for adult education, an independent agency to develop methods and opportunities in adult education. Foundation trustees, the announcement said, have approved an interim budget of $3,000,000 for the fund's operations. "The fund for adult education will take as its area of activity that part of the educational process which begins when formal schooling is finished," the foundation said.

500 Members Are Sought for 1951 In Chamber Drive

The membership drive of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce starts with the mailing of annual renewal statements to members today as well as invitations to prospective members to apply for membership. In making this announcement today, J. Ellis Briggs, chairman of the planning committee, stated that most memberships become due on May 1, the beginning of the chamber fiscal year. A goal of 500 members has been set by the committee.

Briggs stated that several firms have voluntarily authorized the Chamber of Commerce to increase the number of memberships for which they are to be billed. During the past year active members increased their support by twenty-two memberships. At present 53 firms and individuals subscribe for 145 memberships.

In discussing the membership situation Briggs reported that a total of 340 firms and individuals subscribed for 442 memberships during the past year, which includes forty new members. The established goal, therefore, represents a net increase of 48 memberships for 1951-52. We are confident that this goal can be reached.

There is no set formula for support by corporations or individuals, however, the number of memberships subscribed for tends to represent the importance of any given business or industry in the community. Adequate financial support is essential. Briggs stated, and as memberships are the only source of income, additional support in the form of duplicate memberships is invited.

Sulphur Shortage

Tel Aviv (AP)—Israel's sulphur crisis has been worsened recently due to a cutback in U. S. exports. In an attempt to ease the shortage, a Haifa chemical company is considering the production of sulphuric acid from iron pyrites, found in Cyprus, North Africa and Spain.

Needs More Study

Washington, April 24 (AP)—The administration's plan to move 45,000 government employes out of downtown Washington because of the threat of atomic attack appeared today to be shelved indefinitely. A Senate coalition of 35 Republicans and 10 Democrats voted yesterday to send the dispersal-decentralization bill back to the public works committee for further study. Thirty-four Democrats and five Republicans opposed the move. Opponents of the bill raised an economy cry. Many of them urged that the government start firing employes instead of hiring them at a 5,000-a-month clip.

MacArthur Celebrator Dies of Fractured Skull

New York, April 24 (AP)—A man accidentally struck by a metal paperweight during the welcome-home parade for Gen. Douglas MacArthur Friday died today of a fractured skull.

Mario Riccobono, 47, of (25-42 31st St.) Astoria, Queens, had been standing near the Woolworth building at Broadway and Park place waiting for the parade. Suddenly he collapsed, and a half-pound paperweight was found beside him.

He was taken to Beekman Downtown Hospital, where he died today.

Police said Mary Simmons, 22, of (132 Stevens Place) North Arlington, N. J., and Rosemary Higgins, 19, of the Bronx, employed in the Woolworth building, told them the paperweight might have been caught in ticker tape and other paper they tossed out the window.

Police said the case, listed as an accident, would be investigated further.

Rackets Affecting Cost of Living

New York, April 24 (AP)—Rackets have a "direct effect" on the mounting cost of living, says Sen. Estes Kefauver (D.-Tenn.).

The chairman of the U. S. Senate Crime Investigating Committee addressed a dinner meeting of the Federal Grand Jurors Association of the Eastern District of New York last night in Brooklyn.

Kefauver said organized crime in the United States grosses nearly $30,000,000,000 annually. He added that his committee has evidence that racketeers had muscled into at least 76 legitimate businesses throughout the country.

Into the legitimate world, he said, they bring with them the same practices used in the underworld.

Later in the evening, Kefauver addressed a rally sponsored by the Brooklyn Chapter of the Atlantic Union Committee. He urged coordination of American foreign and military policies.

"We can't go on forever existing fighting aggression by ourselves or on a haphazard basis," he said.

"You couldn't combat aggression by piecemeal fashion," he added, "such as temporary alliances."

Gets Nine Months For Assault During Christmas Battle

County Judge John M. Cashin on Monday afternoon sentenced Norman Frank, 23, of Waterbury, Conn., and Greenwich Village, New York, to a nine-month term at the Ulster county jail after Frank pleaded guilty to a third degree assault charge.

Frank will be given credit toward his nine months for the time already spent in jail since December 25, 1950, awaiting trial, the judge ruled.

Originally indicted on a second degree assault charge, Frank withdrew his previous plea of innocent to that charge and entered a plea of guilty to third degree assault. District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn, in consenting to the change of plea, informed the court that the complainant was "out of my jurisdiction" and could not be obtained to testify in a trial. Attorney Elmore Nathan represented Frank.

The young man was arrested early Christmas morning by Cpl. Ray Dunn of the state police following a reported scuffle at Lake Hill, in which Celeste Toolan, 25, of New York, said he struck her and she later received treatment at Kingston Hospital for two black eyes, a broken nose and possible rib fractures. Lewis Weber of Woodstock said he attempted to separate the two and Frank pulled a knife, cutting him on the forehead, according to Cpl. Dunn's report of the incident.

Two Other Cases

Two other cases on the criminal calendar were marked for trial on Wednesday. They were the case of people against Ephraim Decker of Sleightsburg, charged with drunken driving as a second offender, and the case of William Rosencrance, indicted by the grand jury for burglary third degree, unlawful entry and grand larceny first. Decker was represented by Attorney Howard C. St. John, and Rosencrance by John L. Larkin.

Cornelius O'Neil, 17, of 147 Abeel street, was set down for treatment under the Youthful Offender statute on motion of his attorney, Robert Ortale with the consent of the district attorney.

The case of William Chester Myers, indicted for violation of Section 1053-A, was put over the term. Court adjourned until Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

To Aid Adults

New York, April 24 (AP)—The Ford Foundation announced last night establishment of the fund for adult education, an independent agency to develop methods and opportunities in adult education. Foundation trustees, the announcement said, have approved an interim budget of $3,000,000 for the fund's operations. "The fund for adult education will take as its area of activity that part of the educational process which begins when formal schooling is finished," the foundation said.

500 Members Are Sought for 1951 In Chamber Drive

The membership drive of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce starts with the mailing of annual renewal statements to members today as well as invitations to prospective members to apply for membership. In making this announcement today, J. Ellis Briggs, chairman of the planning committee, stated that most memberships become due on May 1, the beginning of the chamber fiscal year. A goal of 500 members has been set by the committee.

Briggs stated that several firms have voluntarily authorized the Chamber of Commerce to increase the number of memberships for which they are to be billed. During the past year active members increased their support by twenty-two memberships. At present 53 firms and individuals subscribe for 145 memberships.

In discussing the membership situation Briggs reported that a total of 340 firms and individuals subscribed for 442 memberships during the past year, which includes forty new members. The established goal, therefore, represents a net increase of 48 memberships for 1951-52. We are confident that this goal can be reached.

There is no set formula for support by corporations or individuals, however, the number of memberships subscribed for tends to represent the importance of any given business or industry in the community. Adequate financial support is essential. Briggs stated, and as memberships are the only source of income, additional support in the form of duplicate memberships is invited.

An opinion that the police officer's safety is increased rather than diminished in one-man car is given by O. W. The presence of a second officer in a car, the report states, "discourages a reasonable caution for the reason that pride prevents an officer from taking suitable precautions lest his brother interpret his caution as cowardice. Also each gives the other a false sense of courage out of proportion to the added protection provided by the second officer." In the event of trouble, the report indicates, a second car could be quickly dispatched to the scene.

The report is based on conditions which exist in the city of Schenectady and which vary in other cities. The report is contained in a recent issue of "New York State Taxpayer," published by the Citizens Public Expenditure Survey.

Communists Rip

miles into South Korea. And they were still pressing forward over the dusty hills on foot and by horseback.

Ridgway declared:

"It appears to me at this time that this attack is another major effort by our Communist enemy to drive United Nations forces from Korea, or to destroy them, regardless of the further destruction of his own troops."

Reds Take Hard Blow

An Eighth Army spokesman said Red casualties were 10 times those of UN forces. On the eastern front, an officer said Red losses there were 20 times those of the allies.

Field commanders described the situation on the central front as critical. But Ridgway said, "I have complete confidence."

AP Correspondent Jim Becker on the central front said the "tired, dispirited people" didn't even raise their heads to see what was happening along the roads they plodded. Twice before they had fled along the same routes from the Communist advance—always in decreasing numbers.

Pincer Threat

Arms of the pincer were formed by Chinese pushing down the mountainous center of the peninsula, and reinforced Reds boring across the Imjin river in the west.

Elements of two attacking Chinese divisions forced U.N. troops to withdraw near Korangpo at the western end of the front. Korangpo is south of the 38th Parallel and 30 miles north of Seoul, South Korean capital.

U.N. troops hit back. AP Correspondent John Randolph reported they "were still fighting savagely at dusk" Tuesday.

The other arm of the pincer threatened the Chunchon-Seoul highway. This road leads to the capital from the northeast.

Only around Hwachon reservoir, east of the breakthrough, did the U.N. line hold firmly. Outflanked allies beat off repeated attacks at Hwachon at the western end of the reservoir.

Eleven miles to the east, at the other end, U.N. forces gave some ground to hammering Reds but held Yanggu. The town remained in danger.

A Real War Now

Hwachon and Yanggu are seven miles north of the border.

"This is a real war now," a divisional officer said. "We are dealing with an enemy that has large numbers, lots of artillery for the first time and the obvious intention of wiping us out.

"We know that. And we are waiting for him. He has taken some terrible losses already. And he is going to take some more."

But that's not much of an estimated 400,000 troops already committed to the attack. An assault force of that size would leave the Reds some 300,000 in reserve in North Korea.

U.N. troops had pulled back as much as 15 miles in places. The withdrawal was generally well ordered. But it was so fast that units from company to battalion size were surrounded on the west and central fronts. They fought their way out Tuesday.

In contrast to other Chinese offensives, allied commanders were not seriously alarmed with the situation. They had been preparing for a month to meet the attack. They were in stronger force than ever before.

After Main Highway

Their immediate goal appeared to be the Chunchon-Seoul highway. The drive at Inje hit the upper reaches of this road. A breakthrough by the strong, artillery supported Reds there would threaten to cut off U.N. troops around Hwachon reservoir.

Clear, bright weather aided the defending forces. Swirling dust clouds kicked up by advancing Reds gave away their positions to low-flying allied planes.

The toll was high, the Far East air forces noted, "as the Reds came out in the open in their offensive with almost complete disregard" of fire bombs, rockets, high explosives and machinegun fire. Even B-29s were used in night bomb attacks on the front lines. Flares and searchlights spotted the Reds.

One B-26 reported killing 400 heavily massed Reds Tuesday with fragmentation bombs.

Altogether U.N. planes flew well over 1,000 sorties. In contrast one Red bomber appeared. It dropped six bombs behind the battlefront. No damage was reported.

In contrast to other Chinese offensives, allied commanders were not seriously alarmed with the situation. They had been preparing for a month to meet the attack. They were in stronger force than ever before.

After Main Highway

Their immediate goal appeared to be the Chunchon-Seoul highway. The drive at Inje hit the upper reaches of this road. A breakthrough by the strong, artillery supported Reds there would threaten to cut off U.N. troops around Hwachon reservoir.

Clear, bright weather aided the defending forces. Swirling dust clouds kicked up by advancing Reds gave away their positions to low-flying allied planes.

The Fifth Air Force mounted 340 strikes Monday in close support of ground troops—its third busiest front-line day of the war.

The toll was high, the Far East air forces noted, "as the Reds came out in the open in their offensive with almost complete disregard" of fire bombs, rockets, high explosives and machinegun fire. Even B-29s were used in night bomb attacks on the front lines. Flares and searchlights spotted the Reds.

One B-26 reported killing 400 heavily massed Reds Tuesday with fragmentation bombs.

Altogether U.N. planes flew well over 1,000 sorties. In contrast one Red bomber appeared. It dropped six bombs behind the battlefront. No damage was reported.

Korean War Dead Brought Home

The first of 120 bodies of U.S. service men killed in fighting in Korea and brought home for burial aboard the transport Ocala Victory, is lowered to the dock at the Oakland, Calif., Army base April 23 as military police stand at attention saluting. (AP Wirephoto)

One-Man Patrol Cars Suggested

Use of one-man police patrol cars in place of the present two-men cars in the city of Schenectady has been proposed as a key economy measure following a Griffenhagen survey there. The move would permit reduction of the patrol force by 12 men, according to the report of the research agency.

The survey report points out that among cities of 50,000 to 100,000 population in late 1949, 43% of them were using one-man patrol cars to a varying extent.

By using the one-man system Schenectady would require 30 patrolmen for a seven-car system instead of the present 42 men for the five-car system. Therefore two cars could be added with a one-man crew, providing a more extensive patrol with a saving of 12 patrolmen.

An opinion that the police officer's safety is increased rather than diminished in one-man car is given by O. W. Wilson, former police chief of Wichita and now dean of the University of California School of Criminology. This is due to the smaller area to be patrolled and the more frequent times the patrol car would pass a given point. It would also give faster service to citizens, the report holds.

The report further states a one-man patrol is more efficient for the reason that he gives "first attention to police duties." When two men patrol the two officers are liable to "spend part of their time visiting, swapping stories, and neglecting their regular routine duties."

The presence of a second officer in a car, the report states, "discourages a reasonable caution for the reason that pride prevents an officer from taking suitable precautions lest his brother interpret his caution as cowardice. Also each gives the other a false sense of courage out of proportion to the added protection provided by the second officer." In the event of trouble, the report indicates, a second car could be quickly dispatched to the scene.

The report is based on conditions which exist in the city of Schenectady and which vary in other cities. The report is contained in a recent issue of "New York State Taxpayer," published by the Citizens Public Expenditure Survey.

Communists Rip

miles into South Korea. And they were still pressing forward over the dusty hills on foot and by horseback.

Ridgway declared:

"It appears to me at this time that this attack is another major effort by our Communist enemy to drive United Nations forces from Korea, or to destroy them, regardless of the further destruction of his own troops."

Reds Take Hard Blow

An Eighth Army spokesman said Red casualties were 10 times those of UN forces. On the eastern front, an officer said Red losses there were 20 times those of the allies.

Field commanders described the situation on the central front as critical. But Ridgway said, "I have complete confidence."

Korean officials were not so confident. Great columns of refugees clogged the highways south of the central and western front.

AP Correspondent Jim Becker on the central front said the "tired, dispirited people" didn't even raise their heads to see what was happening along the roads they plodded. Twice before they had fled along the same routes from the Communist advance—always in decreasing numbers.

Pincer Threat

They walked down roads threatened by a great Red pincer movement.

Arms of the pincer were formed by Chinese pushing down the mountainous center of the peninsula, and reinforced Reds boring across the Imjin river in the west.

Elements of two attacking Chinese divisions forced U.N. troops to withdraw near Korangpo at the western end of the front. Korangpo is south of the 38th Parallel and 30 miles north of Seoul, South Korean capital.

U.N. troops hit back. AP Correspondent John Randolph reported they "were still fighting savagely at dusk" Tuesday.

The other arm of the pincer threatened the Chunchon-Seoul highway. This road leads to the capital from the northeast.

Only around Hwachon reservoir, east of the breakthrough, did the U.N. line hold firmly. Outflanked allies beat off repeated attacks at Hwachon at the western end of the reservoir.

Eleven miles to the east, at the other end, U.N. forces gave some ground to hammering Reds but held Yanggu. The town remained in danger.

A Real War Now

Hwachon and Yanggu are seven miles north of the border.

"This is a real war now," a divisional officer said. "We are dealing with an enemy that has large numbers, lots of artillery for the first time and the obvious intention of wiping us out.

"We know that. And we are waiting for him. He has taken some terrible losses already. And he is going to take some more."

Red losses Monday were estimated at nearly 12,000. About one fourth of them were from round-the-clock air attacks.

But that's not much of an estimated 400,000 troops already committed to the attack. An assault force of that size would leave the Reds some 300,000 in reserve in North Korea.

U.N. troops had pulled back as much as 15 miles in places. The withdrawal was generally well ordered. But it was so fast that units from company to battalion size were surrounded on the west and central fronts. They fought their way out Tuesday.

In contrast to other Chinese offensives, allied commanders were not seriously alarmed with the situation. They had been preparing for a month to meet the attack. They were in stronger force than ever before.

After Main Highway

Their immediate goal appeared to be the Chunchon-Seoul highway. The drive at Inje hit the upper reaches of this road. A breakthrough by the strong, artillery supported Reds there would threaten to cut off U.N. troops around Hwachon reservoir.

Clear, bright weather aided the defending forces. Swirling dust clouds kicked up by advancing Reds gave away their positions to low-flying allied planes.

The Fifth Air Force mounted 340 strikes Monday in close support of ground troops—its third busiest front-line day of the war.

The toll was high, the Far East air forces noted, "as the Reds came out in the open in their offensive with almost complete disregard" of fire bombs, rockets, high explosives and machinegun fire. Even B-29s were used in night bomb attacks on the front lines. Flares and searchlights spotted the Reds.

Altogether U.N. planes flew well over 1,000 sorties. In contrast one Red bomber appeared. It dropped six bombs behind the battlefront. No damage was reported.
